Truman Sounds Appeal For Unity in Greatest Crisis U. S. Ever Faced

Senator Wiley Charges 'Whitewash' Probe to Cover Dismissal of MacArthur

Troops Hear Talk

Marshall Says Attitude in Korea Changed to One of Victory

Washington, May 19 (AP)—President Truman's new appeal for national unity in the face of the MacArthur controversy was ranged today alongside a Republican senator's "whitewash" charge against Democrats.

Mr. Truman declared last night "we are in the midst of one of the greatest crises this country has ever faced." He added that unless the free nations successfully meet the challenge, "the casualties in Korea will be one small drop in the bucket" compared to those "from one of those horrible bombs we talk so much about."

That was an obvious allusion to what the President feels would happen if an atomic attack was loosed against the United States and its allies.

Broadcast to Korea

Mr. Truman bid for unity in a brief informal speech at a National Armed Forces Day dinner here. His remarks were broadcast to American and other United Nations troops in Korea and Japan.

So was an address at the same dinner by Secretary of Defense Marshall, who said the allied forces in Korea "have dissipated the defeatism of a year ago," and have given new life to the U.N., the North Atlantic Treaty organization and the free world generally.

Neither the President nor Marshall made any mention of Mr. Truman's dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Pacific commands. But against the background of the storm that action stirred, Mr. Truman said:

"You must quit your bickering here at home, you must quit playing petty politics."

Wiley Makes Charge

A few hours before the President spoke, Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) had charged that a majority of the Senate Committee investigating dismissal of MacArthur has "a frantic desire to cover-up and whitewash."

Wiley set forth the contention in a letter to Senator Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the combined Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committes conducting the inquiry.

Although Wiley, a member of the group, directed his accusation at "the committee majority," his office said later he was talking about the Democrats on the committee. He said the investigation may wind up as "not only a whitewash but a wash-out."

Murtagh Won't Sit On Bench During Probe of Record

New York, May 19 (AP)—Chief City Magistrate John M. Murtagh says he will not sit on the judicial bench pending the disposition of charges he mishandled a gambling inquiry instituted by former Mayor William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico.

However, Murtagh says he intends to continue his administrative duties, including the supervision of the other magistrates.

That was Murtagh's answer to Mayor Vincent Impellitteri's request that he take a "leave of absence" pending disposition of the charge.

Murtagh, 39, was specifically charged with neglect of duty as investigations commissioner in the O'Dwyer administration.

Impellitteri said only the Appellate Court can remove the chief magistrate.

Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald accused Murtagh of either whitewashing or pigeon-holing data on the gambling inquiry. McDonald said Murtagh had not reported the results of the probe to O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer ordered the inquiry in August, 1946, into alleged police graft paid by racketeers.

Two years later Murtagh said big-time bookmakers had been driven from the city.

But McDonald said that Harry Gross's $20,000,000-a-year bookie ring—with an alleged $1,000,000-a-year payoff to police—was running full blast from 1946 to 1949. It was then broken by McDonald.

Murtagh, a close friend of O'Dwyer, was appointed last year to the $15,000-a-year chief magistrate post by the former mayor. Murtagh was paroled in the custody of his attorney.

Texas Tornado Kills 2, Injures 100

300 Business Places and Homes Are Destroyed by Strong Wind

Olney, Tex., May 18 (AP)—A vicious tornado slashed through this north Texas town of 5,000 yesterday, killing two persons and injuring 100 others.

The blue-black funnel roared in from the northwest about 3:15 P.M. (CST).

Homes and businesses destroyed or damaged totaled about 300, said Mayor E. C. Hallman.

S. Richardson, city utility supervisor, made a tentative estimate of a million dollars damage, but said he had heard estimates up to three million.

A late count showed 18 persons still in the hospital with fractured bones and lacerations. Three were seriously hurt.

Only a few sections had electricity. Gas was turned off to prevent fires from leaking mains.

Dazed residents poked through piles of broken lumber that had been their homes.

Some houses just disappeared, Mayor Hallman said.

"It just lifted up some of the houses in the air and threw them to the ground, all torn up," he said.

Mrs. J. T. Temple, 73, was blown from her demolished home and killed. Her husband died four hours later in the hospital.

Heavy rain and hail fell during the storm.

Olney is in Young county, noted for its wheat, oil and ranching, about 50 miles south of Wichita Falls.

Damascus, Syria, May 19 (AP)—The Council of the Arab League voted last night to support Syria in her charge that Israel has been guilty of provocation and violation of the armistice agreement along the Israeli-Syrian border.

Seek Reasons Why Stop Signals Ignored by Red Arrow That Hit Express

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 19 (AP)—Three separate investigations were underway today into cause of a Pennsylvania Railroad train wreck that killed eight persons and injured 63 others yesterday.

The PRR probed the reasons why the fast-moving Red Arrow apparently ignored stop signals and plowed into the rear of the stalled Philadelphia night express.

Chief target of the investigators was the Red Arrow's engineman, 62-year-old Frank Yentzler of Harrisburg, Pa. There were several unanswered questions about his vision.

Dr. Edward S. Clark, resident physician at Bryn Mawr Hospital, said a hurried examination indicated the Yentzler had practically "no vision in his right eye." But he added that he used no instrument and that the examination was "neither a thorough or fair test."

Had 'Good Record'

A PRR spokesman said enginemen receive medical checkups every two or three months and commended Yentzler for "a good record."

The Red Arrow was bound from Detroit to New York. The express, nearly two hours behind schedule after leaving Pittsburgh, had stopped to check for damaged equipment.

The State Public Utility Commission sent investigators to the collision scene. The Interstate Commerce Commission also launched an inquiry.

A jumbled mess of twisted steel littered the PRR's four main tracks, blocking traffic east and west for many hours. By early today weary workers had cleared the debris from two tracks.

Says UN Planes Dominate Skies

United Nations, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the United Nations today that UN air forces have complete dominance of the Korean skies, despite the increasing number of Russian-built MIG jet planes.

Ridgway's statement was in his first regular report on the Korean military situation since he succeeded Gen. Douglas MacArthur as UN commander.

Ridgway made no direct reference to MacArthur's controversial demand for authorization to bomb Manchurian bases, but he did stress the Communist use of Manchurian territory as a protected base for operations against the UN.

Draft Is Closer For Half Million In 18-Year Group

Senate-House Conference Agrees on Reduction; Can't See Alike on UMT Plan

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The military draft moved today a step nearer for about a half million young men who are 18 years and six months or older.

But senators and representatives who agreed on this yesterday predicted that few if any of them will be inducted unless extensive war or some other unexpected emergency develops.

The minimum induction age for the present draft act, due to expire in July, is 19 years.

The six months reduction was agreed to by a Senate-House conference committee which failed once more to adjust differences over a universal military (UMT) program.

Neither Chairman Crussell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee nor Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Forces group indicated any possible compromise on UMT.

Different Views

The Senate has voted an authorization for the long-range UMT program whenever the present armed forces expansion will permit it.

The House bill outlined a future UMT program. But it required that Congress legislate separately on UMT after a UMT planning commission reported.

The conference group agreed yesterday that when and if they compromise on UMT young men of 18 could be called for the training program.

Along with the 18½-year minimum for induction the conferees agreed that registration should be at 18 and that local draft boards must classify the men before they are 18 years and six months.

Before any local draft board could call a man under 19 it first must exhaust all availables in the present 19 through 25-year pool. Vinson said these "should fill all needs for our present goals."

Plan of Acceptance

The conferees accepted a manpower ceiling of 5,000,000. The administration has set a goal of 3,500,000 for the next year.

Also accepted by the conferees were:

1. A termination date of July 1, 1955 for the Draft Act.

2. Removal until July 1, 1954 of the present limit on number of women in the armed forces such as the army Wacs and navy Waves. It now is 2 per cent of the strength of the services.

3. Lowering of physical and mental minimum standards for draftees to those in use during the last war in January 1945.

4. Allowing local draft boards to require that conscientious objectors, deferred because of religious beliefs, serve in defense work, such as a factory or farming.

5. Requiring that all draftees, volunteers and reserves have at least four months basic training before being assigned outside the United States for possible combat duty.

Rates Will Advance

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Post Office Department said today it will increase parcel post rates an average of 25 per cent on Oct. 1. This is expected to increase revenue by more than $100,000,000 a year.

U. S. Would Aid Chinese in Any Revolt Against Russia, Secretary Rusk Hints

New York, May 19 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk hinted last night that America would aid the Chinese people in any revolt against their "Colonial Russian government."

The State Department's Far Eastern chief also pledged continued aid to the Chinese Nationalists, but he warned that such U. S. assistance in itself would not decide the future of China.

"The decision and the effort are for the Chinese people," Rusk said, "pooling their efforts, wherever they are, in behalf of China."

Rusk spoke at the 25th annual dinner of the China Institute. Ambassador John Foster Dulles and Sen. Paul Douglas (D.-Ill.) also addressed the meeting.

Dulles strongly backed Rusk's stand and added that the Kremlin was using China as a puppet to win South Korea as a strategic base against Japan. He vowed that Communist Mao Tse-tung would have no voice in framing the Japanese treaty, which Dulles is negotiating.

Dougles also pictured the Peiping regime as a Russian "puppet" and called for American aid to both the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa and the guerrillas on the mainland.

Rusk said the U. S. recognizes the Nationalist regime, although its territory is restricted, because "it more authentically represents the views" of a China demanding "independence from foreign control."

He said the U. S. "will not acquiesce" in the degradation forced upon the Chinese people. He added:

"If the Chinese people decide for freedom, they shall find friends among all the peoples of the earth who have known and love freedom. They shall find added strength from those who refuse to believe that China is fated to become a land of tyranny and aggression. . . ."

Wage Board Opens Wide Gate In Pay Barrier at Session

JACOB S. COXEY

Had Employment Plan to Relieve 1893 Panic; Kept Up Fight for Money Reform

Massillon, O., May 19 (AP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey died last night, 57 years after his ragged army of unemployed marched into Washington and into the nation's history.

He was 97, and he spent more than two-thirds of that long life fighting for a losing cause—printing press money the government could use without paying interest to banks.

"Coxey's army" set out from here in the spring of 1894 on a 35-day march to Washington. The objective was to get Congress to use the easy-money method for a giant road-building program to ease the hardship brought on by the panic of 1893. The march failed.

But Coxey's belief in the ideas inspiring that march never wavered. Only five weeks ago on his birthday he voiced once more his enthusiasm for money reform as the answer to the country's economic troubles.

Only three of his eight children survive him—Jacob of Youngstown, David of Cleveland, and Mrs. Ruth Wilson of Darien, Conn.

Funeral services will be held here Monday.

Prominent at 40

Coxey was 40 when he won his small but firm place in history.

The panic of 1893 still had the country crippled economically on Easter Sunday, 1894 when he rallied 50 of his staunchest supporters together here, and led them eastward toward Washington.

He hoped many thousands of

Result Is 8 to 4 for Raise in Packers' Pay Friday

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board yesterday opened a broad gate in the pay-control corral, and said:

"Sometimes it is harder to be just than to be firm."

The board voted 8 to 4, with industry members dissenting, to allow a nine-cent hourly pay boost for 200,000 packing house workers.

The broad principles involved in thus approving a wage increase far in excess of the government's 10 per cent raise ceiling seemed likely to apply to other major cases facing the board. These include a proposed 15 per cent boost for 50,000 shipyard workers, ten per cent for 100,000 northern woolen worsted and cotton-rayon textile workers, and two or more cost-of-living increases and a proposed four-cent hourly "productivity" pay boost shaping up for some 500,000 automobile workers.

Hearing May 24

The board announced late yesterday it will hold a hearing next Thursday (May 24) "to obtain testimony by interested parties to help in formation of a policy on annual improvement increases based on productivity and other types of deferred wage increases."

With the battle in Congress over federal anti-inflation controls growing hotter daily, there were these other developments:

1. Director Manly Fleischmann of the National Production Authority told the House Banking Committee that NPA "flying squadrons" are now being organized to crack down on industrial hoarders and black marketeers.

2. Ray W. Willoughby of San Angelo, Tex., president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, told the House Agriculture Committee "the whole (beef) price control order should be thrown out so that more beef can be produced without working under shackles.

To Bolster Defense

3. Chairman Leon Keyserling of the President's Council of Economic Advisers urged the necessity of controls "at least for the next year or two" to bolster the defense program. He spoke at a meeting of Americans for democratic action.

4. Secretary of the Interior Chapman told a reporter the government has approved expansion of national capacity to produce aluminum by 188,000 tons a year above the 450,000-ton expansion he certified last December.

5. The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, meeting in Boston, appealed for revisions in the price ceiling formula for their industry on the ground the method would remove the incentive for textile production. The textile order is set for May 28.

6. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported wholesale prices declined during the week ending

Military Might Is Stressed During Armed Forces Day

Nation Pays Tribute to Forces at Home and on Korean Lines of Battle

(By The Associated Press)

In scores of speeches and a display of flexing military muscle the nation today paid tribute to its unified armed forces at home and on the field of battle in Korea.

(Although there was no formal celebration planned in this city, the Ulster County American Legion chose this day to honor the state commander and president of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

(Tonight, at 7:30 o'clock at Williams Lake Hotel, a testimonial dinner will be held in honor of Dr. Joseph R. Hawn, DDS, of Buffalo, commander of the Department of New York, and of Mrs. Harold Taylor of Mineola, department president of the auxiliary.)

Big Show for Day

Eight of the world's mightiest aircraft—the B36 battleships of the air—thundered over cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific and Canada to Mexico. Ground forces marched while tanks and artillery clanked beside them. The navy put its warships on show.

In Korea soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen battled grimly to hold Communist aggression while the military buildup demonstration at home is completed.

Three heroes of the Korean war received the Medal of Honor from President Truman in a ceremony at the White House. The recip-

Fights Way Out of Trap On Friday

No New Word From East Lines Where the Reds Surged Through Gap in UN Position

Planes Kill 7,900

New Drive Costs Enemy 20,000 Casualties in Hard Fighting

Tokyo, May 19 (AP)—A regiment of the embattled U. S. Second Division withdrew today under heavy Red attacks on the flaming central Korean front.

The division had fought out of a Communist trap Friday and killed 10,000 Reds.

There was no fresh word from the critical eastern front where Reds surged southward through a gap in United Nations lines.

The Red chain-reaction offensive spread Saturday to the western front. A battalion of Communists attacked South Korean troops northwest of Seoul. It was the strongest Communist attack in weeks in that area.

However, a U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer sounded the first optimistic note since the second Red spring offensive broke four days ago.

'Shaping Up'

"The situation is shaping up," he said.

Red troops Friday night entered the abandoned road hub of Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul, the Korean capital.

A Chinese patrol of 10 or 15 men ran into barbed wire Saturday morning on Seoul's outer defense perimeter. The patrol was fired on immediately.

An Eighth Army briefer said the Second Division regiment fell back before "heavy pressure" from Chinese who slipped through a gap left by a South Korean withdrawal on the second's right.

Nothing was heard from the South Korean division, crumpled by the Reds on the first day of their drive.

Communications Cut

An officer said this could be explained by the fact that most communications have been disrupted in the allied withdrawal and by the fierce battles along the front.

The Red penetration was aimed down the east-central road from Inje southwestward toward Hangye and Yongchon.

The Second Division was bearing the brunt of a Communist drive for the fifth time in the war.

Once more it escaped a death trap set by the Reds, just as it did at Kunu, Wonju, Chipyong and in massacre valley.

Chinese troops made three attacks Saturday against South Korean troops southwest of Changgong, 25 miles northeast of Seoul.

A 7.S. army task force operating in the same area broke through a Communist minefield and poured tank and artillery fire at massed Communists. There were no further details.

South Korean forces counter-attacked Saturday against Reds who had crossed the Pukhan river

Three Seriously Injured As Car Hits Viaduct Span

Three men were seriously injured about 3:15 a. m. today when the automobile they were riding in crashed into a steel girder of the Esopus creek bridge on Route 28 at the city line.

The sheriff's office identified the men as William Rubin, 26, of Ellenville, owner and driver of the vehicle; Harold Tokle, 22, of Box 303, Kerhonkson, and William Wager, 21, Kripplebush.

The three men were members of a ball team that played on Friday in the town of Wawarsing. They had gone to Woodstock Friday night and were apparently returning home when the accident occurred, the sheriff's office reported.

They were taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where authorities this morning reported the conditions of all three as "serious."

When the accident was reported to Kingston police at 3:18 a. m., two of the men were lying on the highway and the third was trapped inside the wrecked automobile. The B and K wrecker was called to help in freeing the trapped man, and W. N. Conner Ambulance Service was summoned to convey the men to the hospital.

Deputy Sheriffs William Churchill and William Thompson reported that the automobile apparently failed to make the right curve in the highway where Route 28 narrows from four lanes to enter the two-lane bridge. The vehicle skidded sideways into the slanting girder, striking the girder with its left side, deputy sheriffs said. The car apparently was carried about six feet up the girder by the impact, then toppled over on its side or top.

Since the accident occurred close to the city line, Kingston Policemen Walter Van Steenburgh and William Hanley were sent to the scene to assist sheriff's men.

Full extent of the injuries to the three men has not been determined, police reported this morning.

U. S. Would Aid Chinese in Any Revolt Against Russia, Secretary Rusk Hints

New York, May 19 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk hinted last night that America would aid the Chinese people in any revolt against their "Colonial Russian government."

The State Department's Far Eastern chief also pledged continued aid to the Chinese Nationalists, but he warned that such U. S. assistance in itself would not decide the future of China.

"The decision and the effort are for the Chinese people," Rusk said, "pooling their efforts, wherever they are, in behalf of China."

Rusk spoke at the 25th annual dinner of the China Institute. Ambassador John Foster Dulles and Sen. Paul Douglas (D.-Ill.) also addressed the meeting.

Dulles strongly backed Rusk's stand and added that the Kremlin was using China as a puppet to win South Korea as a strategic base against Japan. He vowed that Communist Mao Tse-tung would have no voice in framing the Japanese treaty, which Dulles is negotiating.

Dougles also pictured the Peiping regime as a Russian "puppet" and called for American aid to both the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa and the guerrillas on the mainland.

Rusk said the U. S. recognizes the Nationalist regime, although its territory is restricted, because "it more authentically represents the views" of a China demanding "independence from foreign control."

He said the U. S. "will not acquiesce" in the degradation forced upon the Chinese people. He added:

"If the Chinese people decide for freedom, they shall find friends among all the peoples of the earth who have known and love freedom. They shall find added strength from those who refuse to believe that China is fated to become a land of tyranny and aggression. . . ."

Second Division Has to Leave Flaming Central Korean Front After Slaying 10,000 Enemies

Fights Way Out of Trap On Friday

New Drive Costs Enemy 20,000 Casualties in Hard Fighting

Tokyo, May 19 (AP)—A regiment of the embattled U. S. Second Division withdrew today under heavy Red attacks on the flaming central Korean front.

The division had fought out of a Communist trap Friday and killed 10,000 Reds.

There was no fresh word from the critical eastern front where Reds surged southward through a gap in United Nations lines.

The Red chain-reaction offensive spread Saturday to the western front. A battalion of Communists attacked South Korean troops northwest of Seoul. It was the strongest Communist attack in weeks in that area.

However, a U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer sounded the first optimistic note since the second Red spring offensive broke four days ago.

'Shaping Up'

"The situation is shaping up," he said.

Red troops Friday night entered the abandoned road hub of Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul, the Korean capital.

A Chinese patrol of 10 or 15 men ran into barbed wire Saturday morning on Seoul's outer defense perimeter. The patrol was fired on immediately.

An Eighth Army briefer said the Second Division regiment fell back before "heavy pressure" from Chinese who slipped through a gap left by a South Korean withdrawal on the second's right.

Nothing was heard from the South Korean division, crumpled by the Reds on the first day of their drive.

Communications Cut

An officer said this could be explained by the fact that most communications have been disrupted in the allied withdrawal and by the fierce battles along the front.

The Red penetration was aimed down the east-central road from Inje southwestward toward Hangye and Yongchon.

The Second Division was bearing the brunt of a Communist drive for the fifth time in the war.

Once more it escaped a death trap set by the Reds, just as it did at Kunu, Wonju, Chipyong and in massacre valley.

Chinese troops made three attacks Saturday against South Korean troops southwest of Changgong, 25 miles northeast of Seoul.

A 7.S. army task force operating in the same area broke through a Communist minefield and poured tank and artillery fire at massed Communists. There were no further details.

Wage Board Opens Wide Gate In Pay Barrier at Session

Result Is 8 to 4 for Raise in Packers' Pay Friday

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board yesterday opened a broad gate in the pay-control corral, and said:

"Sometimes it is harder to be just than to be firm."

The board voted 8 to 4, with industry members dissenting, to allow a nine-cent hourly pay boost for 200,000 packing house workers.

The broad principles involved in thus approving a wage increase far in excess of the government's 10 per cent raise ceiling seemed likely to apply to other major cases facing the board. These include a proposed 15 per cent boost for 50,000 shipyard workers, ten per cent for 100,000 northern woolen worsted and cotton-rayon textile workers, and two or more cost-of-living increases and a proposed four-cent hourly "productivity" pay boost shaping up for some 500,000 automobile workers.

Hearing May 24

The board announced late yesterday it will hold a hearing next Thursday (May 24) "to obtain testimony by interested parties to help in formation of a policy on annual improvement increases based on productivity and other types of deferred wage increases."

With the battle in Congress over federal anti-inflation controls growing hotter daily, there were these other developments:

1. Director Manly Fleischmann of the National Production Authority told the House Banking Committee that NPA "flying squadrons" are now being organized to crack down on industrial hoarders and black marketeers.

2. Ray W. Willoughby of San Angelo, Tex., president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, told the House Agriculture Committee "the whole (beef) price control order should be thrown out so that more beef can be produced without working under shackles.

To Bolster Defense

3. Chairman Leon Keyserling of the President's Council of Economic Advisers urged the necessity of controls "at least for the next year or two" to bolster the defense program. He spoke at a meeting of Americans for democratic action.

4. Secretary of the Interior Chapman told a reporter the government has approved expansion of national capacity to produce aluminum by 188,000 tons a year above the 450,000-ton expansion he certified last December.

5. The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, meeting in Boston, appealed for revisions in the price ceiling formula for their industry on the ground the method would remove the incentive for textile production. The textile order is set for May 28.

JACOB S. COXEY

Had Employment Plan to Relieve 1893 Panic; Kept Up Fight for Money Reform

Massillon, O., May 19 (AP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey died last night, 57 years after his ragged army of unemployed marched into Washington and into the nation's history.

He was 97, and he spent more than two-thirds of that long life fighting for a losing cause—printing press money the government could use without paying interest to banks.

"Coxey's army" set out from here in the spring of 1894 on a 35-day march to Washington. The objective was to get Congress to use the easy-money method for a giant road-building program to ease the hardship brought on by the panic of 1893. The march failed.

But Coxey's belief in the ideas inspiring that march never wavered. Only five weeks ago on his birthday he voiced once more his enthusiasm for money reform as the answer to the country's economic troubles.

Only three of his eight children survive him—Jacob of Youngstown, David of Cleveland, and Mrs. Ruth Wilson of Darien, Conn.

Funeral services will be held here Monday.

Military Might Is Stressed During Armed Forces Day

(By The Associated Press)

In scores of speeches and a display of flexing military muscle the nation today paid tribute to its unified armed forces at home and on the field of battle in Korea.

(Although there was no formal celebration planned in this city, the Ulster County American Legion chose this day to honor the state commander and president of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

(Tonight, at 7:30 o'clock at Williams Lake Hotel, a testimonial dinner will be held in honor of Dr. Joseph R. Hawn, DDS, of Buffalo, commander of the Department of New York, and of Mrs. Harold Taylor of Mineola, department president of the auxiliary.)

Three Seriously Injured As Car Hits Viaduct Span

Three men were seriously injured about 3:15 a. m. today when the automobile they were riding in crashed into a steel girder of the Esopus creek bridge on Route 28 at the city line.

The sheriff's office identified the men as William Rubin, 26, of Ellenville, owner and driver of the vehicle; Harold Tokle, 22, of Box 303, Kerhonkson, and William Wager, 21, Kripplebush.

The three men were members of a ball team that played on Friday in the town of Wawarsing. They had gone to Woodstock Friday night and were apparently returning home when the accident occurred, the sheriff's office reported.

They were taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where authorities this morning reported the conditions of all three as "serious."

When the accident was reported to Kingston police at 3:18 a. m., two of the men were lying on the highway and the third was trapped inside the wrecked automobile. The B and K wrecker was called to help in freeing the trapped man, and W. N. Conner Ambulance Service was summoned to convey the men to the hospital.

Deputy Sheriffs William Churchill and William Thompson reported that the automobile apparently failed to make the right curve in the highway where Route 28 narrows from four lanes to enter the two-lane bridge. The vehicle skidded sideways into the slanting girder, striking the girder with its left side, deputy sheriffs said. The car apparently was carried about six feet up the girder by the impact, then toppled over on its side or top.

Since the accident occurred close to the city line, Kingston Policemen Walter Van Steenburgh and William Hanley were sent to the scene to assist sheriff's men.

Full extent of the injuries to the three men has not been determined, police reported this morning.

Truman Sounds Appeal For Unity in Greatest Crisis U. S. Ever Faced

Troops Hear Talk

Marshall Says Attitude in Korea Changed to One of Victory

Washington, May 19 (AP)—President Truman's new appeal for national unity in the face of the MacArthur controversy was ranged today alongside a Republican senator's "whitewash" charge against Democrats.

Mr. Truman declared last night "we are in the midst of one of the greatest crises this country has ever faced." He added that unless the free nations successfully meet the challenge, "the casualties in Korea will be one small drop in the bucket" compared to those "from one of those horrible bombs we talk so much about."

That was an obvious allusion to what the President feels would happen if an atomic attack was loosed against the United States and its allies.

Broadcast to Korea

Mr. Truman bid for unity in a brief informal speech at a National Armed Forces Day dinner here. His remarks were broadcast to American and other United Nations troops in Korea and Japan.

So was an address at the same dinner by Secretary of Defense Marshall, who said the allied forces in Korea "have dissipated the defeatism of a year ago," and have given new life to the U.N., the North Atlantic Treaty organization and the free world generally.

Neither the President nor Marshall made any mention of Mr. Truman's dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Pacific commands. But against the background of the storm that action stirred, Mr. Truman said:

"You must quit your bickering here at home, you must quit playing petty politics."

Wiley Makes Charge

A few hours before the President spoke, Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) had charged that a majority of the Senate Committee investigating dismissal of MacArthur has "a frantic desire to cover-up and whitewash."

Wiley set forth the contention in a letter to Senator Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the combined Senate Armed Forces and Foreign Relations Committes conducting the inquiry.

Although Wiley, a member of the group, directed his accusation at "the committee majority," his office said later he was talking about the Democrats on the committee. He said the investigation may wind up as "not only a whitewash but a wash-out."

The Wisconsin senator wrote

Murtagh Won't Sit On Bench During Probe of Record

New York, May 19 (AP)—Chief City Magistrate John M. Murtagh says he will not sit on the judicial bench pending the disposition of charges he mishandled a gambling inquiry instituted by former Mayor William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico.

However, Murtagh says he intends to continue his administrative duties, including the supervision of the other magistrates.

That was Murtagh's answer to Mayor Vincent Impellitteri's request that he take a "leave of absence" pending disposition of the charge.

Murtagh, 39, was specifically charged with neglect of duty as investigations commissioner in the O'Dwyer administration.

Impellitteri said only the Appellate Court can remove the chief magistrate.

Brooklyn District Attorney Miles F. McDonald accused Murtagh of either whitewashing or pigeon-holing data on the gambling inquiry. McDonald said Murtagh had not reported the results of the probe to O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer ordered the inquiry in August, 1946, into alleged police graft paid by racketeers.

Two years later Murtagh said big-time bookmakers had been driven from the city.

But McDonald said that Harry Gross's $20,000,000-a-year bookie ring—with an alleged $1,000,000-a-year payoff to police—was running full blast from 1946 to 1949. It was then broken by McDonald.

Murtagh, a close friend of O'Dwyer, was appointed last year to the $15,000-a-year chief magistrate post by the former mayor. Murtagh was paroled in the custody of his attorney.

Texas Tornado Kills 2, Injures 100

300 Business Places and Homes Are Destroyed by Strong Wind

Olney, Tex., May 18 (AP)—A vicious tornado slashed through this north Texas town of 5,000 yesterday, killing two persons and injuring 100 others.

The blue-black funnel roared in from the northwest about 3:15 P.M. (CST).

Homes and businesses destroyed or damaged totaled about 300, said Mayor E. C. Hallman.

S. Richardson, city utility supervisor, made a tentative estimate of a million dollars damage, but said he had heard estimates up to three million.

A late count showed 18 persons still in the hospital with fractured bones and lacerations. Three were seriously hurt.

Only a few sections had electricity. Gas was turned off to prevent fires from leaking mains.

Dazed residents poked through piles of broken lumber that had been their homes.

Some houses just disappeared, Mayor Hallman said.

"It just lifted up some of the houses in the air and threw them to the ground, all torn up," he said.

Mrs. J. T. Temple, 73, was blown from her demolished home and killed. Her husband died four hours later in the hospital.

Heavy rain and hail fell during the storm.

Seek Reasons Why Stop Signals Ignored by Red Arrow That Hit Express

Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 19 (AP)—Three separate investigations were underway today into cause of a Pennsylvania Railroad train wreck that killed eight persons and injured 63 others yesterday.

The PRR probed the reasons why the fast-moving Red Arrow apparently ignored stop signals and plowed into the rear of the stalled Philadelphia night express.

Chief target of the investigators was the Red Arrow's engineman, 62-year-old Frank Yentzler of Harrisburg, Pa. There were several unanswered questions about his vision.

Dr. Edward S. Clark, resident physician at Bryn Mawr Hospital, said a hurried examination indicated the Yentzler had practically "no vision in his right eye." But he added that he used no instrument and that the examination was "neither a thorough or fair test."

Had 'Good Record'

A PRR spokesman said enginemen receive medical checkups every two or three months and commended Yentzler for "a good record."

The Red Arrow was bound from Detroit to New York. The express, nearly two hours behind schedule after leaving Pittsburgh, had stopped to check for damaged equipment.

The State Public Utility Commission sent investigators to the collision scene. The Interstate Commerce Commission also launched an inquiry.

A jumbled mess of twisted steel littered the PRR's four main tracks, blocking traffic east and west for many hours. By early today weary workers had cleared the debris from two tracks.

Says UN Planes Dominate Skies

United Nations, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told the United Nations today that UN air forces have complete dominance of the Korean skies, despite the increasing number of Russian-built MIG jet planes.

Ridgway's statement was in his first regular report on the Korean military situation since he succeeded Gen. Douglas MacArthur as UN commander.

Ridgway made no direct reference to MacArthur's controversial demand for authorization to bomb Manchurian bases, but he did stress the Communist use of Manchurian territory as a protected base for operations against the UN.

Draft Is Closer For Half Million In 18-Year Group

Senate-House Conference Agrees on Reduction; Can't See Alike on UMT Plan

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The military draft moved today a step nearer for about a half million young men who are 18 years and six months or older.

But senators and representatives who agreed on this yesterday predicted that few if any of them will be inducted unless extensive war or some other unexpected emergency develops.

The minimum induction age for the present draft act, due to expire in July, is 19 years.

The six months reduction was agreed to by a Senate-House conference committee which failed once more to adjust differences over a universal military (UMT) program.

Neither Chairman Crussell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee nor Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Forces group indicated any possible compromise on UMT.

Different Views

The Senate has voted an authorization for the long-range UMT program whenever the present armed forces expansion will permit it.

The House bill outlined a future UMT program. But it required that Congress legislate separately on UMT after a UMT planning commission reported.

The conference group agreed yesterday that when and if they compromise on UMT young men of 18 could be called for the training program.

Along with the 18½-year minimum for induction the conferees agreed that registration should be at 18 and that local draft boards must classify the men before they are 18 years and six months.

Before any local draft board could call a man under 19 it first must exhaust all availables in the present 19 through 25-year pool. Vinson said these "should fill all needs for our present goals."

Plan of Acceptance

The conferees accepted a manpower ceiling of 5,000,000. The administration has set a goal of 3,500,000 for the next year.

Also accepted by the conferees were:

1. A termination date of July 1, 1955 for the Draft Act.

2. Removal until July 1, 1954 of the present limit on number of women in the armed forces such as the army Wacs and navy Waves. It now is 2 per cent of the strength of the services.

3. Lowering of physical and mental minimum standards for draftees to those in use during the last war in January 1945.

4. Allowing local draft boards to require that conscientious objectors, deferred because of religious beliefs, serve in defense work, such as a factory or farming.

5. Requiring that all draftees, volunteers and reserves have at least four months basic training before being assigned outside the United States for possible combat duty.

Rates Will Advance

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Post Office Department said today it will increase parcel post rates an average of 25 per cent on Oct. 1. This is expected to increase revenue by more than $100,000,000 a year.

The three men were members of a ball team that played on Friday in the town of Wawarsing. They had gone to Woodstock Friday night and were apparently returning home when the accident occurred, the sheriff's office reported.

They were taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where authorities this morning reported the conditions of all three as "serious."

When the accident was reported to Kingston police at 3:18 a. m., two of the men were lying on the highway and the third was trapped inside the wrecked automobile. The B and K wrecker was called to help in freeing the trapped man, and W. N. Conner Ambulance Service was summoned to convey the men to the hospital.

Deputy Sheriffs William Churchill and William Thompson reported that the automobile apparently failed to make the right curve in the highway where Route 28 narrows from four lanes to enter the two-lane bridge. The vehicle skidded sideways into the slanting girder, striking the girder with its left side, deputy sheriffs said. The car apparently was carried about six feet up the girder by the impact, then toppled over on its side or top.

Since the accident occurred close to the city line, Kingston Policemen Walter Van Steenburgh and William Hanley were sent to the scene to assist sheriff's men.

Full extent of the injuries to the three men has not been determined, police reported this morning.

Dr. Clyde Snell To Preach First Sermon Sunday

The Rev. Dr. Clyde Herbert Snell will deliver his first sermon as pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church during the regular 11 a. m. worship service Sunday. Dr. Snell's topic will be "Look to the Hills."

Dr. Snell's appointment as pastor of the local Methodist Church, was officially announced during last week's annual Methodist Conference sessions in Poughkeepsie.

He succeeds the Rev. William R. Peckham who resigned his charge in February to accept a call as associate pastor and director of religious education at the Fort Washington Collegiate Church, New York.

Dr. Snell, a native of Michigan, was graduated from Taylor University in Upland, Ind., and later took his theological work at the Biblical Seminary in New York.

He did post-graduate work at New York University, holding both the master of arts degree and the doctor of philosophy degree from the latter university.

Dr. Snell, prior to his local appointment, was pastor of the First Methodist Church in Deposit, Broome county. He also has served as pastor at the Washington Heights Methodist Church in New York and the Rehoboth Methodist Church, Lakeville, Conn.

The pastor's wife, a native of Erie, Pa., graduated from the Erie Conservatory of Music and the Taylor University School of Music.

Dr. and Mrs. Snell have two children, Philip Arden, 13, and Dorothy Jane, 10.

Do You Remember

by

By SOPHIE MILLER

I bet a lot of old timers remember Jacob Herold's place down near Turck and Burhans' lumber yard on The Strand. I see he advertised in The Freeman of 1875 December 23rd. "A large assortment of Christmas trees at low prices, also Christmas toys."

Another adv. read "Fish! Fish! Fish!—Having taken charge of the stand in Ulster Market, formerly in charge of my father. I am prepared to sell fish lower than ever before." At that time cod was selling for 10 cents a lb. Haddock was going for six for eight cents. Suckers and perch went for eight for 12 cents. You could get all the white fish you wanted for 16 cents a pound. M. D. Preston, also sold oysters, clams, fruit and vegetables.

Myer Weil had one of the most unique ads., which read in part. "Umbrellas only 85 cents. Just right for school children. So cheap it don't make any difference whether they are stolen or not."

One of the odd accidents of 75 years ago read as follows: "A horse belonging to Peter Price, a carman, backed off the South Rondout ferry scow and was drowned. The horse was harnessed to a lumber wagon, in which was a half ton of coal." Another item read: "A Dutchess county turkey weighing 32 pounds has gone to Newburgh to spend Christmas". I don't think that sounds good for the poor turkey.

From the "local intelligence" column—"In the lower wards today the fine weather, almost summery, brought out all the boys, who engaged in games of all kinds. Marbles had the preference, but leap-frog, tag, and ball playing were also indulged in—The streets are in an extremely filthy condition. The cross walks on Wall street were covered with liquid mud on Wednesday to the depth of an inch or two, which made the walking very unpleasant for the ladies. These cross-walks should be raised, for in some places they are at present lower than the road-bed." If you look in old photographs you will see these cross-walks, I take it, they were of bluestone. So no doubt during muddy weather no one could do much jay-walking without getting full of mud. The steam peanut stand on the corner of Wall and North Front streets have been doing a good business during the past three days." Remember the peanut man on Wall street not so long ago.

The had joksters in those days too, who went through a lot of trouble for a laugh. "A farmer came into our uptown news office the other day and tried to sell, a ladder 30 feet long without a break in it. Where could such a ladder be kept? One end might have rested out of the window, and the latest news be bulletined one it, but we fear the night watchman would have objected. On the whole we have come to the conclusion that the farmer who took the trouble to back the ladder from Higginville to John street must have done it for a joke; but he thought it no joke when he had to carry it back again."

I see a Lord & Taylor ad. in The Freeman, it lists its address as 255 to 261 Grand street and Broadway, corner 20th street. General Dry Goods, carpets, furniture and bedding.

The Mason and Dixon Line was established to settle dissensions between the Lords Baltimore and the Penn family.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, May 19—The Riding Club sponsored a supper ride to the "glen" Thursday, May 10. About 12 riders left the stable at 5 p. m., rode for an hour, then cooked supper at the glen. At the monthly meeting last Thursday the club held yearly elections. Norman Whitmore was re-elected president; Eillene McFetridge, vice-president; Patti Souer, secretary, and Ginny Whitmore, treasurer. Miss Deane was re-elected faculty adviser. Preparations are now being made for the club annual horse show to be held May 30.

Twelve members of Dr. Huntington's sociology class of the college took a field trip to New York early this month. The purpose of the trip was to study sociological conditions of the lower East Side. The troupe took its trip under the guidance of the Rev. Mr. Howell, famed for his work in that area. A visit to the Henry Street Settlement House revealed some of the work that is being done to improve conditions in this area and to help through constructive training both the children and adults.

Hermis Cassano, New Paltz, and Miss Doris Diehl, of Nyack, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Wynkoop and daughter on Friday night.

On May 14, the well-known Little Red School House group again visited New Paltz. This was the third year that the school has come to this village. The group visited the local high school and exchanged ideas with the students and then the group of high school people, under the direction of Norman Strader, toured various interesting places in this area. Monday night, May 14, the group had dinner at the Old Fort, after which Kenneth E. Hasbrouck spoke to the group on the historical significance of this area. The meeting was held in the social room of the Reformed Church.

Do You Remember

by

By SOPHIE MILLER

I bet a lot of old timers remember Jacob Herold's place down near Turck and Burhans' lumber yard on The Strand. I see he advertised in The Freeman of 1875 December 23rd. "A large assortment of Christmas trees at low prices, also Christmas toys."

Another adv. read "Fish! Fish! Fish!—Having taken charge of the stand in Ulster Market, formerly in charge of my father, I am prepared to sell fish lower than ever before." At that time cod was selling for 10 cents a lb. Haddock was going for six for eight cents. Suckers and perch went for eight for 12 cents. You could get all the white fish you wanted for 16 cents a pound. M. D. Preston, also sold oysters, clams, fruit and vegetables.

Myer Weil had one of the most unique ads., which read in part. "Umbrellas only 85 cents. Just right for school children. So cheap it don't make any difference whether they are stolen or not."

One of the odd accidents of 75 years ago read as follows: "A horse belonging to Peter Price, a carman, backed off the South Rondout ferry scow and was drowned. The horse was harnessed to a lumber wagon, in which was a half ton of coal." Another item read: "A Dutchess county turkey weighing 32 pounds has gone to Newburgh to spend Christmas". I don't think that sounds good for the poor turkey.

From the "local intelligence" column—"In the lower wards today the fine weather, almost summery, brought out all the boys, who engaged in games of all kinds. Marbles had the preference, but leap-frog, tag, and ball playing were also indulged in—The streets are in an extremely filthy condition. The cross walks on Wall street were covered with liquid mud on Wednesday to the depth of an inch or two, which made the walking very unpleasant for the ladies. These cross-walks should be raised, for in some places they are at present lower than the road-bed." If you look in old photographs you will see these cross-walks, I take it, they were of bluestone. So no doubt during muddy weather no one could do much jay-walking without getting full of mud. The steam peanut stand on the corner of Wall and North Front streets have been doing a good business during the past three days." Remember the peanut man on Wall street not so long ago.

The had joksters in those days too, who went through a lot of trouble for a laugh. "A farmer came into our uptown news office the other day and tried to sell, a ladder 30 feet long without a break in it. Where could such a ladder be kept? One end might have rested out of the window, and the latest news be bulletined one it, but we fear the night watchman would have objected. On the whole we have come to the conclusion that the farmer who took the trouble to back the ladder from Higginville to John street must have done it for a joke; but he thought it no joke when he had to carry it back again."

I see a Lord & Taylor ad. in The Freeman, it lists its address as 255 to 261 Grand street and Broadway, corner 20th street. General Dry Goods, carpets, furniture and bedding.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I bet a lot of old timers remember Jacob Herold's place down near Turck and Burhans' lumber yard on The Strand. I see he advertised in The Freeman of 1875 December 23rd. "A large assortment of Christmas trees at low prices, also Christmas toys."

Another adv. read "Fish! Fish! Fish!—Having taken charge of the stand in Ulster Market, formerly in charge of my father. I am prepared to sell fish lower than ever before." At that time cod was selling for 10 cents a lb. Haddock was going for six for eight cents. Suckers and perch went for eight for 12 cents. You could get all the white fish you wanted for 16 cents a pound. M. D. Preston, also sold oysters, clams, fruit and vegetables.

Myer Weil had one of the most unique ads., which read in part. "Umbrellas only 85 cents. Just right for school children. So cheap it don't make any difference whether they are stolen or not."

One of the odd accidents of 75 years ago read as follows: "A horse belonging to Peter Price, a carman, backed off the South Rondout ferry scow and was drowned. The horse was harnessed to a lumber wagon, in which was a half ton of coal." Another item read: "A Dutchess county turkey weighing 32 pounds has gone to Newburgh to spend Christmas". I don't think that sounds good for the poor turkey.

From the "local intelligence" column—"In the lower wards today the fine weather, almost summery, brought out all the boys, who engaged in games of all kinds. Marbles had the preference, but leap-frog, tag, and ball playing were also indulged in—The streets are in an extremely filthy condition. The cross walks on Wall street were covered with liquid mud on Wednesday to the depth of an inch or two, which made the walking very unpleasant for the ladies. These cross-walks should be raised, for in some places they are at present lower than the road-bed." If you look in old photographs you will see these cross-walks, I take it, they were of bluestone. So no doubt during muddy weather no one could do much jay-walking without getting full of mud. The steam peanut stand on the corner of Wall and North Front streets have been doing a good business during the past three days." Remember the peanut man on Wall street not so long ago.

The had joksters in those days too, who went through a lot of trouble for a laugh. "A farmer came into our uptown news office the other day and tried to sell, a ladder 30 feet long without a break in it. Where could such a ladder be kept? One end might have rested out of the window, and the latest news be bulletined one it, but we fear the night watchman would have objected. On the whole we have come to the conclusion that the farmer who took the trouble to back the ladder from Higginville to John street must have done it for a joke; but he thought it no joke when he had to carry it back again."

I see a Lord & Taylor ad. in The Freeman, it lists its address as 255 to 261 Grand street and Broadway, corner 20th street. General Dry Goods, carpets, furniture and bedding.

Preparing Lot For Building Is Expensive Job

The preliminary work necessary to prepare a site for a house may cost twice as much as the builder paid for the land and, in any case, will add several hundred dollars to the price of the property.

Few persons realize the expense involved in grooming raw acreage for a real estate development, according to contractors who are members of the Home Builders' Association of Rhode Island. Because of present high wage scales, the preliminary outlay today is greater than ever before, and the buyer of a complete dwelling must, of course, pay his proportionate share of it.

One experienced builder figures that the cost of getting a lot ready for a house averages $700 to $800. "If somebody gave me a tract of land tomorrow," he said, "without asking me to pay a cent for it, I would have to lay out at least $700 for every lot before I did any building. This represents the cost of clearing and grading, taking out boulders and cutting trees and brush, installing water service and putting the land in shape for building."

This statement was backed up by another builder, now developing a sub-division of one-family houses. He estimated that the expense of preparing lots for construction in his tract is about double the price he paid for the land.

The figures quoted are the preliminary work only; they do not cover the cost of final grading and landscaping, or the laying of sidewalks and driveways after the house is built.

Put Rainy-Day Gym In Basement Corner

In the home with small children, a basement corner can make an ideal rainy-day gym. Fit it out with swing, trapeze bar, flying rings and ladder hung from stout bolts in ceiling joists. Cover the concrete floor with asphalt tile to prevent dust and build a hopscotch court into the floor by using narrow feature strips of the tile to enclose numbered tiles which come in standard sizes. A stock shuffleboard court of asphalt tile also can be made a part of the floor.

Put a regulation gymnasium mat beneath the trapeze and flying rings to ease falls.

If the play space is to be used by a boy, he probably will like a punching bag mounted low on the wall.

Bedroom Planning Principles Offered

A few principles of bedroom planning which are offered by the Federal Housing Administration as guides to convenience are:

Economy in the area of sleeping rooms, as well as improvement in their convenience, is obtained by correct location of door and window openings to assure maximum wall space for furniture.

Convenience in use of bedroom is increased when the dresser and closet are reasonably close together.

Housekeeping convenience is increased when there is sufficient space to permit the bed to be made from two sides.

Window openings should not occur immediately over a bed, especially near the head of the bed.

When Insulating Protect Walls as Well as Roof

For complete satisfaction, heating experts advise, new homes should have insulation in side walls as well as in the roof. There are many more feet of area in the sidewalls than in any other exposed area in the house. Insulating the roof while leaving the sidewalls unprotected has been compared to wearing a mackinaw in a blizzard while failing to don trousers. Sidewalls can be insulated most economically when they are being built.

New Paints Will Make Job Easy for Amateur

Paint manufacturers believe the shortage of skilled painters in this country will last several years and are preparing to help the amateur dauber with foolproof, ready-mixed, quick-drying finishes so that any able-bodied owner can paint his own house, inside and out, without calling for professional assistance. Brighter colors are the keynote of the new paint lines.

Waxed woodwork cuts down cleaning. Rub spots that are handled often with a thin coat of liquid wax.

A Compact Ranch House of Distinctive Design

Rooms	Six

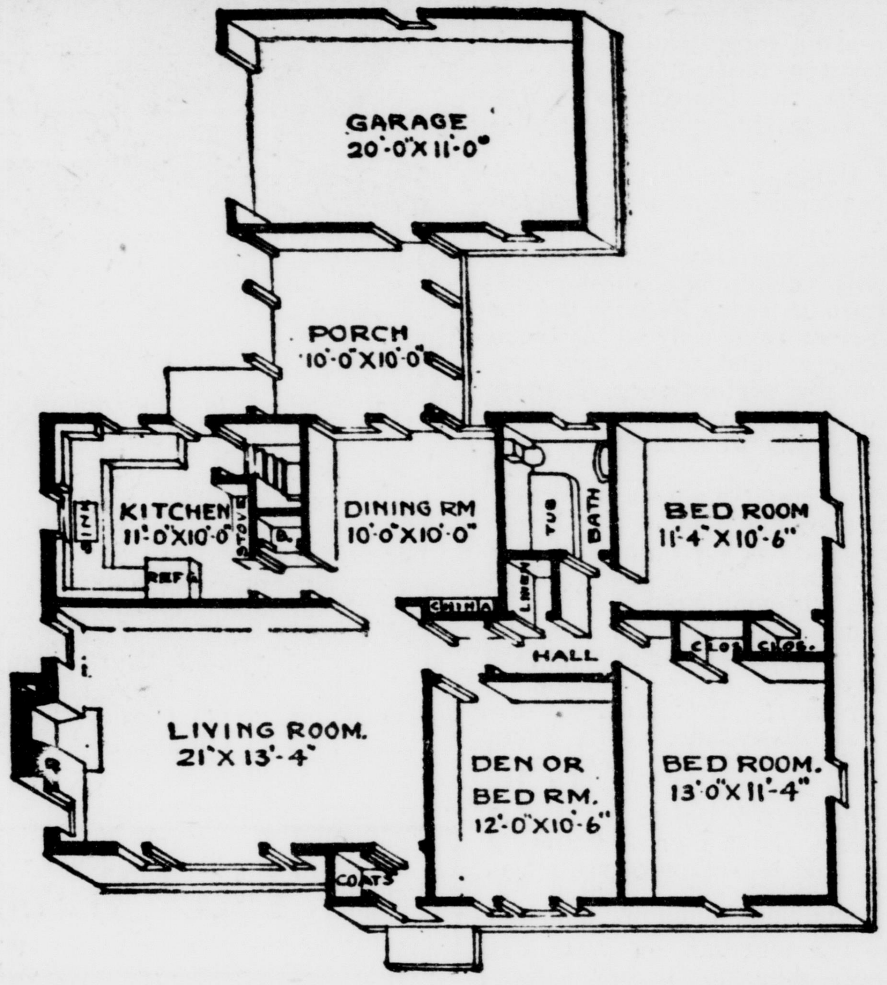
House	21,700 ft.
Garage	3,600 ft.
Dimensions	46' x 25'



Lending itself well to a combination wood and brick exterior finish "The Topeka" would be an attractive and outstanding home in any neighborhood. The abundance of large windows adds greatly to the appearance of the house exterior.

To best emphasize the exterior charms of "The Topeka," build it on a relatively level lot.

Front Entry

The attractive front door, with its four small glass panes at top, opens on a small entry hall. You'll find the large coat closet occupying the entire left wall of this hall an excellent solution for a host of storage problems.

Opening directly off this entry hall is the 21'x13'4" living room. Because of its spaciousness and handsome appearance, due in a large part to the massive fireplace centered in the left wall and the lovely picture window in the front wall, the living room is destined to be the most popular room in the house—a comfortable gathering spot for relatives and friends.

Well lighted by the windows flanking the fireplace as well as those flanking the picture window, to say nothing of this decorative window itself, the living room has ample unbroken wall space to make furniture arrangement no problem whatsoever.

A door in the further section of the right wall in the living room opens on a central hallway connecting with the bedrooms, den and bath. An archway, in the rear wall of the room, leads to the 10 foot square dining room.

A swinging door in the left wall connects directly with the kitchen. The dining room is well lighted and attractive. You won't have to think twice about how to put that large built-in china closet in the front wall to good use.

The porch is 10 feet square in dimensions and provides protected entrance to the attached garage.

Containing two windows, the garage is 20'x11', and offers ample room for overhead storage space of screens, etc.

Working counters, cupboards and cabinets are arranged in a U-shapped pattern along the back, left and front walls of the kitchen; the refrigerator is placed at the left end of this array of working counters with the stove but a few short steps away against the right wall. Located about in the middle of the arrangement of working counters, the sink is directly under the window in the left wall.

The first room on the right off the central hallway that runs extends from the living room and connects with the rooms in the right wing of the house, is the den or bedroom. Measuring 12'x 10'6", this room has one handsome large window located in the front wall and flanked by narrow eight paned windows. The long unbroken right and left walls will facilitate furniture arrangement regardless of the use to which you decide to put the room, for there will be plenty of space for large pieces of furniture.

Also opening off the connecting hallway, the large linen closet is located conveniently near to the bath and bedrooms. Completely modern in equipment, the bath is adequately lighted by the window in the back wall and boasts both a tub and a built-in shower.

Good cross ventilation and excellent storage facilities distinguish both the back corner bedroom and the front bedroom. The back bedroom measures 11'4"x 10'6"; the front bedroom is 13'x 11'4" in dimensions and, since it is the larger of the two rooms, would be the better choice for master bedroom.

Even with but a partial basement, you'll find sufficient space for your heating equipment, which should be placed under the living room, and the laundry which can be placed under the kitchen, unless of course you turn the breezeway into a first-floor laundry. This will leave room for a small recreation area.

With a full basement, of course, you'll be able to have a larger recreation room as well as plenty of basement storage space.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, The Kingston Daily Freeman and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Glass for Decoration

Decorative glass is made in a large variety of patterns and may be used in the home for cabinet doors, wall partitions or many other purposes.

White Is Giving Way To Pastel Exteriors

White is losing favor as a color for the exterior of a frame or brick house.

Paint dealers report that more home owners are painting their houses in colors, mostly pastels.

Most popular are gray, pale yellow, and green ranging from a pale to a medium tint. Browns and red-browns are popular for shingles.

Dealers say home owners are using color inside as well as outside. The new trend is to paint the woodwork the same color as the walls, instead of white or cream. Inside colors are darker, too. Dealers say the deeper tones frequently make a room look larger.

Insulation Averages $276

The FHA has insured more than 7,500,000 home improvement loans, thousands of which include insulation to save fuel in winter and make the home cooler in summer. The average insulation loan amounts to $276.

Large Mirrors Aid In Decorative Effect

Interior decorators, who have used large mirrors extensively in their more elaborate designing schemes, suggest them for the average and smaller than average homes as well.

Advantages of covering a large wall area with a polished plate glass mirror soon become evident. Sometimes the transformation achieved is almost unbelievable. This is especially true if the mirror is so placed that it reflects a pleasing view from a window or creates an illusion of distance and spaciousness by reflecting a portion of an adjoining room.

A favorite mirror treatment which can be installed in new or old homes, is suggested for a wall space between two windows. By using a mirror cut to a size extending from floor to ceiling and from one window to the other, a decorative and utilitarian background is provided for a bedroom dressing table. The mirror minimizes wall cleaning tasks and at the same time brightens the entire room by doubling the beauty of the color scheme.

Window Sash

After years of use, window sash will require new cords and possiby new pulleys. The sash may need refitting or weather strips may need to be installed to keep the drafts and dust from entering the house around the loose sash.

Rob Candy Store

New York, May 19 (AP)—Two unidentified men walked into a candy store and luncheonette at 774 Lydig avenue, the Bronx, early today and walked out with $219 after firing their guns to show the proprietor and five customers they meant business. Police said the pair took $200 from the luncheonette owner, Harold Fluger, and a total of $19 from three customers. They fired one shot into the floor and another into the ceiling, police added.

Preparing Lot For Building Is Expensive Job

The preliminary work necessary to prepare a site for a house may cost twice as much as the builder paid for the land and, in any case, will add several hundred dollars to the price of the property.

Few persons realize the expense involved in grooming raw acreage for a real estate development, according to contractors who are members of the Home Builders' Association of Rhode Island. Because of present high wage scales, the preliminary outlay today is greater than ever before, and the buyer of a complete dwelling must, of course, pay his proportionate share of it.

One experienced builder figures that the cost of getting a lot ready for a house averages $700 to $800. "If somebody gave me a tract of land tomorrow," he said, "without asking me to pay a cent for it, I would have to lay out at least $700 for every lot before I did any building. This represents the cost of clearing and grading, taking out boulders and cutting trees and brush, installing water service and putting the land in shape for building."

This statement was backed up by another builder, now developing a sub-division of one-family houses. He estimated that the expense of preparing lots for construction in his tract is about double the price he paid for the land.

The figures quoted are the preliminary work only; they do not cover the cost of final grading and landscaping, or the laying of sidewalks and driveways after the house is built.

Put Rainy-Day Gym In Basement Corner

In the home with small children, a basement corner can make an ideal rainy-day gym. Fit it out with swing, trapeze bar, flying rings and ladder hung from stout bolts in ceiling joists. Cover the concrete floor with asphalt tile to prevent dust and build a hopscotch court into the floor by using narrow feature strips of the tile to enclose numbered tiles which come in standard sizes. A stock shuffleboard court of asphalt tile also can be made a part of the floor.

Put a regulation gymnasium mat beneath the trapeze and flying rings to ease falls.

If the play space is to be used by a boy, he probably will like a punching bag mounted low on the wall.

Bedroom Planning Principles Offered

A few principles of bedroom planning which are offered by the Federal Housing Administration as guides to convenience are:

Economy in the area of sleeping rooms, as well as improvement in their convenience, is obtained by correct location of door and window openings to assure maximum wall space for furniture.

Convenience in use of bedroom is increased when the dresser and closet are reasonably close together.

Housekeeping convenience is increased when there is sufficient space to permit the bed to be made from two sides.

Window openings should not occur immediately over a bed, especially near the head of the bed.

When Insulating Protect Walls as Well as Roof

For complete satisfaction, heating experts advise, new homes should have insulation in side walls as well as in the roof. There are many more feet of area in the sidewalls than in any other exposed area in the house. Insulating the roof while leaving the sidewalls unprotected has been compared to wearing a mackinaw in a blizzard while failing to don trousers. Sidewalls can be insulated most economically when they are being built.

New Paints Will Make Job Easy for Amateur

Paint manufacturers believe the shortage of skilled painters in this country will last several years and are preparing to help the amateur dauber with foolproof, ready-mixed, quick-drying finishes so that any able-bodied owner can paint his own house, inside and out, without calling for professional assistance. Brighter colors are the keynote of the new paint lines.

Waxed woodwork cuts down cleaning. Rub spots that are handled often with a thin coat of liquid wax.

Rob Candy Store

New York, May 19 (AP)—Two unidentified men walked into a candy store and luncheonette at 774 Lydig avenue, the Bronx, early today and walked out with $219 after firing their guns to show the proprietor and five customers they meant business. Police said the pair took $200 from the luncheonette owner, Harold Fluger, and a total of $19 from three customers. They fired one shot into the floor and another into the ceiling, police added.

Preparing Lot For Building Is Expensive Job

The preliminary work necessary to prepare a site for a house may cost twice as much as the builder paid for the land and, in any case, will add several hundred dollars to the price of the property.

Few persons realize the expense involved in grooming raw acreage for a real estate development, according to contractors who are members of the Home Builders' Association of Rhode Island. Because of present high wage scales, the preliminary outlay today is greater than ever before, and the buyer of a complete dwelling must, of course, pay his proportionate share of it.

One experienced builder figures that the cost of getting a lot ready for a house averages $700 to $800. "If somebody gave me a tract of land tomorrow," he said, "without asking me to pay a cent for it, I would have to lay out at least $700 for every lot before I did any building. This represents the cost of clearing and grading, taking out boulders and cutting trees and brush, installing water service and putting the land in shape for building."

This statement was backed up by another builder, now developing a sub-division of one-family houses. He estimated that the expense of preparing lots for construction in his tract is about double the price he paid for the land.

The figures quoted are the preliminary work only; they do not cover the cost of final grading and landscaping, or the laying of sidewalks and driveways after the house is built.

Put Rainy-Day Gym In Basement Corner

In the home with small children, a basement corner can make an ideal rainy-day gym. Fit it out with swing, trapeze bar, flying rings and ladder hung from stout bolts in ceiling joists. Cover the concrete floor with asphalt tile to prevent dust and build a hopscotch court into the floor by using narrow feature strips of the tile to enclose numbered tiles which come in standard sizes. A stock shuffleboard court of asphalt tile also can be made a part of the floor.

Put a regulation gymnasium mat beneath the trapeze and flying rings to ease falls.

If the play space is to be used by a boy, he probably will like a punching bag mounted low on the wall.

Bedroom Planning Principles Offered

A few principles of bedroom planning which are offered by the Federal Housing Administration as guides to convenience are:

Economy in the area of sleeping rooms, as well as improvement in their convenience, is obtained by correct location of door and window openings to assure maximum wall space for furniture.

Convenience in use of bedroom is increased when the dresser and closet are reasonably close together.

Housekeeping convenience is increased when there is sufficient space to permit the bed to be made from two sides.

Window openings should not occur immediately over a bed, especially near the head of the bed.

When Insulating Protect Walls as Well as Roof

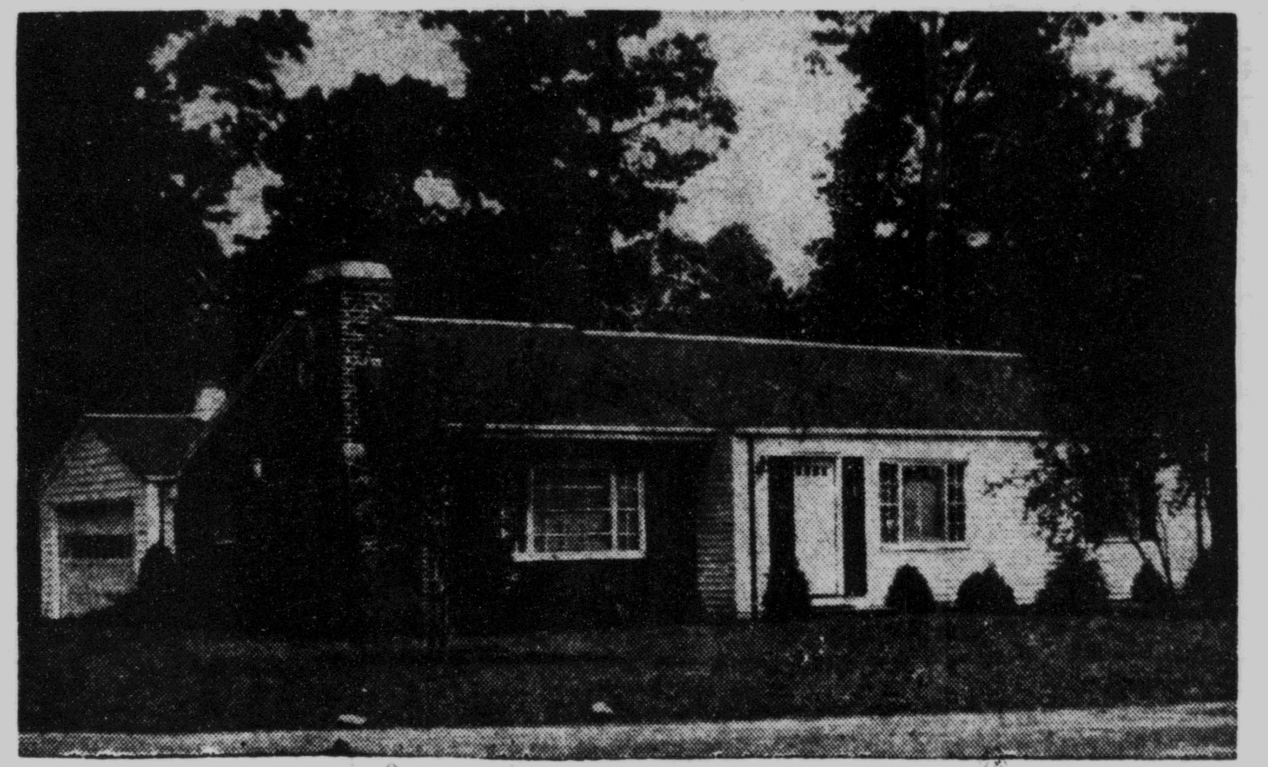
For complete satisfaction, heating experts advise, new homes should have insulation in side walls as well as in the roof. There are many more feet of area in the sidewalls than in any other exposed area in the house. Insulating the roof while leaving the sidewalls unprotected has been compared to wearing a mackinaw in a blizzard while failing to don trousers. Sidewalls can be insulated most economically when they are being built.

New Paints Will Make Job Easy for Amateur

Paint manufacturers believe the shortage of skilled painters in this country will last several years and are preparing to help the amateur dauber with foolproof, ready-mixed, quick-drying finishes so that any able-bodied owner can paint his own house, inside and out, without calling for professional assistance. Brighter colors are the keynote of the new paint lines.

Waxed woodwork cuts down cleaning. Rub spots that are handled often with a thin coat of liquid wax.

THE TOPEKA



A Compact Ranch House of Distinctive Design

Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Five
Cubage
House	21,700 ft.
Garage	3,600 ft.
Dimensions	46' x 25'

Lending itself well to a combination wood and brick exterior finish "The Topeka" would be an attractive and outstanding home in any neighborhood. The abundance of large windows adds greatly to the appearance of the house exterior.

To best emphasize the exterior charms of "The Topeka," build it on a relatively level lot.

Front Entry

The attractive front door, with its four small glass panes at top, opens on a small entry hall. You'll find the large coat closet occupying the entire left wall of this hall an excellent solution for a host of storage problems.

Opening directly off this entry hall is the 21'x13'4" living room. Because of its spaciousness and handsome appearance, due in a large part to the massive fireplace centered in the left wall and the lovely picture window in the front wall, the living room is destined to be the most popular room in the house—a comfortable gathering spot for relatives and friends.

Well lighted by the windows flanking the fireplace as well as those flanking the picture window, to say nothing of this decorative window itself, the living room has ample unbroken wall space to make furniture arrangement no problem whatsoever.

A door in the further section of the right wall in the living room opens on a central hallway connecting with the bedrooms, den and bath. An archway, in the rear wall of the room, leads to the 10 foot square dining room.

A swinging door in the left wall connects directly with the kitchen. The dining room is well lighted and attractive. You won't have to think twice about how to put that large built-in china closet in the front wall to good use.

The porch is 10 feet square in dimensions and provides protected entrance to the attached garage.

Containing two windows, the garage is 20'x11', and offers ample room for overhead storage space of screens, etc.

Working counters, cupboards and cabinets are arranged in a U-shapped pattern along the back, left and front walls of the kitchen; the refrigerator is placed at the left end of this array of working counters with the stove but a few short steps away against the right wall. Located about in the middle of the arrangement of working counters, the sink is directly under the window in the left wall.

The first room on the right off the central hallway that runs extends from the living room and connects with the rooms in the right wing of the house, is the den or bedroom. Measuring 12'x 10'6", this room has one handsome large window located in the front wall and flanked by narrow eight paned windows. The long unbroken right and left walls will facilitate furniture arrangement regardless of the use to which you decide to put the room for there will be plenty of space for large pieces of furniture.

Also opening off the connecting hallway, the large linen closet is located conveniently near to the bath and bedrooms. Completely modern in equipment, the bath is adequately lighted by the window in the back wall and boasts both a tub and a built-in shower.

Good cross ventilation and excellent storage facilities distinguish both the back corner bedroom and the front bedroom. The back bedroom measures 11'4"x 10'6"; the front bedroom is 13'x 11'4" in dimensions and, since it is the larger of the two rooms, would be the better choice for master bedroom.

Even with but a partial basement, you'll find sufficient space for your heating equipment, which should be placed under the living room, and the laundry which can be placed under the kitchen, unless of course you turn the breezeway into a first-floor laundry. This will leave room for a small recreation area.

With a full basement, of course, you'll be able to have a larger recreation room as well as plenty of basement storage space.

Glass for Decoration

Decorative glass is made in a large variety of patterns and may be used in the home for cabinet doors, wall partitions or many other purposes.

White Is Giving Way To Pastel Exteriors

White is losing favor as a color for the exterior of a frame or brick house.

Paint dealers report that more home owners are painting their houses in colors, mostly pastels.

Most popular are gray, pale yellow, and green ranging from a pale to a medium tint. Browns and red-browns are popular for shingles.

Dealers say home owners are using color inside as well as outside. The new trend is to paint the woodwork the same color as the walls, instead of white or cream. Inside colors are darker, too. Dealers say the deeper tones frequently make a room look larger.

Large Mirrors Aid In Decorative Effect

Interior decorators, who have used large mirrors extensively in their more elaborate designing schemes, suggest them for the average and smaller than average homes as well.

Advantages of covering a large wall area with a polished plate glass mirror soon become evident. Sometimes the transformation achieved is almost unbelievable. This is especially true if the mirror is so placed that it reflects a pleasing view from a window or creates an illusion of distance and spaciousness by reflecting a portion of an adjoining room.

A favorite mirror treatment which can be installed in new or old homes, is suggested for a wall space between two windows. By using a mirror cut to a size extending from floor to ceiling and from one window to the other, a decorative and utilitarian background is provided for a bedroom dressing table. The mirror minimizes wall cleaning tasks and at the same time brightens the entire room by doubling the beauty of the color scheme.

DOPE TRAFFIC PROBE

As the special Senate crime investigating committee turns its attention to the illegal traffic in narcotics, more shocking disclosures of spreading underworld tentacles may be expected. But it may be logical to hope that less corruption of government will be turned up than was the case with the probe of gambling and rackets. The narcotics traffic deals more with selected individuals than with the public, and moves in a degree of secrecy more nearly befitting illegality.

The dope traffic touches fewer individuals than illegal gambling, but it is more destructive of its victims. Bad as are the effects of the gambling mania on the individual, the effects of dope are worse. The traffic in illicit narcotics is wholly and unmistakably a traffic in human misery and depravity. What manner of people are they who can stoop to reap the gains of such a traffic? Perhaps we had better be prepared for some shocking answers to that question.

As to law, the committee probe will be entering a new field. The gambling and racketeering it previously investigated were largely matters of state and local regulation, and violations of federal law involved were mostly, as for example income tax evasion, incidental to the basic criminal operations. The dope traffic, on the other hand, is basically a federal matter, and the senators will therefor be getting closer to their own back yards. All in all, there seems to be promise of an interesting and fruitful inquiry.

TV'S RESPONSIBILITY

Must television merely give the public "what it wants," or does it have a definite responsibility for the influence which it exerts? That this is a question which should be given serious thought was pointed out recently in the New York Times.

At the metropolitan public school which is attended by boys who have in one way or another disobeyed the law, an assembly discussion on TV provoked lively comment by the boys. Most of their families are on relief, and yet the majority own television sets. One ten-year-old approached the reporter after this session and said, "Mister, the cops and teachers keep tellin' us that crime doesn't pay and all that. If they're right, how come television puts on so much crime stuff and shows how to do it?"

This question should provoke some soul-searching among program directors, owners and sponsors, and among the members of the public they seek to entertain. The field open to interesting television programs is practically unlimited in its variety. If the industry is going to give the public what it wants, the public should make its choices carefully.

LONG-STANDING QUARREL

The dispute between India and Pakistan over the ownership of Kashmir may have an American arbiter. Frank P. Graham, former United States senator and president of the University of North Carolina, has been chosen by the United Nations Security Council to settle the quarrel.

So far India has refused to arbitrate, while Pakistan has seemed willing to do so. Graham is not strictly an arbiter under UN commission, but a fact-finder with power to recommend. India has been free with advice as to how to settle the Korean dispute. Now we shall see if she is willing to settle quarrels that are closer home.

A HEALTHY CONTRAST

America heartily welcomes Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel to its shores. As head of the newest nation on earth, he is a reminder to us that the urge to self-determination still burns brightly in the hearts of many whose history has been clouded by hardship.

What a healthy contrast is this example to the dismal spectacle of other equally proud peoples in central Europe and elsewhere falling prey to Russian communism. As the free world encourages the birth of new countries like Israel and Libya, it must never abandon as totally lost the freedom-loving folk of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and other victims of the predatory Reds.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

IN DEFENSE OF ACHESON

The President of the United States is entitled to have a secretary of state who is sympathetic to his point of view, who is loyal to him and whose personality is unoffensive to him.

This is not necessarily true in countries which employ the parliamentary system. In such countries, the minister for foreign affairs is elected to the Parliament or Chamber of Deputies or diet or whatever it is called. He is an elected official in his own right and may be as important politically as the prime minister.

In the United States, the secretary of state, as every cabinet officer, is a private citizen appointed to his position by the President, and responsible to him. The President, in his executive power under the Constitution, may act through the appropriate executive department, but it is always the President who bears the responsibility.

The word, cabinet, does not appear in the Constitution, but the President has the right to appoint officials to assist him. He, however, is, with the vice president as a stand-by, the only executive official elected by the people. Because of long and complicated ballots, we often forget that an American can vote for only five federal officials: A president, a vice president, two United States senators and one member of the House of Representatives.

Chief Justice John Marshall made the position perfectly clear in the basic case, Marbury vs. Madison (1803):

"By the Constitution of the United States, the President is invested with certain important political powers, in the exercise of which he is to use his own discretion, and is accountable only to his country in his political character, and to his own conscience. To aid him in the performance of these duties, he is authorized to appoint certain officers, who act by his authority and in conformity with his orders."

Dean Acheson is President Truman's secretary of state. He is in office by the will of the President, confirmed by the Senate in such an office as a matter of course. His tenure is dependent upon the will of the President, who may keep him or dismiss him at his pleasure. Mr. Truman has expressed his satisfaction with Dean Acheson's performance and personality.

Therefore, that is up to the President. If the people give evidence of displeasure with Dean Acheson's conduct in office, they may make their sentiments known to the President, but only he can have a decision in the matter unless because of felonies and misdemeanors the Congress chose to act in an impeachment. No secretary of state has ever been impeached.

It is then the President who must be held responsible for whatever the secretary of state has done. It is the secretary's obligation to suit, satisfy and please the President. It is true that occasionally a powerful personality, like Charles Evans Hughes, is bigger in intellectual stature than his President, but this has not been true in recent years. The past two Presidents have tended to appoint second-line men to cabinet posts.

Mr. Roosevelt had two secretaries of state, Cordell Hull, who was, on the whole, meek in manner and unconcerned with details, and Edward Stettinius. Mr. Roosevelt conducted his policy through second level officials in the State Department. Truman had a number of secretaries of state: Stettinius, James F. Byrnes, George C. Marshall, and Dean Acheson—none of them startling personalities. Of these, Dean Acheson has lasted longest and pleased him most.

It is now being suggested that Mr. Truman will be forced by public opinion any day to dismiss Dean Acheson or elevate him to the Supreme Court bench, which is becoming a catch-all for secondary Democratic politicians. The idea is that public opinion will require him to part with a faithful but unpopular servant. The principal names mentioned as Acheson's successor are Averell Harriman, who has become a political handyman of not too great perspicacity; Chief Justice Fred Vinson, who has had no experience whatsoever in international relations, and John Foster Dulles, who, while a Republican, has done excellent service for Mr. Truman.

Of these, the least suitable would be John Foster Dulles because, having been a Republican senator, he would confuse the issue. The bipartisan foreign policy cannot be restored because it has proved to be a liability to the United States. Mr. Dulles could only give a false impression. That being the case, why make the change?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SCIATICA AND LOW BACK PAIN

As many years ago I had four attacks of sciatica and low back pain, I can sympathize with those who suffer with it. Neurosurgeons tell us that we can get some idea of the pain of sciatica by remembering that the sciatic nerve is the largest nerve in the body, about the size of the little finger. This is a great many times larger than the nerve in a tooth, which can cause such severe pain.

Sciatica is a pain that extends from the middle part of the large muscle on which we sit down; in fact, this large muscle prevents pain when the sciatic nerve would be under any pressure. This nerve passes down the back of the thigh, or upper leg, into the calf and sometimes to ankle and side of the foot.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Clark H. Millikan states that the patient may find it difficult to be comfortable in bed and may turn restlessly trying to find some position that will bring relief. Sitting in a chair or riding in a car may increase discomfort and the patient may sit on one buttock, to relieve pressure on the other buttock. In addition to the pain, there may be numbness and tingling in side of calf and ankle.

Some of the signs outlined by Dr. Millikan are: (a) Rapidly bending the head forward may produce pain in lower back; (b) There is stiffness in lower back and raising leg while keeping knee straight causes pain in the back of the thigh; (c) The calf muscle becomes weak and flabby. It is estimated that pain in lower back, accompanied by sciatica, is caused in 90 per cent of cases by hernia or rupture of an intervertebral disk, the cushion of tissue between the bones of the spine.

In my own attacks, only one was caused by injury, and for this I wore a steel and leather brace for several years. The other three attacks were due to infection, two from teeth and one from tonsils, and the removal of teeth and tonsils caused disappearance of the pain.

Contrary to the opinion of many physicians that operation for removal of the ruptured disk should be performed at once, Dr. Millikan suggests that conservative treatment — rest, supportive brace, and later massage—should be tried; if this fails within a reasonable time, operation should be performed.

What I have personally found in myself and others is that when the patient can adjust himself comfortably in bed and be free or nearly free of pain, injury to lower back has occurred. If pain is present when at rest, infection—teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder—is the cause. It is possible, of course, that infection and injury may both be present.

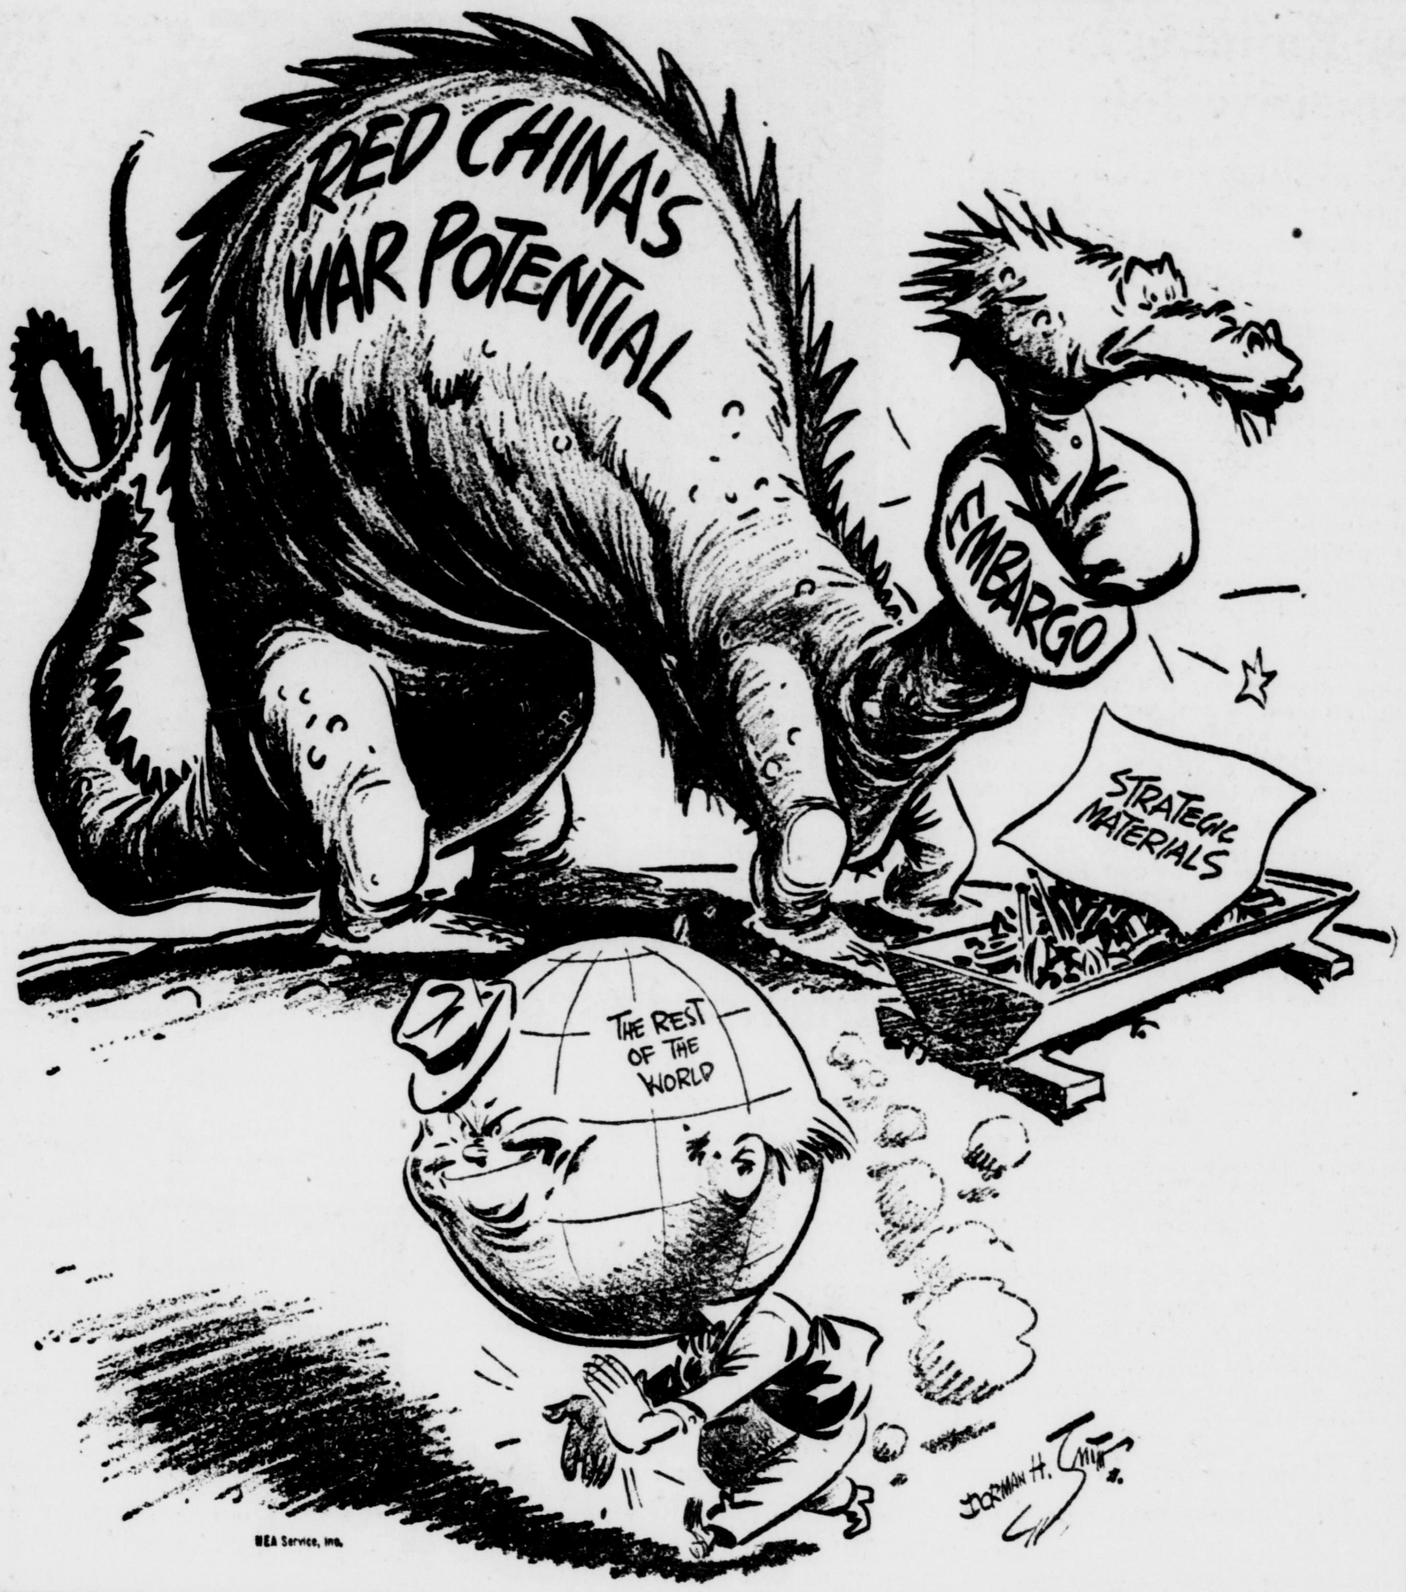
A Good Start---Now for the Follow-Through



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman is being ultra-careful about writing letters these days—so much so that some of his assistants almost get him into worse trouble trying to protect him.

The other day word was noised around the capitol that the President had written a letter to Congressman John McGuire of Connecticut jokingly offering him the "rosary concession at The Vatican" when and if the United States sent a new ambassador to His Holiness the Pope.

There was an immediate furor in capitol lobbies. The President, it was rumored, had put his foot in it again.

Careful checking by this column, however, revealed that though the President had written a letter, it was only a protective letter. Perhaps even more interesting, checking revealed the skittishness of some White House aides regarding any letter signed "Harry S. Truman."

What actually happened was that Congressman McGuire, a Democrat, called at the White House with other members of the House Commerce Committee, and afterward stayed behind to talk to the President about sending an ambassador to The Vatican. Mr. Truman has had this under consideration for some time but has been under vigorous political pressure from Protestants on one side and Catholics on the other.

The President listened carefully to McGuire, then jokingly remarked when he did appoint an ambassador to The Vatican he would give McGuire the rosary concession.

McGuire was amused and repeated the remark to several people, among the journalist Al Steinberg, who was doing a series of magazine articles on the White House. While at the White House preparing his series, Steinberg mentioned the remark to a presidential assistant who both pooh-poohed the story and almost hit the ceiling.

It was after this, and apparently to cover up any misinterpretation that might be given to his remark, that the President was urged to write a letter to Congressman McGuire, which read:

"Dear John: Your suggestion about a representative at The Vatican and a good business in rosaries gave me a good laugh."

Note — President Truman, a Baptist, has been criticized by some Protestants for appointing more Catholics to the cabinet than any other president in history—Attorney General Howard McGrath, Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, and Secretary of Navy Francis Matthews. By appointing a committee on religious and racial tolerance, he worked against intolerance toward all faiths.

New Korean Weapons

The army is preparing to throw some terrifying new weapons into the Korean war—if we finally decide to shoot the works in Korea. Here is what the Chinese Communists may soon be facing:

1. It is up to the President to order the use of atomic weapons in Korea, but the army is now training atomic artillery crews—just in case. These crews are learning to operate two field artillery pieces, capable of firing atomic shells which would wipe out an entire regiment with one shot. One atomic gun is a giant howitzer, the other a long-range artillery piece. Both are so large that they must be towed by locomotives.

2. If the Communist air force joins the Korean war, the army will unleash a spectacular, new anti-aircraft gun that is fired by remote control. In other words, several guns can be planted close to enemy lines, yet operated by remote control without any gun crews anywhere near the guns. The first of these 60-mm., air-cooled, anti-aircraft guns are already being tested in Korea.

3. The army's new, light supertank is already being put through the paces in Korea. The first two tanks off the production line were rushed overseas immediately and are now being tested under combat conditions. This aggressive little tank is capable of outfighting anything of its kind in the Russian arsenal.

In addition, it is no military secret to report that the government is rushing research on a variety of new weapons, including guided missiles, atomic submarines, supersonic planes, and nerve gas.

Radioactive No-Man's Land

Most revolutionary of these is radiological warfare, or the use of radioactive rays. By contaminating military objectives with radioactive rays, it would be possible to conquer an objective without killing a single person or destroying a single building. The radioactive dose could be made as deadly as desired. In other words, the dose could be made light enough so that it would have to be absorbed by the civilian population for three or four days before causing death. This would give enemy civilians plenty of time to clear out, and the advancing army could move in as soon as the radioactivity wore off.

Radioactive contamination could also be used to halt a ground attack down a narrow neck of land, such as Korea. This could be accomplished by spreading a stronger dose and creating a radioactive no-man's land into which no soldier could advance without certain death.

Processes have already been developed to produce these radioactive rays independent of the atomic bomb. However, the same effect could also be achieved by exploding an atomic bomb underground. This would contaminate the ground, and create a radioactive no-man's land. The effect would be that of an atomic mine which, if exploded in the face of an advancing army, should be able to halt the advance cold.

To test this principle, underground atomic explosions are already scheduled on the barren Aleutian Islands.

Texas Lawyer

It is a rare thing for a Texan to admit of an inferiority complex in any form. However, Mastin G. White, the solicitor of the Interior Department, confesses to a slight uneasiness every time he enters a certain office building in Washington.

White, a native of Tyler, Texas, has a close friend, Norman Morrisson, formerly of El Paso, whose law offices are in the Union Trust building. Once, when Morrisson's wife and young daughter, Mary Helen, were taking the elevator to his office, Mary Helen suddenly exclaimed:

"Mother, do you know that Mr. White can't visit daddy in this building?"

"Nonsense," said Mrs. Morrisson. "Why not?"

Pointing to a sign in the elevator, the little girl replied: "Well, it says very plainly there —'No solicitors allowed.'"

DOPE TRAFFIC PROBE

As the special Senate crime investigating committee turns its attention to the illegal traffic in narcotics, more shocking disclosures of spreading underworld tentacles may be expected. But it may be logical to hope that less corruption of government will be turned up than was the case with the probe of gambling and rackets. The narcotics traffic deals more with selected individuals than with the public, and moves in a degree of secrecy more nearly befitting illegality.

The dope traffic touches fewer individuals than illegal gambling, but it is more destructive of its victims. Bad as are the effects of the gambling mania on the individual, the effects of dope are worse. The traffic in illicit narcotics is wholly and unmistakably a traffic in human misery and depravity. What manner of people are they who can stoop to reap the gains of such a traffic? Perhaps we had better be prepared for some shocking answers to that question.

As to law, the committee probe will be entering a new field. The gambling and racketeering it previously investigated were largely matters of state and local regulation, and violations of federal law involved were mostly, as for example income tax evasion, incidental to the basic criminal operations. The dope traffic, on the other hand, is basically a federal matter, and the senators will therefor be getting closer to their own back yards. All in all, there seems to be promise of an interesting and fruitful inquiry.

TV'S RESPONSIBILITY

Must television merely give the public "what it wants," or does it have a definite responsibility for the influence which it exerts? That this is a question which should be given serious thought was pointed out recently in the New York Times.

At the metropolitan public school which is attended by boys who have in one way or another disobeyed the law, an assembly discussion on TV provoked lively comment by the boys. Most of their families are on relief, and yet the majority own television sets. One ten-year-old approached the reporter after this session and said, "Mister, the cops and teachers keep tellin' us that crime doesn't pay and all that. If they're right, how come television puts on so much crime stuff and shows how to do it?"

This question should provoke some soul-searching among program directors, owners and sponsors, and among the members of the public they seek to entertain. The field open to interesting television programs is practically unlimited in its variety. If the industry is going to give the public what it wants, the public should make its choices carefully.

LONG-STANDING QUARREL

The dispute between India and Pakistan over the ownership of Kashmir may have an American arbiter. Frank P. Graham, former United States senator and president of the University of North Carolina, has been chosen by the United Nations Security Council to settle the quarrel.

So far India has refused to arbitrate, while Pakistan has seemed willing to do so. Graham is not strictly an arbiter under UN commission, but a fact-finder with power to recommend. India has been free with advice as to how to settle the Korean dispute. Now we shall see if she is willing to settle quarrels that are closer home.

A HEALTHY CONTRAST

America heartily welcomes Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel to its shores. As head of the newest nation on earth, he is a reminder to us that the urge to self-determination still burns brightly in the hearts of many whose history has been clouded by hardship.

What a healthy contrast is this example to the dismal spectacle of other equally proud peoples in central Europe and elsewhere falling prey to Russian communism. As the free world encourages the birth of new countries like Israel and Libya, it must never abandon as totally lost the freedom-loving folk of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and other victims of the predatory Reds.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

IN DEFENSE OF ACHESON

The President of the United States is entitled to have a secretary of state who is sympathetic to his point of view, who is loyal to him and whose personality is unoffensive to him.

This is not necessarily true in countries which employ the parliamentary system. In such countries, the minister for foreign affairs is elected to the Parliament or Chamber of Deputies or diet or whatever it is called. He is an elected official in his own right and may be as important politically as the prime minister.

In the United States, the secretary of state, as every cabinet officer, is a private citizen appointed to his position by the President, and responsible to him. The President, in his executive power under the Constitution, may act through the appropriate executive department, but it is always the President who bears the responsibility.

The word, cabinet, does not appear in the Constitution, but the President has the right to appoint officials to assist him. He, however, is, with the vice president as a stand-by, the only executive official elected by the people. Because of long and complicated ballots, we often forget that an American can vote for only five federal officials: A president, a vice president, two United States senators and one member of the House of Representatives.

Chief Justice John Marshall made the position perfectly clear in the basic case, Marbury vs. Madison (1803):

"By the Constitution of the United States, the President is invested with certain important political powers, in the exercise of which he is to use his own discretion, and is accountable only to his country in his political character, and to his own conscience. To aid him in the performance of these duties, he is authorized to appoint certain officers, who act by his authority and in conformity with his orders."

Dean Acheson is President Truman's secretary of state. He is in office by the will of the President, confirmed by the Senate in such an office as a matter of course. His tenure is dependent upon the will of the President, who may keep him or dismiss him at his pleasure. Mr. Truman has expressed his satisfaction with Dean Acheson's performance and personality.

Therefore, that is up to the President. If the people give evidence of displeasure with Dean Acheson's conduct in office, they may make their sentiments known to the President, but only he can have a decision in the matter unless because of felonies and misdemeanors the Congress chose to act in an impeachment. No secretary of state has ever been impeached.

It is then the President who must be held responsible for whatever the secretary of state has done. It is the secretary's obligation to suit, satisfy and please the President. It is true that occasionally a powerful personality, like Charles Evans Hughes, is bigger in intellectual stature than his President, but this has not been true in recent years. The past two Presidents have tended to appoint second-line men to cabinet posts.

Mr. Roosevelt had two secretaries of state, Cordell Hull, who was, on the whole, meek in manner and unconcerned with details, and Edward Stettinius. Mr. Roosevelt conducted his policy through second level officials in the State Department. Truman had a number of secretaries of state: Stettinius, James F. Byrnes, George C. Marshall, and Dean Acheson—none of them startling personalities. Of these, Dean Acheson has lasted longest and pleased him most.

It is now being suggested that Mr. Truman will be forced by public opinion any day to dismiss Dean Acheson or elevate him to the Supreme Court bench, which is becoming a catch-all for secondary Democratic politicians. The idea is that public opinion will require him to part with a faithful but unpopular servant. The principal names mentioned as Acheson's successor are Averell Harriman, who has become a political handyman of not too great perspicacity; Chief Justice Fred Vinson, who has had no experience whatsoever in international relations, and John Foster Dulles, who, while a Republican, has done excellent service for Mr. Truman.

Of these, the least suitable would be John Foster Dulles because, having been a Republican senator, he would confuse the issue. The bipartisan foreign policy cannot be restored because it has proved to be a liability to the United States. Mr. Dulles could only give a false impression. That being the case, why make the change?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SCIATICA AND LOW BACK PAIN

As many years ago I had four attacks of sciatica and low back pain, I can sympathize with those who suffer with it. Neurosurgeons tell us that we can get some idea of the pain of sciatica by remembering that the sciatic nerve is the largest nerve in the body, about the size of the little finger. This is a great many times larger than the nerve in a tooth, which can cause such severe pain.

Sciatica is a pain that extends from the middle part of the large muscle on which we sit down; in fact, this large muscle prevents pain when the sciatic nerve would be under any pressure. This nerve passes down the back of the thigh, or upper leg, into the calf and sometimes to ankle and side of the foot.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Clark H. Millikan states that the patient may find it difficult to be comfortable in bed and may turn restlessly trying to find some position that will bring relief. Sitting in a chair or riding in a car may increase discomfort and the patient may sit on one buttock, to relieve pressure on the other buttock. In addition to the pain, there may be numbness and tingling in side of calf and ankle.

Some of the signs outlined by Dr. Millikan are: (a) Rapidly bending the head forward may produce pain in lower back; (b) There is stiffness in lower back and raising leg while keeping knee straight causes pain in the back of the thigh; (c) The calf muscle becomes weak and flabby. It is estimated that pain in lower back, accompanied by sciatica, is caused in 90 per cent of cases by hernia or rupture of an intervertebral disk, the cushion of tissue between the bones of the spine.

In my own attacks, only one was caused by injury, and for this I wore a steel and leather brace for several years. The other three attacks were due to infection, two from teeth and one from tonsils, and the removal of teeth and tonsils caused disappearance of the pain.

Contrary to the opinion of many physicians that operation for removal of the ruptured disk should be performed at once, Dr. Millikan suggests that conservative treatment — rest, supportive brace, and later massage—should be tried; if this fails within a reasonable time, operation should be performed.

What I have personally found in myself and others is that when the patient can adjust himself comfortably in bed and be free or nearly free of pain, injury to lower back has occurred. If pain is present when at rest, infection—teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder—is the cause. It is possible, of course, that infection and injury may both be present.

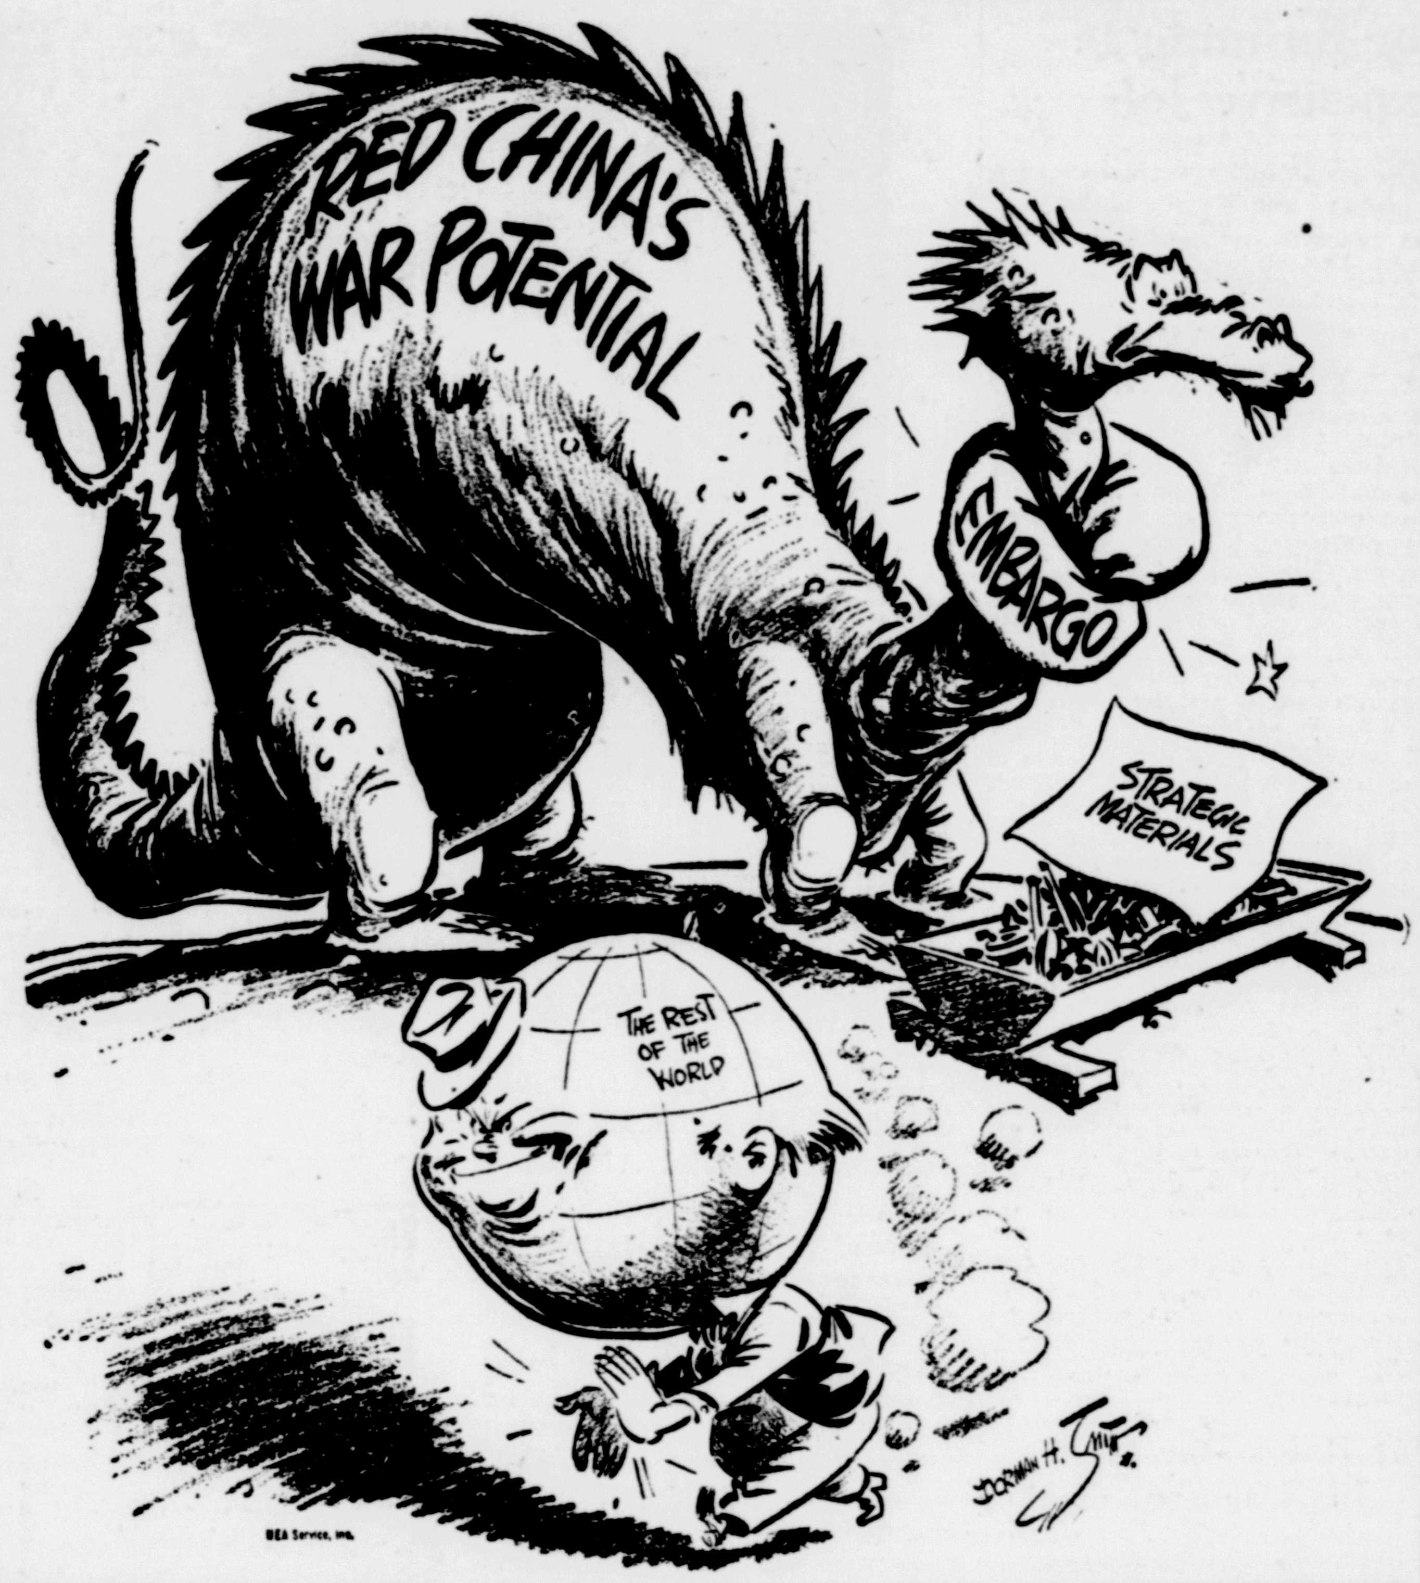
A Good Start—Now for the Follow-Through



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman is being ultra-careful about writing letters these days—so much so that some of his assistants almost get him into worse trouble trying to protect him.

The other day word was noised around the capitol that the President had written a letter to Congressman John McGuire of Connecticut jokingly offering him the "rosary concession at The Vatican" when and if the United States sent a new ambassador to His Holiness the Pope.

There was an immediate furor in capitol lobbies. The President, it was rumored, had put his foot in it again.

Careful checking by this column, however, revealed that though the President had written a letter, it was only a protective letter. Perhaps even more interesting, checking revealed the skittishness of some White House aides regarding any letter signed "Harry S. Truman."

What actually happened was that Congressman McGuire, a Democrat, called at the White House with other members of the House Commerce Committee, and afterward stayed behind to talk to the President about sending an ambassador to The Vatican. Mr. Truman has had this under consideration for some time but has been under vigorous political pressure from Protestants on one side and Catholics on the other.

The President listened carefully to McGuire, then jokingly remarked when he did appoint an ambassador to The Vatican he would give McGuire the rosary concession.

McGuire was amused and repeated the remark to several people, among the journalist Al Steinberg, who was doing a series of magazine articles on the White House. While at the White House preparing his series, Steinberg mentioned the remark to a presidential assistant who both pooh-poohed the story and almost hit the ceiling.

It was after this, and apparently to cover up any misinterpretation that might be given to his remark, that the President was urged to write a letter to Congressman McGuire, which read:

"Dear John: Your suggestion about a representative at The Vatican and a good business in rosaries gave me a good laugh."

Note — President Truman, a Baptist, has been criticized by some Protestants for appointing more Catholics to the cabinet than any other president in history—Attorney General Howard McGrath, Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, and Secretary of Navy Francis Matthews. By appointing a committee on religious and racial tolerance, he worked against intolerance toward all faiths.

New Korean Weapons

The army is preparing to throw some terrifying new weapons into the Korean war—if we finally decide to shoot the works in Korea. Here is what the Chinese Communists may soon be facing:

1. It is up to the President to order the use of atomic weapons in Korea, but the army is now training atomic artillery crews—just in case. These crews are learning to operate two field artillery pieces, capable of firing atomic shells which would wipe out an entire regiment with one shot. One atomic gun is a giant howitzer, the other a long-range artillery piece. Both are so large that they must be towed by locomotives.

2. If the Communist air force joins the Korean war, the army will unleash a spectacular, new anti-aircraft gun that is fired by remote control. In other words, several guns can be planted close to enemy lines, yet operated by remote control without any gun crews anywhere near the guns. The first of these 60-mm., air-cooled, anti-aircraft guns are already being tested in Korea.

3. The army's new, light super-tank is already being put through the paces in Korea. The first two tanks off the production line were rushed overseas immediately and are now being tested under combat conditions. This aggressive little tank is capable of outfighting anything of its kind in the Russian arsenal.

In addition, it is no military secret to report that the government is rushing research on a variety of new weapons, including guided missiles, atomic submarines, supersonic planes, and nerve gas.

Radioactive No-Man's Land

Most revolutionary of these is radiological warfare, or the use of radioactive rays. By contaminating military objectives with radioactive rays, it would be possible to conquer an objective without killing a single person or destroying a single building. The radioactive dose could be made as deadly as desired. In other words, the dose could be made light enough so that it would have to be absorbed by the civilian population for three or four days before causing death. This would give enemy civilians plenty of time to clear out, and the advancing army could move in as soon as the radioactivity wore off.

Radioactive contamination could also be used to halt a ground attack down a narrow neck of land, such as Korea. This could be accomplished by spreading a stronger dose and creating a radioactive no-man's land into which no soldier could advance without certain death.

Processes have already been developed to produce these radioactive rays independent of the atomic bomb. However, the same effect could also be achieved by exploding an atomic bomb underground. This would contaminate the ground, and create a radioactive no-man's land. The effect would be that of an atomic mine which, if exploded in the face of an advancing army, should be able to halt the advance cold.

To test this principle, underground atomic explosions are already scheduled on the barren Aleutian Islands.

Texas Lawyer

It is a rare thing for a Texan to admit of an inferiority complex in any form. However, Mastin G. White, the solicitor of the Interior Department, confesses to a slight uneasiness every time he enters a certain office building in Washington.

White, a native of Tyler, Texas, has a close friend, Norman Morrisson, formerly of El Paso, whose law offices are in the Union Trust building. Once, when Morrisson's wife and young daughter, Mary Helen, were taking the elevator to his office, Mary Helen suddenly exclaimed:

"Mother, do you know that Mr. White can't visit daddy in this building?"

"Nonsense," said Mrs. Morrisson. "Why not?"

Pointing to a sign in the elevator, the little girl replied: "Well, it says very plainly there —'No solicitors allowed.'"

DOPE TRAFFIC PROBE

As the special Senate crime investigating committee turns its attention to the illegal traffic in narcotics, more shocking disclosures of spreading underworld tentacles may be expected. But it may be logical to hope that less corruption of government will be turned up than was the case with the probe of gambling and rackets. The narcotics traffic deals more with selected individuals than with the public, and moves in a degree of secrecy more nearly befitting illegality.

The dope traffic touches fewer individuals than illegal gambling, but it is more destructive of its victims. Bad as are the effects of the gambling mania on the individual, the effects of dope are worse. The traffic in illicit narcotics is wholly and unmistakably a traffic in human misery and depravity. What manner of people are they who can stoop to reap the gains of such a traffic? Perhaps we had better be prepared for some shocking answers to that question.

As to law, the committee probe will be entering a new field. The gambling and racketeering it previously investigated were largely matters of state and local regulation, and violations of federal law involved were mostly, as for example income tax evasion, incidental to the basic criminal operations. The dope traffic, on the other hand, is basically a federal matter, and the senators will therefor be getting closer to their own back yards. All in all, there seems to be promise of an interesting and fruitful inquiry.

TV'S RESPONSIBILITY

Must television merely give the public "what it wants," or does it have a definite responsibility for the influence which it exerts? That this is a question which should be given serious thought was pointed out recently in the New York Times.

At the metropolitan public school which is attended by boys who have in one way or another disobeyed the law, an assembly discussion on TV provoked lively comment by the boys. Most of their families are on relief, and yet the majority own television sets. One ten-year-old approached the reporter after this session and said, "Mister, the cops and teachers keep tellin' us that crime doesn't pay and all that. If they're right, how come television puts on so much crime stuff and shows how to do it?"

This question should provoke some soul-searching among program directors, owners and sponsors, and among the members of the public they seek to entertain. The field open to interesting television programs is practically unlimited in its variety. If the industry is going to give the public what it wants, the public should make its choices carefully.

LONG-STANDING QUARREL

The dispute between India and Pakistan over the ownership of Kashmir may have an American arbiter. Frank P. Graham, former United States senator and president of the University of North Carolina, has been chosen by the United Nations Security Council to settle the quarrel.

So far India has refused to arbitrate, while Pakistan has seemed willing to do so. Graham is not strictly an arbiter under UN commission, but a fact-finder with power to recommend. India has been free with advice as to how to settle the Korean dispute. Now we shall see if she is willing to settle quarrels that are closer home.

A HEALTHY CONTRAST

America heartily welcomes Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel to its shores. As head of the newest nation on earth, he is a reminder to us that the urge to self-determination still burns brightly in the hearts of many whose history has been clouded by hardship.

What a healthy contrast is this example to the dismal spectacle of other equally proud peoples in central Europe and elsewhere falling prey to Russian communism. As the free world encourages the birth of new countries like Israel and Libya, it must never abandon as totally lost the freedom-loving folk of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and other victims of the predatory Reds.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

IN DEFENSE OF ACHESON

The President of the United States is entitled to have a secretary of state who is sympathetic to his point of view, who is loyal to him and whose personality is unoffensive to him.

This is not necessarily true in countries which employ the parliamentary system. In such countries, the minister for foreign affairs is elected to the Parliament or Chamber of Deputies or diet or whatever it is called. He is an elected official in his own right and may be as important politically as the prime minister.

In the United States, the secretary of state, as every cabinet officer, is a private citizen appointed to his position by the President, and responsible to him. The President, in his executive power under the Constitution, may act through the appropriate executive department, but it is always the President who bears the responsibility.

The word, cabinet, does not appear in the Constitution, but the President has the right to appoint officials to assist him. He, however, is, with the vice president as a stand-by, the only executive official elected by the people. Because of long and complicated ballots, we often forget that an American can vote for only five federal officials: A president, a vice president, two United States senators and one member of the House of Representatives.

Chief Justice John Marshall made the position perfectly clear in the basic case, Marbury vs. Madison (1803):

"By the Constitution of the United States, the President is invested with certain important political powers, in the exercise of which he is to use his own discretion, and is accountable only to his country in his political character, and to his own conscience. To aid him in the performance of these duties, he is authorized to appoint certain officers, who act by his authority and in conformity with his orders."

Dean Acheson is President Truman's secretary of state. He is in office by the will of the President, confirmed by the Senate in such an office as a matter of course. His tenure is dependent upon the will of the President, who may keep him or dismiss him at his pleasure. Mr. Truman has expressed his satisfaction with Dean Acheson's performance and personality.

Therefore, that is up to the President. If the people give evidence of displeasure with Dean Acheson's conduct in office, they may make their sentiments known to the President, but only he can have a decision in the matter unless because of felonies and misdemeanors the Congress chose to act in an impeachment. No secretary of state has ever been impeached.

It is then the President who must be held responsible for whatever the secretary of state has done. It is the secretary's obligation to suit, satisfy and please the President. It is true that occasionally a powerful personality, like Charles Evans Hughes, is bigger in intellectual stature than his President, but this has not been true in recent years. The past two Presidents have tended to appoint second-line men to cabinet posts.

Mr. Roosevelt had two secretaries of state, Cordell Hull, who was, on the whole, meek in manner and unconcerned with details, and Edward Stettinius. Mr. Roosevelt conducted his policy through second level officials in the State Department. Truman had a number of secretaries of state: Stettinius, James F. Byrnes, George C. Marshall, and Dean Acheson—none of them startling personalities. Of these, Dean Acheson has lasted longest and pleased him most.

It is now being suggested that Mr. Truman will be forced by public opinion any day to dismiss Dean Acheson or elevate him to the Supreme Court bench, which is becoming a catch-all for secondary Democratic politicians. The idea is that public opinion will require him to part with a faithful but unpopular servant. The principal names mentioned as Acheson's successor are Averell Harriman, who has become a political handyman of not too great perspicacity; Chief Justice Fred Vinson, who has had no experience whatsoever in international relations, and John Foster Dulles, who, while a Republican, has done excellent service for Mr. Truman.

Of these, the least suitable would be John Foster Dulles because, having been a Republican senator, he would confuse the issue. The bipartisan foreign policy cannot be restored because it has proved to be a liability to the United States. Mr. Dulles could only give a false impression. That being the case, why make the change?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SCIATICA AND LOW BACK PAIN

As many years ago I had four attacks of sciatica and low back pain, I can sympathize with those who suffer with it. Neurosurgeons tell us that we can get some idea of the pain of sciatica by remembering that the sciatic nerve is the largest nerve in the body, about the size of the little finger. This is a great many times larger than the nerve in a tooth, which can cause such severe pain.

Sciatica is a pain that extends from the middle part of the large muscle on which we sit down; in fact, this large muscle prevents pain when the sciatic nerve would be under any pressure. This nerve passes down the back of the thigh, or upper leg, into the calf and sometimes to ankle and side of the foot.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Clark H. Millikan states that the patient may find it difficult to be comfortable in bed and may turn restlessly trying to find some position that will bring relief. Sitting in a chair or riding in a car may increase discomfort and the patient may sit on one buttock, to relieve pressure on the other buttock. In addition to the pain, there may be numbness and tingling in side of calf and ankle.

Some of the signs outlined by Dr. Millikan are: (a) Rapidly bending the head forward may produce pain in lower back; (b) There is stiffness in lower back and raising leg while keeping knee straight causes pain in the back of the thigh; (c) The calf muscle becomes weak and flabby. It is estimated that pain in lower back, accompanied by sciatica, is caused in 90 per cent of cases by hernia or rupture of an intervertebral disk, the cushion of tissue between the bones of the spine.

In my own attacks, only one was caused by injury, and for this I wore a steel and leather brace for several years. The other three attacks were due to infection, two from teeth and one from tonsils, and the removal of teeth and tonsils caused disappearance of the pain.

Contrary to the opinion of many physicians that operation for removal of the ruptured disk should be performed at once, Dr. Millikan suggests that conservative treatment — rest, supportive brace, and later massage—should be tried; if this fails within a reasonable time, operation should be performed.

What I have personally found in myself and others is that when the patient can adjust himself comfortably in bed and be free or nearly free of pain, injury to lower back has occurred. If pain is present when at rest, infection—teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder—is the cause. It is possible, of course, that infection and injury may both be present.

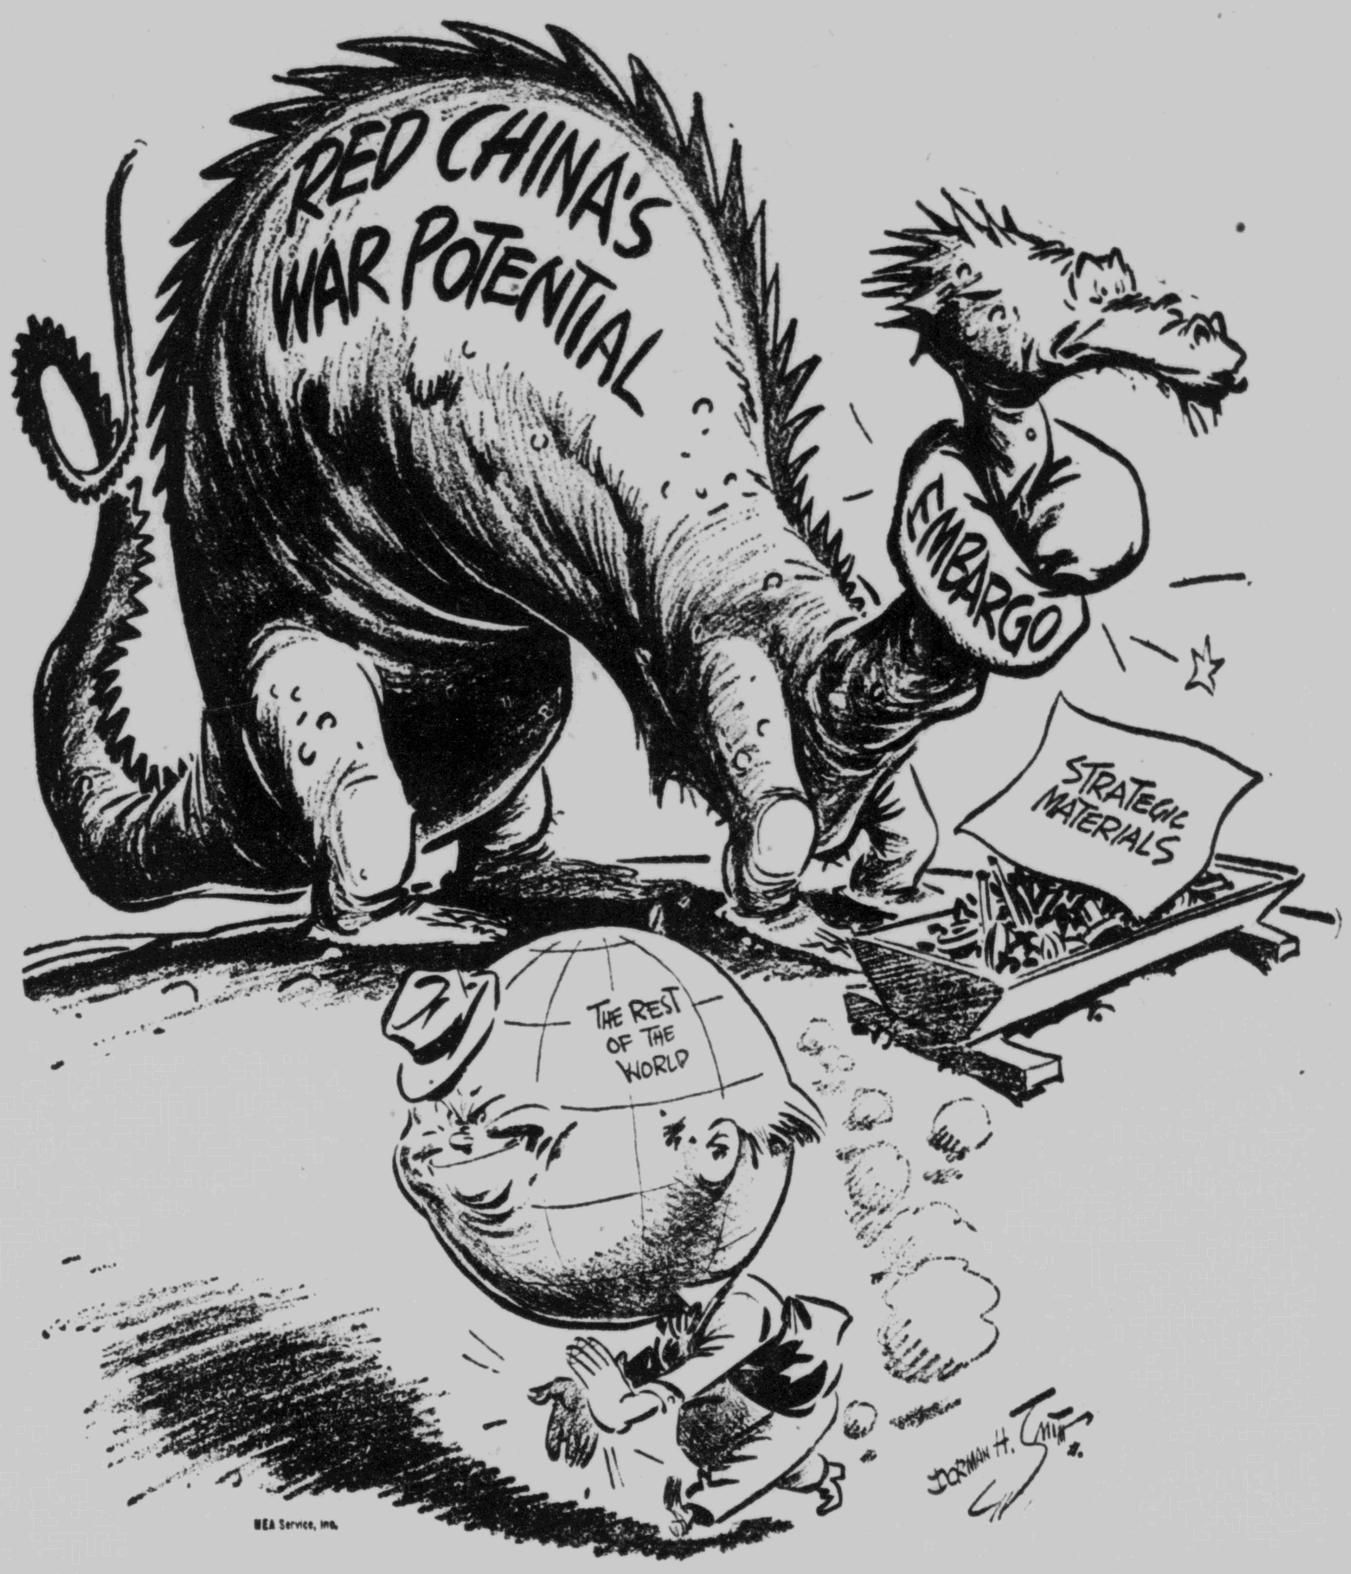
A Good Start—Now for the Follow-Through



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman is being ultra-careful about writing letters these days—so much so that some of his assistants almost get him into worse trouble trying to protect him.

The other day word was noised around the capitol that the President had written a letter to Congressman John McGuire of Connecticut jokingly offering him the "rosary concession at The Vatican" when and if the United States sent a new ambassador to His Holiness the Pope.

There was an immediate furor in capitol lobbies. The President, it was rumored, had put his foot in it again.

Careful checking by this column, however, revealed that though the President had written a letter, it was only a protective letter. Perhaps even more interesting, checking revealed the skittishness of some White House aides regarding any letter signed "Harry S. Truman."

What actually happened was that Congressman McGuire, a Democrat, called at the White House with other members of the House Commerce Committee, and afterward stayed behind to talk to the President about sending an ambassador to The Vatican. Mr. Truman has had this under consideration for some time but has been under vigorous political pressure from Protestants on one side and Catholics on the other.

The President listened carefully to McGuire, then jokingly remarked when he did appoint an ambassador to The Vatican he would give McGuire the rosary concession.

McGuire was amused and repeated the remark to several people, among the journalist Al Steinberg, who was doing a series of magazine articles on the White House. While at the White House preparing his series, Steinberg mentioned the remark to a presidential assistant who both pooh-poohed the story and almost hit the ceiling.

It was after this, and apparently to cover up any misinterpretation that might be given to his remark, that the President was urged to write a letter to Congressman McGuire, which read:

"Dear John: Your suggestion about a representative at The Vatican and a good business in rosaries gave me a good laugh."

Note — President Truman, a Baptist, has been criticized by some Protestants for appointing more Catholics to the cabinet than any other president in history—Attorney General Howard McGrath, Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, and Secretary of Navy Francis Matthews. By appointing a committee on religious and racial tolerance, he worked against intolerance toward all faiths.

New Korean Weapons

The army is preparing to throw some terrifying new weapons into the Korean war—if we finally decide to shoot the works in Korea. Here is what the Chinese Communists may soon be facing:

1. It is up to the President to order the use of atomic weapons in Korea, but the army is now training atomic artillery crews—just in case. These crews are learning to operate two field artillery pieces, capable of firing atomic shells which would wipe out an entire regiment with one shot. One atomic gun is a giant howitzer, the other a long-range artillery piece. Both are so large that they must be towed by locomotives.

2. If the Communist air force joins the Korean war, the army will unleash a spectacular, new anti-aircraft gun that is fired by remote control. In other words, several guns can be planted close to enemy lines, yet operated by remote control without any gun crews anywhere near the guns. The first of these 60-mm., air-cooled, anti-aircraft guns are already being tested in Korea.

3. The army's new, light super-tank is already being put through the paces in Korea. The first two tanks off the production line were rushed overseas immediately and are now being tested under combat conditions. This aggressive little tank is capable of outfighting anything of its kind in the Russian arsenal.

In addition, it is no military secret to report that the government is rushing research on a variety of new weapons, including guided missiles, atomic submarines, supersonic planes, and nerve gas.

Radioactive No-Man's Land

Most revolutionary of these is radiological warfare, or the use of radioactive rays. By contaminating military objectives with radioactive rays, it would be possible to conquer an objective without killing a single person or destroying a single building. The radioactive dose could be made as deadly as desired. In other words, the dose could be made light enough so that it would have to be absorbed by the civilian population for three or four days before causing death. This would give enemy civilians plenty of time to clear out, and the advancing army could move in as soon as the radioactivity wore off.

Radioactive contamination could also be used to halt a ground attack down a narrow neck of land, such as Korea. This could be accomplished by spreading a stronger dose and creating a radioactive no-man's land into which no soldier could advance without certain death.

Processes have already been developed to produce these radioactive rays independent of the atomic bomb. However, the same effect could also be achieved by exploding an atomic bomb underground. This would contaminate the ground, and create a radioactive no-man's land. The effect would be that of an atomic mine which, if exploded in the face of an advancing army, should be able to halt the advance cold.

To test this principle, underground atomic explosions are already scheduled on the barren Aleutian Islands.

Texas Lawyer

It is a rare thing for a Texan to admit of an inferiority complex in any form. However, Mastin G. White, the solicitor of the Interior Department, confesses to a slight uneasiness every time he enters a certain office building in Washington.

White, a native of Tyler, Texas, has a close friend, Norman Morrisson, formerly of El Paso, whose law offices are in the Union Trust building. Once, when Morrisson's wife and young daughter, Mary Helen, were taking the elevator to his office, Mary Helen suddenly exclaimed:

"Mother, do you know that Mr. White can't visit daddy in this building?"

"Nonsense," said Mrs. Morrisson. "Why not?"

Pointing to a sign in the elevator, the little girl replied: "Well, it says very plainly there —'No solicitors allowed.'"

Boy Crushed by Truck

Gouverneur, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Mrs. Merrill Burns saw her seven-year-old son, James, crushed to death yesterday under the wheels of a truck. The boy, who was to have received his first communion tomorrow, had just left a barber shop. His mother was waiting for him on the opposite side of the street.

While crossing the college campus a freshman met one of his instructors and said:

Freshman—What's your guess about the game coming up with Michigan next Sat. You don't think we'll do too bad, do you?

Professor — Don't you mean 'badly'?

Freshman — What's the difference? You know what I mean.

Professor — An 'l-y' can make quite a difference. (He pointed to a passing co-ed). For instance, it makes a difference whether or not you look at her sternly, or at her stern.

A short walk every day is fine for your health—if you don't get run over.

They were showing snapshots.

Sue—There's Aunt Minnie in this one. She's the fattest member in our family.

Joe—Who's that standing behind her?

Sue—No one. That's still Aunt Minnie.

There are too many men who think that early to bed means 2 a. m.

No Help

To bank upon a rabbit's foot
Won't keep us in the money.
For after all is said and done,
It didn't save the bunny!
—Mrs. E. R. Kreger.

Jimmy came to school loaded with bubble gum which he passed out to classmates and a surprised teacher, explaining, "I just became a brother last night."

The true test of all government is its effect on the individual citizens; on individual spiritual, cultural, and material progress.

Robert—Did you ever get my check?

Jerry—Yes, twice. Once from you and once from the bank.

A lot of people who spout so profusely about capital and labor never had any capital and never did any labor.

—Gas Flame Mag.

Bobby—Pa, what is a parking place?

Pa—An unfillable opening in an unending line of automobiles near an unapproachable fireplug.

In the department office of the American Legion in Charleston, W. Va., the adjutant's initials are C. A. T., and an assistant adjutant's initials are R. A. T.
—Joanna Calderwood, Dept. Secy.

Bernard Baruch says—"Two things are bad for the heart—running up stairs and running down people."

A mother was instructing her young son in table manners just before he was to leave for a party at the home of one of his little friends.

Mother—Now, Junior, if you're offered a second piece of cake, be a little gentleman and refuse, just as nicely as your father does.

When the boy returned home after the party, his mother asked

Mother—Did you refuse the second slice of cake, as I told you to?

Junior—Sure, mother, just like father does. I said: "Take that damned stuff out of my eyesight!"

The following sign was left on a Maryland slot machine: "In case of an air raid crawl under this machine. It's never been hit yet."

Cal—If I told you that once when I was in the army I hiked thirty miles on an empty stomach what would you say?

Joe—I'd certainly say that a stomach that long ought to be put in a museum.

To stop smoking is easy; most of us do it a thousand times.

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

While crossing the college campus a freshman met one of his instructors and said:

Freshman—What's your guess about the game coming up with Michigan next Sat. You don't think we'll do too bad, do you?

Professor — Don't you mean 'badly'?

Freshman — What's the difference? You know what I mean.

Professor — An 'l-y' can make quite a difference. (He pointed to a passing co-ed). For instance, it makes a difference whether or not you look at her sternly, or at her stern.

A short walk every day is fine for your health—if you don't get run over.

They were showing snapshots.

Sue—There's Aunt Minnie in this one. She's the fattest member in our family.

Joe—Who's that standing behind her?

Sue—No one. That's still Aunt Minnie.

There are too many men who think that early to bed means 2 a. m.

No Help

To bank upon a rabbit's foot
Won't keep us in the money.
For after all is said and done,
It didn't save the bunny!

—Mrs. E. R. Kreger.

Jimmy came to school loaded with bubble gum which he passed out to classmates and a surprised teacher, explaining, "I just became a brother last night."

The true test of all government is its effect on the individual citizens; on individual spiritual, cultural, and material progress.

Robert—Did you ever get my check?

Jerry—Yes, twice. Once from you and once from the bank.

A lot of people who spout so profusely about capital and labor never had any capital and never did any labor.

—Gas Flame Mag.

Bobby—Pa, what is a parking place?

Pa—An unfillable opening in an unending line of automobiles near an unapproachable fireplug.

In the department office of the American Legion in Charleston, W. Va., the adjutant's initials are C. A. T., and an assistant adjutant's initials are R. A. T.

—Joanna Calderwood, Dept. Secy.

Bernard Baruch says—"Two things are bad for the heart—running up stairs and running down people."

A mother was instructing her young son in table manners just before he was to leave for a party at the home of one of his little friends.

Mother—Now, Junior, if you're offered a second piece of cake, be a little gentleman and refuse, just as nicely as your father does.

When the boy returned home after the party, his mother asked

Mother—Did you refuse the second slice of cake, as I told you to?

Junior—Sure, mother, just like father does. I said: "Take that damned stuff out of my eyesight!"

The following sign was left on a Maryland slot machine: "In case of an air raid crawl under this machine. It's never been hit yet."

Cal—If I told you that once when I was in the army I hiked thirty miles on an empty stomach what would you say?

Joe—I'd certainly say that a stomach that long ought to be put in a museum.

To stop smoking is easy; most of us do it a thousand times.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Grade School Pupils To Present Puppets At Area Hobby Show

All those wonderful, age-old characters that have peopled countless generations of childhood, Robin Hood, Snow White, and Cinderella, will appear next week in the municipal auditorium for visitors at the second annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show, May 24-26 at a booth run by the Wynkoop Puppeteers. The puppeteers themselves are an ingenous group of 28 fourth, fitth and sixth grade pupils from School No. 4, aging from eight to 10.

The fascination of making and maneuvering hand puppets began for the group last November. Their inspiration came from an exhibition by the well-known Herrick Puppeteers at last year's hobby show.

The grade schoolers have done a lot since last November. They've made all their own puppets, dressed them (sometimes with mother's help, to be sure) and assembled three shows, writing their own scripts. Recently they sponsored the Herrick's loveable Rumplestiltskin, selling out two complete shows seating 250 persons each, and taking complete charge of tickets and ushering.

Among the Wynkoop group's wonderful characters to appear next week will be those marionette immortals, Punch and Judy, Red Riding Hood, three clowns, whose aim is to show that a clown's life is really worth while, a hot dog man, Mr. Hooey, the magician, and two truly clever scientists, Nevegini and Svengali.

The Wynkoop Puppeteers, with their advisers, Miss Alberta Davis and Mrs. Helen Terwilliger, also will demonstrate all puppet stages at the show.

Mothers of small children are reminded that a special matinee will be held next Saturday this year from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. so that those unable to attend in the evening will be able to enjoy the show.

Golden Age Meeting Honors Music Week

Dance students who entertained were Sharon Harbot, Michele Brande, Rosalie Haines, Adele Schwark, Judy Robins and Karen Fay. They were accompanied by pianists Gary Lee Schmidt and round singing.

The group also participated in group and round singing.

The opening service was conducted by Mrs. Edward Tidquist. Refreshments were served by the Mmes. Kate Winchell, William DuBois, Arthur DuMond and Mrs. Sarah Powell.

TELEPHONING AFTER A PARTY

A perplexed reader asks: "Why do you disapprove of telephoning after an evening party to thank one's hostess? In many cases I think it is a very nice thing to do and wonder why your objection to it."

The only objection to this kindly impulse is when the hostess is herself a busy person and the telephone calls from each of many guests would be a serious interruption of her work.

Buttering Toast and Biscuits

Dear Mrs. Post: Why is it incorrect to butter whole slices of toast? It is surely better if buttered while hot, and yet you say it's not polite to butter and then break.

Answer: A whole piece of buttered toast is hard to break neatly and without getting on your fingers. Therefore, it is more practical to break the toast while dry.

Surprise Shower for Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: What is your opinion of a surprise shower for a prospective mother? Do you think it is better to give her some idea of the occasion so she won't be surprised too much?

Answer: If the mother-to-be is a very shy type of person and perhaps believes "her secret" is shared by very few, the evidence that everyone knows it might easily embarrass her. Except in this one situation, such a shower would be a very happy surprise.

Card With Gift

Dear Mrs. Post: When a gift card has a matching envelope, is anything written on the envelope, or is it left blank?

Answer: If the package containing the gift is delivered by hand or perhaps placed under a Christmas tree, no envelope is used. If it is sent from a store or delivered by a messenger, the name and address are, of course, written on the envelope.

Patroon Meeting

Accord, May 17—At the regular meeting of Patroon Grange, 1519, this week, there was an interesting program consisting of features on Mother's Day and a talk on the history of Holstein cattle in the U. S.

Stanley Kelder, press representative for the grange, has announced that a full attendance is desired for the next meeting scheduled May 28 when the third and fourth degrees will be conferred, and the lecturer's hour will feature talks on legumes.

At last Monday's meeting, the first and second degrees were conferred on 16 candidates, who enjoyed the Mother's Day program.

Helen Schoonmaker and Cinita Brown read poems on Mother.

John L. Schoonmaker gave the talk on Holstein cattle covering the period from 1887 when they were imported from Holland. He explained methods of fighting diseases that developed in the herds and mentioned how careful breeding had improved the cattle in America, helping to increase the production of milk and butterfat.

At the close of the lecturer's hour the ladies in the hall marched past the service and hospitality station where they were decorated with corsages in honor of Mother's Day.

Franklin Kelder will have charge of the lecturer's program on the 28th and Assistant Agent Padgham of the Farm Bureau will be present to talk on legumes.

Hobby Show Enjoyed

During the literary program at Plattekill Grange this week, there was a hobby show presented by members of Asbury Grange, visitors for the regular meeting.

There was a wide variety of handiwork on display, including collections of cook books, quilts, dresses made from old clothing, pictures, work trays, glassware etchings, marionettes and motion pictures of old Dutch Reformed Churches in the Hudson valley.

Seventy-five grangers and friends enjoyed the show and refreshments served afterwards. Mrs. Rita Edmunds, Plattekill lecturer, was in charge.

The Asbury grangers will visit Huguenot Grange, New Paltz, Tuesday, June 5, with their hobby show, and on Friday, June 1, will present a 15-minute sketch at Mt. Tremper on request of Pomona lecturer, Mrs. Beulah Merwin.

Asbury Grange will confer the first and second degrees on Monday, May 28, which is Memorial Night.

Asbury has fulfilled its requirements in the Goss Memorial New Members Campaign, it has been reported.

Mrs. Vernon June, chairman of the service and hospitality committee, has announced the winners in the dressmaking contest for this season:

First Miss Lorraine Carl; second, Mrs. Wager; third, Mrs. June. Judges were members of Lunenberg Grange, Greene county.

Lake Katrine

At the last meeting of Lake Katrine Grange reports were made on the dinner last month served to the school trustees, which was reported a financial and social success. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Soltys presented the group with an electric sign with the grange's name. It was announced that a Memorial Day service will be held by the chaplain, Mrs. Nettie Parish, and the Rev. Herbert Killinder at the next meeting May 21.

Rosendale Grange

Approximately 175 members of Ulster County granges attended the recent annual banquet and dartball playoff at Kerhonkson and enthusiasm ran so high that already plans are being discussed for formation of another and larger league next year.

Patroon Grange members prepared the turkey dinner served in the fire hall.

In this year's league that started in November, Highland Ladies and Ulster Park Men won first place at the end of the series in February. As the second half wound up on May 2 the first place clubs were Mt. Tremper Ladies and Rosendale Men.

The playoffs were won by Mt. Tremper Ladies and Rosendale Men.

The dartball project has been in operation for some years and is credited with creating good sportsmanship and friendliness in the granges.

Granges participating in this year's league were Highland, Lake Katrine, Ulster, Rosendale, Patroon, Mt. Tremper and Huguenot.

Members of Rosendale Grange attending the playoffs and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Claus, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mahler, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hotaling, Mr. and Mrs Floyd Deitz, Mrs. Henry Mollenhauer, Mrs. Fred Roeltgen, Mrs. Frank Simpson, Mrs. W. E. Klepies, Mrs. O. Hilker, Mrs. E. Malia, Mrs. R. Mercurio, Mrs. Russell Tenure, Otto Mollenhauer, Doris Claus, Alfred Carlsbach, Robert Mertine, and Gwendolyn LoBello.

Graduation exercises at New Paltz Central School will be held Monday, June 25 at 8 p. m. at the school, it was announced today. Commencement speaker this year will be John C. Metcalfe, journalist, diplomat and correspondent, whose address will be "World Affairs Are Your Affairs."

Meanwhile the school's senior class has announced that Louise Mertz and Joanne DuBois have achieved the highest averages during their four year course, and will therefore have the honor of delivering the valedictory and salutatory addresses. The Rev. John P. Mahoney will give the invocation and benediction.

Preceding the graduation exercises Sunday, June 24 at 8 p. m., will be a baccalaureate service for the graduation class to be held at the school. The Rev. J. Marshall Wilson of the New Paltz Episcopal Church will give the sermon, assisted by the Rev. Ralph Porter, Jr. of the New Paltz Methodist Church.

Both the valedictorian and the salutatorian, school authorities have announced, have been outstanding in the school's music activities. Both are also members of the National Honor Society whose presidency Miss DuBois held. In addition Miss Mertz was literary editor of the Huguenot, the school's yearbook, this year. Miss DuBois has participated in the Hudson Valley Music Competition, where she won first rating at the panio, and has served as both treasurer and president of the Thespian Sorority. She served on both the Huguenot and the school paper, the Nepa-Hi-Lites.

Northampton, Mass., May 19—Miss Louise B. Schoonmaker, daughter of John D. Schoonmaker, 159 Albany avenue, and Mrs. Hollis Scofield, Ladleton and Sarasota, Fla., will be among the candidates for the bachelor of arts degree at Smith College in June it was announced today.

Commencement exercises will be held in the Quadrangle June 11 with John H. Finley, Jr., Eliot Professor of Greek literature at Harvard University as commencement speaker. Graduation will climax a week-end of activities including a baccalaureate service June 10, and the traditional Ivy Day ceremonies June 9.

Miss Schoonmaker majored in French while at Smith.

Letters Important

Albany, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Governor Dewey suggests that Americans corresponding with relatives and friends abroad fight Communist propaganda by telling them "the true facts about our country." The governor called yesterday for public support of "letters to correct misconceptions and to create better international understanding."

America's first successful aircraft carrier, the USS Langley, was commissioned in 1922, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The Kingston High School Choir presented its concert to a near-capacity opening night audience whose approval was shown Friday night by applause which demanded two encores.

The 99-voice choir under the direction of Leonard Stine repeats its program tonight at 8:15 at the Kingston High School auditorium.

The concert featured in the first part sacred music by an impressive list of composers including Bach, Haydn and Brahms. The second part consisted of the lighter and more popular numbers.

Donna Hyatt, contralto soloist, received much applause for her rendition with the choir of Summer Evening—Finnish Folk Song, (Palmgren-Baldwin).

Another outstanding performance was that of Romany Life, from "The Fortune Teller" by Victor Herbert, in which the soprano solo was sung by Sylvia Kern.

A narrative interpretation in the vein, Ballad for Americans, by Robinson, was the climax of the scheduled program. Chase Page was baritone soloist.

First encore was Dry Bones, a piece that the choir obviously enjoyed singing. Final encore was the Fred Waring arrangement of The Battle Hymn of the Republic, with incidental baritone solo parts by Joseph Berryann and Robert Engle.

Competent Performance

The entire program was accomplished by the choir from memory without the use of sheet music. Choir members attacked each number with an assurance born of competence and long practice.

The final number in the first part of the program was the impressive Gloria in Excelsis from Messe Solennelle, "St. Cecelia," by Gounod. In this number, solo parts were taken by Arlene Craw, Barbara Ewig, Michael Dugan, Joseph Hafner, Joseph Berryann and Robert Engle. Ramona Leonard, senior accompanist, did the piano accompaniment, with Cameron Rylance at the organ.

As a change from the choir concerts of recent years, soloists sang their solo parts along with choir accompaniment, instead of singing complete solos. The same program and soloists will be heard tonight, another change from precedent.

Promptness and exact timing characterized last night's performance. The concert began at the scheduled time of 8:15. A 10-minute intermission began at 8:55 and ended at 9:05, and the last encore was completed by 10 p. m.

Grade School Pupils To Present Puppets At Area Hobby Show

All those wonderful, age-old characters that have peopled countless generations of childhood, Robin Hood, Snow White, and Cinderella, will appear next week in the municipal auditorium for visitors at the second annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show, May 24-26 at a booth run by the Wynkoop Puppeteers. The puppeteers themselves are an ingenous group of 28 fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils from School No. 4, aging from eight to 10.

The fascination of making and maneuvering hand puppets began for the group last November. Their inspiration came from an exhibition by the well-known Herrick Puppeteers at last year's hobby show.

The grade schoolers have done a lot since last November. They've made all their own puppets, dressed them (sometimes with mother's help, to be sure) and assembled three shows, writing their own scripts. 99-Voice High School Choir Concert Proves Popular; to Repeat Program This Evening

The Kingston High School Choir presented its concert to a near-capacity opening night audience whose approval was shown Friday night by applause which demanded two encores.

The 99-voice choir under the direction of Leonard Stine repeats its program tonight at 8:15 at the Kingston High School auditorium.

The concert featured in the first part sacred music by an impressive list of composers including Bach, Haydn and Brahms. The second part consisted of the lighter and more popular numbers.

Donna Hyatt, contralto soloist, received much applause for her rendition with the choir of Summer Evening—Finnish Folk Song, (Palmgren-Baldwin).

Another outstanding performance was that of Romany Life, from "The Fortune Teller" by Victor Herbert, in which the soprano solo was sung by Sylvia Kern.

A narrative interpretation in the vein, Ballad for Americans, by Robinson, was the climax of the scheduled program. Chase Page was baritone soloist.

First encore was Dry Bones, a piece that the choir obviously enjoyed singing. Final encore was the Fred Waring arrangement of The Battle Hymn of the Republic, with incidental baritone solo parts by Joseph Berryann and Robert Engle.

Competent Performance

The entire program was accomplished by the choir from memory without the use of sheet music. Choir members attacked each number with an assurance born of competence and long practice.

The final number in the first part of the program was the impressive Gloria in Excelsis from Messe Solennelle, "St. Cecelia," by Gounod. In this number, solo parts were taken by Arlene Craw, Barbara Ewig, Michael Dugan, Joseph Hafner, Joseph Berryann and Robert Engle. Ramona Leonard, senior accompanist, did the piano accompaniment, with Cameron Rylance at the organ.

As a change from the choir concerts of recent years, soloists sang their solo parts along with choir accompaniment, instead of singing complete solos. The same program and soloists will be heard tonight, another change from precedent.

Promptness and exact timing characterized last night's performance. The concert began at the scheduled time of 8:15. A 10-minute intermission began at 8:55 and ended at 9:05, and the last encore was completed by 10 p. m.

Grade School Pupils To Present Puppets At Area Hobby Show

All those wonderful, age-old characters that have peopled countless generations of childhood, Robin Hood, Snow White, and Cinderella, will appear next week in the municipal auditorium for visitors at the second annual Hudson Valley Hobby Show, May 24-26 at a booth run by the Wynkoop Puppeteers. The puppeteers themselves are an ingenous group of 28 fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils from School No. 4, aging from eight to 10.

The fascination of making and maneuvering hand puppets began for the group last November. Their inspiration came from an exhibition by the well-known Herrick Puppeteers at last year's hobby show.

The grade schoolers have done a lot since last November. They've made all their own puppets, dressed them (sometimes with mother's help, to be sure) and assembled three shows, writing their own scripts. Recently they sponsored the Herrick's loveable Rumplestiltskin, selling out two complete shows seating 250 persons each, and taking complete charge of tickets and ushering.

Among the Wynkoop group's wonderful characters to appear next week will be those marionette immortals, Punch and Judy, Red Riding Hood, three clowns, whose aim is to show that a clown's life is really worth while, a hot dog man, Mr. Hooey, the magician, and two truly clever scientists, Nevegini and Svengali.

The Wynkoop Puppeteers, with their advisers, Miss Alberta Davis and Mrs. Helen Terwilliger, also will demonstrate all puppet stages at the show.

Mothers of small children are reminded that a special matinee will be held next Saturday this year from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. so that those unable to attend in the evening will be able to enjoy the show.

TELEPHONING AFTER A PARTY

A perplexed reader asks: "Why do you disapprove of telephoning after an evening party to thank one's hostess? In many cases I think it is a very nice thing to do and wonder why your objection to it."

The only objection to this kindly impulse is when the hostess is herself a busy person and the telephone calls from each of many guests would be a serious interruption of her work.

Buttering Toast and Biscuits

Dear Mrs. Post: Why is it incorrect to butter whole slices of toast? It is surely better if buttered while hot, and yet you say it's not polite to butter and then break.

Answer: A whole piece of buttered toast is hard to break neatly and without getting on your fingers. Therefore, it is more practical to break the toast while dry.

Surprise Shower for Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: What is your opinion of a surprise shower for a prospective mother? Do you think it is better to give her some idea of the occasion so she won't be surprised too much?

Answer: If the mother-to-be is a very shy type of person and perhaps believes "her secret" is shared by very few, the evidence that everyone knows it might easily embarrass her. Except in this one situation, such a shower would be a very happy surprise.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a gift card has a matching envelope, is anything written on the envelope, or is it left blank?

The final number in the first part of the program was the impressive Gloria in Excelsis from Messe Solennelle, "St. Cecelia," by Gounod. In this number, solo parts were taken by Arlene Craw, Barbara Ewig, Michael Dugan, Joseph Hafner, Joseph Berryann and Robert Engle. Ramona Leonard, senior accompanist, did the piano accompaniment, with Cameron Rylance at the organ.

As a change from the choir concerts of recent years, soloists sang their solo parts along with choir accompaniment, instead of singing complete solos. The same program and soloists will be heard tonight, another change from precedent.

Promptness and exact timing characterized last night's performance. The concert began at the scheduled time of 8:15. A 10-minute intermission began at 8:55 and ended at 9:05, and the last encore was completed by 10 p. m.

'General' Coxey

others would join his crusade along the way, but at no time did the marchers number more than 500, and desertions were frequent.

When the tattered, unshaven caravan of men reached Washington, police were afraid of violence and wouldn't let Coxey speak. He was arrested for trespassing on the capitol lawn, and police raided his followers' camp and dispersed them. He was jailed for 20 days and fined $5.

Spoke 20 Years Later

Twenty years later a Congressional committee listened to his views and he was allowed to speak from the capitol steps.

Coxey later was nominated for president twice by the Farmer-Labor party. He tried unsuccessfully for governor, senator and U. S. representative. The only election he ever won was mayor of Massillon in 1931.

He intended to issue $200,000 in bonds to provide pay for workers on street projects and loans for unemployed. But the project collapsed and Coxey was not reelected.

Not Real General

"General" Coxey was, of course, not a general at all, but got the title because he led the "army" of unemployed.

Coxey's favorite idea on money, right up to the time he died, was to have the government print a certain amount of money and deposit it in the treasury.

Then the government would print non-interest bonds, which, backed by the newly printed cash, would be used to pay government expenses.

The problem would be to persuade creditors to accept these bonds as payment.

Connecticut Cracks Down on Gamblers

Bethany, Conn., May 19 (AP)—A state police dragnet raked through the Naugatuck Valley yesterday in what Commissioner Edward J. Hickey described as "an effort to stamp out the root of organized crime in Connecticut."

Raiding squads of state troopers, using the barracks here as a base, struck simultaneously at suspected gambling establishments in four valley centers of population—Naugatuck, Ansonia, Shelton and Derby—and also in New Haven and West Haven.

More than 40 persons were caught in the net, among them some charged with major offenses as well as a number of "small fry." Gambling paraphernalia, including a dice table and a couple of slot machines, was confiscated, along with betting slips and punch boards.

Among those held on comparatively minor charges was Salvatore Impellitteri, 37, of Ansonia, a nephew of New York city's Mayor Vincent Impellitteri. Arrested in a restaurant operated by his father in an Ansonia building where the police broke up a poolroom poker game, Impellitteri was charged with the possession of a lottery slip. He was released in $50 bond.

Two law enforcement officers were among the 16 persons arrested in Ansonia. They were Stephen Smerznak, 42, a supernumerary policeman, and City Sheriff Benjamin F. Bernstein, 53, both charged with frequenting a gaming place. State police said they were onlookers at the poker game in the poolroom.

In Ansonia, as in all the other municipalities with the exception of New Haven, local police knew nothing about the raids until after they had been made. New Haven police assisted in the two arrests made in that city.

Planes Hit Many

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes inflicted almost 550 casualties on the Reds Saturday despite low hanging clouds over the front.

The air force reported it killed or wounded 7,900 Reds in the week ended Friday—largest toll for any one week since the outbreak of the war.

About 5,750 of the casualties were inflicted Thursday as the Reds pressed their second spring offensive.

The new drive had cost the Reds roughly 20,000 casualties.

Allied forces still were holding off Reds massing more than 10 miles north of Seoul. But the stepped-up pressure near Changgong by spearheads of a 768,000-man offensive force caused general allied withdrawals along 125 miles of front Friday.

The allied pullback, yielding the last holdings north of the 38th Parallel, exceeded 20 miles at some points since the Reds first struck Wednesday night.

Trapped, Shelled

But the Communists were dying by the tens of thousands—on barbed wire entanglements; under a rain of shells from artillery firing until barrels swelled from the heat; in a hail of bombs from hundreds of planes; under bombardment of the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey and other warships off the east coast.

For a 36-hour period, ended Friday, Maj. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner's Second Division duplicated the heroic stands it made at Kunu last November and at Chipyong in February.

Supported by French and Dutch units, the Second fought off entrapment Friday near Hangye, 55 miles northeast of Seoul. Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps, today hailed the Second's latest stand as "magnificient."

Today from new dug-in positions a unit of the Second Division threw back three Red assault waves, each exceeding 1,000 men.

A field dispatch from U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters said, however, the Red breakthrough on the division's right flank was not contained. Reds were pouring through that hole.

The greatest Red pressure was being exerted 20 miles east of Chunchon. That highway hub is 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

First reports on the new Red drive across the Pukhan and Changgong indicated it lacked the initial strength of the one near Hangye. But it was being made in the vital Pukhan valley sector where a flanking drive on Seoul long has been expected.

Assessing this new threat, AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters that "the pressure there was forcing allied troops to withdraw along the 125-mile front."

Truman Sounds

Russell after being defeated 18 to 8 in the committee Thursday in an attempt to force Gen. Omar N. Bradley to relate what was said at a conference he and other top advisers had with Mr. Truman April 6, five days before MacArthur was fired.

Six Republicans joined 12 Democrats in upholding Russell's ruling that Bradley did not have to tell what went on. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had declined to answer on the ground that to do so would destroy his value as a confidential adviser to the President.

May Talk Monday

Bradley volunteered, however, to testify about the conclusions reached at the conference which led to ouster of MacArthur. He may do that when he returns to the witness stand Monday. He already has told the committee he backed the President's action.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), who voted with Wiley on the Bradley issue, said regarding his colleague's "whitewash" charge that "it is essential that the committee be able to get at all the facts." Brewster added that time will tell whether the decision in the Bradley case will hamper the inquiry.

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) noted he had predicted that some Republicans would cry "whitewash." He voted with Wiley but said at the time he was doing so only because he felt the issue should be pushed to a court test in an effort to leave no basis for a "whitewash" charge.

"Now that the cry has come," Fulbright said, "it amounts to the sorriest kind of sportsmanship."

For the first time since the joint hearing started, there was no Saturday session. The committee recessed Thursday until Monday, to give time for a House-Senate committee conference on pending draft legislation. Bradley, meantime, was filling several west coast speaking engagements.

'General' Coxey

others would join his crusade along the way, but at no time did the marchers number more than 500, and desertions were frequent.

When the tattered, unshaven caravan of men reached Washington, police were afraid of violence and wouldn't let Coxey speak. He was arrested for trespassing on the capitol lawn, and police raided his followers' camp and dispersed them. He was jailed for 20 days and fined $5.

Spoke 20 Years Later

Twenty years later a Congressional committee listened to his views and he was allowed to speak from the capitol steps.

Coxey later was nominated for president twice by the Farmer-Labor party. He tried unsuccessfully for governor, senator and U. S. representative. The only election he ever won was mayor of Massillon in 1931.

He intended to issue $200,000 in bonds to provide pay for workers on street projects and loans for unemployed. But the project collapsed and Coxey was not reelected.

Not Real General

"General" Coxey was, of course, not a general at all, but got the title because he led the "army" of unemployed.

Coxey's favorite idea on money, right up to the time he died, was to have the government print a certain amount of money and deposit it in the treasury.

Then the government would print non-interest bonds, which, backed by the newly printed cash, would be used to pay government expenses.

Connecticut Cracks Down on Gamblers

Bethany, Conn., May 19 (AP)—A state police dragnet raked through the Naugatuck Valley yesterday in what Commissioner Edward J. Hickey described as "an effort to stamp out the root of organized crime in Connecticut."

Raiding squads of state troopers, using the barracks here as a base, struck simultaneously at suspected gambling establishments in four valley centers of population—Naugatuck, Ansonia, Shelton and Derby—and also in New Haven and West Haven.

More than 40 persons were caught in the net, among them some charged with major offenses as well as a number of "small fry." Gambling paraphernalia, including a dice table and a couple of slot machines, was confiscated, along with betting slips and punch boards.

Among those held on comparatively minor charges was Salvatore Impellitteri, 37, of Ansonia, a nephew of New York city's Mayor Vincent Impellitteri. Arrested in a restaurant operated by his father in an Ansonia building where the police broke up a poolroom poker game, Impellitteri was charged with the possession of a lottery slip. He was released in $50 bond.

Two law enforcement officers were among the 16 persons arrested in Ansonia. They were Stephen Smerznak, 42, a supernumerary policeman, and City Sheriff Benjamin F. Bernstein, 53, both charged with frequenting a gaming place. State police said they were onlookers at the poker game in the poolroom.

In Ansonia, as in all the other municipalities with the exception of New Haven, local police knew nothing about the raids until after they had been made. New Haven police assisted in the two arrests made in that city.

Second Division

in the Changgong area and made a slight advance.

Planes Hit Many

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes inflicted almost 550 casualties on the Reds Saturday despite low hanging clouds over the front.

The air force reported it killed or wounded 7,900 Reds in the week ended Friday—largest toll for any one week since the outbreak of the war.

About 5,750 of the casualties were inflicted Thursday as the Reds pressed their second spring offensive.

The new drive had cost the Reds roughly 20,000 casualties.

Allied forces still were holding off Reds massing more than 10 miles north of Seoul. But the stepped-up pressure near Changgong by spearheads of a 768,000-man offensive force caused general allied withdrawals along 125 miles of front Friday.

The allied pullback, yielding the last holdings north of the 38th Parallel, exceeded 20 miles at some points since the Reds first struck Wednesday night.

Trapped, Shelled

But the Communists were dying by the tens of thousands—on barbed wire entanglements; under a rain of shells from artillery firing until barrels swelled from the heat; in a hail of bombs from hundreds of planes; under bombardment of the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey and other warships off the east coast.

For a 36-hour period, ended Friday, Maj. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner's Second Division duplicated the heroic stands it made at Kunu last November and at Chipyong in February.

Supported by French and Dutch units, the Second fought off entrapment Friday near Hangye, 55 miles northeast of Seoul. Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps, today hailed the Second's latest stand as "magnificient."

Today from new dug-in positions a unit of the Second Division threw back three Red assault waves, each exceeding 1,000 men.

A field dispatch from U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters said, however, the Red breakthrough on the division's right flank was not contained. Reds were pouring through that hole.

The greatest Red pressure was being exerted 20 miles east of Chunchon. That highway hub is 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

First reports on the new Red drive across the Pukhan and Changgong indicated it lacked the initial strength of the one near Hangye. But it was being made in the vital Pukhan valley sector where a flanking drive on Seoul long has been expected.

Assessing this new threat, AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters that "the pressure there was forcing allied troops to withdraw along the 125-mile front."

Truman Sounds

Russell after being defeated 18 to 8 in the committee Thursday in an attempt to force Gen. Omar N. Bradley to relate what was said at a conference he and other top advisers had with Mr. Truman April 6, five days before MacArthur was fired.

Six Republicans joined 12 Democrats in upholding Russell's ruling that Bradley did not have to tell what went on. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had declined to answer on the ground that to do so would destroy his value as a confidential adviser to the President.

May Talk Monday

Bradley volunteered, however, to testify about the conclusions reached at the conference which led to ouster of MacArthur. He may do that when he returns to the witness stand Monday. He already has told the committee he backed the President's action.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), who voted with Wiley on the Bradley issue, said regarding his colleague's "whitewash" charge that "it is essential that the committee be able to get at all the facts." Brewster added that time will tell whether the decision in the Bradley case will hamper the inquiry.

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) noted he had predicted that some Republicans would cry "whitewash." He voted with Wiley but said at the time he was doing so only because he felt the issue should be pushed to a court test in an effort to leave no basis for a "whitewash" charge.

"Now that the cry has come," Fulbright said, "it amounts to the sorriest kind of sportsmanship."

For the first time since the joint hearing started, there was no Saturday session. The committee recessed Thursday until Monday, to give time for a House-Senate committee conference on pending draft legislation. Bradley, meantime, was filling several west coast speaking engagements.

'General' Coxey

others would join his crusade along the way, but at no time did the marchers number more than 500, and desertions were frequent.

When the tattered, unshaven caravan of men reached Washington, police were afraid of violence and wouldn't let Coxey speak. He was arrested for trespassing on the capitol lawn, and police raided his followers' camp and dispersed them. He was jailed for 20 days and fined $5.

Spoke 20 Years Later

Twenty years later a Congressional committee listened to his views and he was allowed to speak from the capitol steps.

Coxey later was nominated for president twice by the Farmer-Labor party. He tried unsuccessfully for governor, senator and U. S. representative. The only election he ever won was mayor of Massillon in 1931.

He intended to issue $200,000 in bonds to provide pay for workers on street projects and loans for unemployed. But the project collapsed and Coxey was not reelected.

Not Real General

"General" Coxey was, of course, not a general at all, but got the title because he led the "army" of unemployed.

Coxey's favorite idea on money, right up to the time he died, was to have the government print a certain amount of money and deposit it in the treasury.

Then the government would print non-interest bonds, which, backed by the newly printed cash, would be used to pay government expenses.

Connecticut Cracks Down on Gamblers

Bethany, Conn., May 19 (AP)—A state police dragnet raked through the Naugatuck Valley yesterday in what Commissioner Edward J. Hickey described as "an effort to stamp out the root of organized crime in Connecticut."

Raiding squads of state troopers, using the barracks here as a base, struck simultaneously at suspected gambling establishments in four valley centers of population—Naugatuck, Ansonia, Shelton and Derby—and also in New Haven and West Haven.

More than 40 persons were caught in the net, among them some charged with major offenses as well as a number of "small fry." Gambling paraphernalia, including a dice table and a couple of slot machines, was confiscated, along with betting slips and punch boards.

Among those held on comparatively minor charges was Salvatore Impellitteri, 37, of Ansonia, a nephew of New York city's Mayor Vincent Impellitteri. Arrested in a restaurant operated by his father in an Ansonia building where the police broke up a poolroom poker game, Impellitteri was charged with the possession of a lottery slip. He was released in $50 bond.

Two law enforcement officers were among the 16 persons arrested in Ansonia. They were Stephen Smerznak, 42, a supernumerary policeman, and City Sheriff Benjamin F. Bernstein, 53, both charged with frequenting a gaming place. State police said they were onlookers at the poker game in the poolroom.

In Ansonia, as in all the other municipalities with the exception of New Haven, local police knew nothing about the raids until after they had been made. New Haven police assisted in the two arrests made in that city.

Second Division

in the Changgong area and made a slight advance.

Planes Hit Many

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes inflicted almost 550 casualties on the Reds Saturday despite low hanging clouds over the front.

The air force reported it killed or wounded 7,900 Reds in the week ended Friday—largest toll for any one week since the outbreak of the war.

About 5,750 of the casualties were inflicted Thursday as the Reds pressed their second spring offensive.

The new drive had cost the Reds roughly 20,000 casualties.

Allied forces still were holding off Reds massing more than 10 miles north of Seoul. But the stepped-up pressure near Changgong by spearheads of a 768,000-man offensive force caused general allied withdrawals along 125 miles of front Friday.

The allied pullback, yielding the last holdings north of the 38th Parallel, exceeded 20 miles at some points since the Reds first struck Wednesday night.

Trapped, Shelled

But the Communists were dying by the tens of thousands—on barbed wire entanglements; under a rain of shells from artillery firing until barrels swelled from the heat; in a hail of bombs from hundreds of planes; under bombardment of the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey and other warships off the east coast.

For a 36-hour period, ended Friday, Maj. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner's Second Division duplicated the heroic stands it made at Kunu last November and at Chipyong in February.

Supported by French and Dutch units, the Second fought off entrapment Friday near Hangye, 55 miles northeast of Seoul. Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps, today hailed the Second's latest stand as "magnificient."

Today from new dug-in positions a unit of the Second Division threw back three Red assault waves, each exceeding 1,000 men.

A field dispatch from U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters said, however, the Red breakthrough on the division's right flank was not contained. Reds were pouring through that hole.

The greatest Red pressure was being exerted 20 miles east of Chunchon. That highway hub is 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

First reports on the new Red drive across the Pukhan and Changgong indicated it lacked the initial strength of the one near Hangye. But it was being made in the vital Pukhan valley sector where a flanking drive on Seoul long has been expected.

Assessing this new threat, AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters that "the pressure there was forcing allied troops to withdraw along the 125-mile front."

Truman Sounds

Russell after being defeated 18 to 8 in the committee Thursday in an attempt to force Gen. Omar N. Bradley to relate what was said at a conference he and other top advisers had with Mr. Truman April 6, five days before MacArthur was fired.

Six Republicans joined 12 Democrats in upholding Russell's ruling that Bradley did not have to tell what went on. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had declined to answer on the ground that to do so would destroy his value as a confidential adviser to the President.

May Talk Monday

Bradley volunteered, however, to testify about the conclusions reached at the conference which led to ouster of MacArthur. He may do that when he returns to the witness stand Monday. He already has told the committee he backed the President's action.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.), who voted with Wiley on the Bradley issue, said regarding his colleague's "whitewash" charge that "it is essential that the committee be able to get at all the facts." Brewster added that time will tell whether the decision in the Bradley case will hamper the inquiry.

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) noted he had predicted that some Republicans would cry "whitewash." He voted with Wiley but said at the time he was doing so only because he felt the issue should be pushed to a court test in an effort to leave no basis for a "whitewash" charge.

"Now that the cry has come," Fulbright said, "it amounts to the sorriest kind of sportsmanship."

For the first time since the joint hearing started, there was no Saturday session. The committee recessed Thursday until Monday, to give time for a House-Senate committee conference on pending draft legislation. Bradley, meantime, was filling several west coast speaking engagements.

Not overlooking the Giants' 11-game losing streak, the current dilemma of our Colonials sent us chasing into Al Munro Elias' Little Red Book to check some of the historic reverses of the past.

Already in the 1951 minor league season, Lefty O'Doul's San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League, lost their first 16 games of the season. O'Doul, a national baseball hero in Japan, was a slightly tarnished bum to Frisco fans by that time, but his tossers rallied to win 16 out of their next 30.

The all-time losing streak for organized baseball is the 26-straight suffered by the Louisville club of the American Association in 1889. Cleveland dropped 24 in a row in the National League in 1899. The Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics each suffered through 20 straight losses in 1906 and 1916 respectively.

Jack Hartman, one-time City Baseball League secretary, asks, and rightfully: What would the late Had Bassett, Ted Freligh and a few other old time City League sluggers have done with that K-10 ball and the 300-foot fences of today???

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

Phyl Gehringer and Rita La Rocca achieved that dream of all doubles partners in bowling. In the state doubles they totalled 880, each hitting 440. That makes nobody mad at nobody. Dutchess Rec plugging 25-cent matinee bowling. The new tax bite on bowling alley beds will be reflected in higher bowling rates next fall. Peggy Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, one of the nation's top women golfers, will appear in a special clinic and exhibition on May 24 at the Dutchess Country Club, south of Poughkeepsie. . . . Harvey "Chic" Miller and son, Cliff, launch their professional outboard career Sunday in the Utica Outboard Regatta on Canadargo Lake, near Richfield Springs, N. Y. Five Saugerties drivers, including Bill Jackson Harvie, Jimmie and Harry Myers. The Utica race is a one-mile event. The Simple Life: Quotation from mountain weekly: "Hancock chap went fishing, got drunk, met rattler and said, 'Strike ye varmint, I was never in better condition.'"

● That Delightful Dizzy:

Ol' Dizzy Dean, the Arkansas Hillbilly who never got beyond the second grade but nevertheless manages to make a buck or two, is a delightful change from the stereotyped baseball broadcaster, the Society for the Purification and Edification of the American Language notwithstanding.

Said Diz a few days ago during a Yankee broadcast:

"Old Cal (Hubbard) didn't bend low enough to ketch that one. But he's a sure, doggoned good umpire. . . . There's that big Chapman swinging a brand new bat up there . . . costs at least $3. When I was a kid down in Arkansas we could buy a whole cord of wood for that price. (A discussion about wildness of high school pitchers ensued). I never had to worry about that, I was in the second grade till I was 15. Had a chance to pitch against Oklahoma-College once but they barred me. Said I had never pitched high school ball."

Have you noticed how solicitous major league network baseball broadcasters are about minor league schedules these days? They even give telephone numbers where tickets can be ordered. It's a commendable gesture but, if network broadcasts and television coverage expand at their present pace, the minors from Class B down will be virtually non-existent in a few years.

Ford Frick Answers a Few Questions But What About That Inside 'Job'?

New York, May 18 (AP)—Why do plate umpires in the National League wear their chest protectors inside their jackets?

The answer, says league president Ford Frick, is as simple as that to the old wheeze about why firemen wear red suspenders. It's because they prefer to.

You mean there's no rule?

"Absolutely not," Frick declared. "Where that myth originated I don't know."

How does it happen then that all American League arbiters wear their mattresses on the outside, where everybody can see them, while the National Leaguers keep theirs concealed like a guilty secret?

"It's because my men work differently," Ford explained. "They bend down to where their chins are right over the catcher's shoulder. When they get down like that those big protectors used in the American League would rise up and choke them to death.

"The American League umpires stand up straighter, so the big ones are all right for them but Bill Klem, our head umpire, discovered that a little protector suited him better, and he passed the word around. The others found that they liked it better, too."

There was never any pressure?

Conlan's New "Job"

"Of course not. What do I care what my umpires wear as long as they do a good job? As a matter of fact, one of my men, Jocko Conlan, has been wearing his protector on the outside since the start of the season.

"It's a special job he invented for himself. It's cut off short at about the belt line, so that when he bends down it doesn't rise up and choke him. Any of my men are free to use the same protector if Jocko wants to go into the manufacturing business."

Is it true, as has been charged by some minor league umpires, that National League scouts will not sign a promising prospect if he uses an outside protector, and that the American Leaguers are disdainful of rising young arbiters who employ an inside job?

"As far as my league is concerned, that's plain silly. At least half our umpires were wearing outside protectors when we spotted them in the minors.

"When my umpires find a good prospect, we sign him. I don't care if he's wearing slacks. Good umpires are too scarce to worry about what they wear.

"But there might be a little truth in what they say about the American League. I think maybe they lost a fine young umpire to us because he wore an inside protector in the minors."

Thank you, Mr. Frick, and what do you think of this race your boys are putting on? Only three games separating the lot of them.

"Isn't it a beauty," he said fondly.

Suspend Drivers At Yonkers Track

Yonkers, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Two harness race drivers at Yonkers Raceway, Lawrence Powers and Clifford Burgett, were suspended for 30 days last night by the New York State Harness Racing Commission for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of the sport." The suspensions cover the period from May 11 to June 9, inclusive.

Two other drivers, William Haughton and Albert Simon who had been called before the commission during a week-long investigation, were "fully reinstated."

The commission in its report, said its "investigation arose out of a statement made by Burgett concerning Powers and other drivers at Yonkers Raceway, one allegation of which had some corroboration. There was no corroboration as to allegations made concerning drivers Haughton and Simon."

The commission did not amplify its statement. There was no comment from Powers, of Clinton, N. Y. and Burgett, Westbury, N. Y.

In its investigation the commission said it had the assistance of the New York Attorney General's office and the District Attorney's office of West Chester county "both of which have stated that nothing developed in the course of the inquiry that showed any violations of the panel law which warrants further action."

Cuban Outclasses Bratton in Garden

New York, May 19 (AP)—They whooped it up for Kid Gavilan in Havana and New York today. The sleek Cuban had a rougher time with his jubilant countrymen than he had with Johnny Bratton in Madison Square Garden last night.

The flashy hawk of Cuba won the world's welterweight championship (not counting Britain and parts of Europe) by outclassing Chicago Johnny from here to Havana in their 15-round title scrap. The decision was unanimous and decisive.

For the Kid there'll be plenty of time for the rumba and gay fiestas and everything else his compatriots are cooking up to celebrate Cuba's first boxing champion since the glory days of Kid Chocolate back in the early thirties.

For Bratton, it was a dream turned into a nightmare. Not only did he lose his NBA crown in his first defense, but once again he finished with a broken jaw and maybe a busted hand. In addition there was a report that the government had slapped a lien on his estimated $14,311 purse for back income taxes.

"Maybe I ought to quit," said the disgusted Bratton. "When the breaks go against you, maybe it's time to get out before you get banged up all over."

Wild Demonstration

He said he hurt his hand and jaw in the fourth round.

Gavilan was feted into the wee hours of the morning by his cheering followers. Several thousand Cubans were among the 11,747 paying customers in the Garden and about 15, including Ambassador Luis Machado, succeeded in getting into the ring to embrace the grinning champion.

They whipped out a Cuban flag, raised the Keed to their shoulders and pranced and danced the ring in an unprecedented demonstration that awed blase New Yorkers.

There were no knockdowns and nothing close to one except for the first round when Gavilan started Johnny on the way with a belt to the jaw.

Both judges, Arthur Schwartz and Joe Agnello, had similar cards, 11-4 for Gavilan. Referee Ruby Goldstein saw it 8-5-2. The Associated Press scorecard favored the Cuban, 11-3-1.

Gavilan weighed 145¼, Bratton 147.

Same Old Barney; This Time 7 Walks

Fort Worth, Tex., May 19 (AP)—Rex Barney, the wild fireballer sent down from Brooklyn in an effort to straighten him out, made his second appearance for Fort Worth last night and still couldn't find the plate.

He lasted only three innings, walked seven and gave up six runs as Fort Worth lost to San Antonio 8-7.

In his first appearance—last Monday night—Barney walked 16 men for a new Texas League record although giving up only two hits in eight innings.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Amsterdam Rugmakers will go all-out tonight in an effort to dust off invading Gloversville and protect their game and a half lead in the Canadian-American League.

In Kingston, meanwhile, the second-place Pittsfield Electrics take on the Colonials, who have dropped 15 of their 16 games so far this year.

Amsterdam added a full game to its lead last night by edging the Electrics, 7-6, on a desperate five-run rally in the ninth. A single by Ossie Barham with the bases loaded sent home the winning run.

The Rome Colonels defeated Kingston, 5-1, and Gloversville chalked up three runs in the fifth inning at Oneonta on left field Pete Caniglia's single and a long fly by first baseman Lawson Williams to top the home club, 3-2.

At Amsterdam, the Rugmakers got two runs on four hits in the eighth, and loaded the bases in the ninth on two hits and a walk. First baseman John Paul Jones then blasted a grand-slam homer to tie it up.

For Pittsfield, second baseman Jack Moore homered in the second with one on. Right fielder Bill Pope duplicated the feat in the ninth.

Rome manager Buck Atchison, who plays first base, got a homer, a double and a single to star in the Colonel's home stand.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe, the lean Brooklyn lefty, is no Carl Hubbell but, like the immortal New York Giant, he's a "meal ticket."

Roe, who seem to improve with age, is Brooklyn's stopper. The Arkansas hurler usually puts the skids on a Dodger losing streak.

The Dodgers entered St. Louis last night after two bad beatings from the Cubs in Chicago. Another loss would have knocked them out of the undisputed lead.

Old Preach bailed them out. Using all his cunning, Roe pitched the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over the Cards.

The victory was Roe's fifth without a loss and his fifth complete game in seven starts.

Roe was on the short end of a 3-2 count going into the seventh inning. Lefty Howie Pollet walked Peewee Reese. Then Duke Snider belted a ball over the right-field wall and the Preach was home. The homer was Snider's ninth.

The triumph kept the Dodgers one game in front of the tightly bunched National League. The Chicago Cubs replaced Pittsburgh in the runner-up slot. The Cubs trounced the Philadelphia Phils, 18-9 while the Pirates dropped a 12-3 decision to the Boston Braves. The Pirates fell to fourth and the Braves took over third.

Cubs on Rampage

Ransom Jackson, Hank Sauer and Jack Cusick slammed home runs for Chicago. Jackson has banged out eight hits, including four homers, in his last 14 trips. Cusick legged out an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded.

Old Dutch Leonard relieved for the Cubs and got credit for the victory.

The Braves scored seven runs in the second inning at Pittsburgh and Max Surkont breezed to his fifth victory. Surkont let up in the eighth and threw home run balls to Ralph Kiner and Wally Westlake. Walker Cooper, with a home run, triple and three singles was the big man for the Braves.

Maglie Wins

Ken Raffensberger held the Giants hitless for five innings but lost his stuff in the sixth as the New Yorkers shoved four runs across the plate and went on to post a 4-3 triumph. The squeaker ended a five-game Cincinnati winning streak. Sal Maglie was the winner.

The Chicago White Sox handed the leading New York Yankees their first loss of the season in Yankee Stadium, 7-4. Ed Stewart socked a grand slam homer in the eighth inning off Spec Shea to break a 3-3 tie and win the game. Bill Pierce went all the way for the second-place White Sox.

The third place Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the ninth inning to beat the Athletics, 9-6.

Lefty Bob Kuzava pitched the Senators to a 6-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns at Washington.

The Boston Red Sox edged the slipping Cleveland Indians, 2-1, at Fenway Park. Vern Stephens drove in both runs with a pinch-hit single in the eighth off reliefer Lou Brissie.

Mickey McDermott, making his first start of the year after successful relief work, went all the way for Boston.

FACES ELECTRICS

Big Bob Wenning has been entrusted with the job of stopping the hard-hitting Pittsfield Electrics in tonight's Can-Am League contest at municipal stadium. The Electrics, currently in second place, have one of the hardest hitting lineups in the league. Wenning showed great form the last time out.

Colonel Rookie Yields Four Hits

After a Sunday encounter in the Electric City of Massachusetts, Manager Hank Camelli's tossers return for Monday and Tuesday engagements with Buck Etchison's Rome Colonels.

Big Bob Wenning, the big right hander who flashed good form the last time out, is the probable Colonial starter.

Manager Camelli will introduce a new comer on option from the Albany Senators in William Bremer, a .384 hitter with Waycross, Georgia in the Class D Georgia-Florida League in 1950. Maybe he can help the Colonials on the long road back to winning ways.

Etchison Homers

Old Buck Etchison and a rookie right hander, John McLaughlin, collaborated to subdue the Colonials, 5 to 1, last night before 418 fans in Rome.

McLaughlin scattered four hits to win his first start of the season, while Etchison accounted for two runs and scored twice with a single, double and his fifth circuit clout of the season. He walked only one batter and fanned two.

Charlie Ayers pitched creditably for the Colonials but was charged with his fifth straight setback.

(Can-Am League officials were scheduled to hold their regular monthly meeting at the Hotel Stuyvesant in Kingston this afternoon. Although the meetings are routine, it was expected that the plight of the Kingston franchise would come up for some serious discussion by the league directors.)

Kingston averted a shutout with a single marker in the sixth, after McLaughlin had retired the first 15 batters in order.

Bob Oliner's hit to deep short broke the spell to open the sixth. The big first sacker was thrown out at third on Jack Allen's single along the third base line, Allen going to second. Ayers bounced out to third but Dick Healey, installed at second base and the leadoff spot, drilled a single to left center to score Allen.

The Colonials made a few threatening gestures after that. Oliner drew a walk in the eighth and Joe Niro doubled with two out in the ninth. McLaughlin retired the side in order in six of the nine innings.

Echison, just plain Mr. Poison to the Colonials to date, hammered his fifth homer of the season with the bases empty in the seventh. He singled home another tally in the fifth.

Lefty Roy Smith a big southpaw hurler, made his debut with the Colonials in the ninth inning. He issued a walk but held the Colonels scoreless.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Ed Stewart, White Sox, hit grand slam home run to wreck Yanks' 10-game home win streak, 7-4.

Pitching—Preacher Roe, Dodgers, yanked league-leading Dodgers out of tailspin with fifth straight win, a seven-hitter over St. Louis, 6-3.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Not overlooking the Giants' 11-game losing streak, the current dilemma of our Colonials sent us chasing into Al Munro Elias' Little Red Book to check some of the historic reverses of the past.

Already in the 1951 minor league season, Lefty O'Doul's San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League, lost their first 16 games of the season. O'Doul, a national baseball hero in Japan, was a slightly tarnished bum to Frisco fans by that time, but his tossers rallied to win 16 out of their next 30.

The all-time losing streak for organized baseball is the 26-straight suffered by the Louisville club of the American Association in 1889. Cleveland dropped 24 in a row in the National League in 1899. The Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics each suffered through 20 straight losses in 1906 and 1916 respectively.

Jack Hartman, one-time City Baseball League secretary, asks, and rightfully: What would the late Had Bassett, Ted Freligh and a few other old time City League sluggers have done with that K-10 ball and the 300-foot fences of today???

- Flotsam and Jetsam:

Phyl Gehringer and Rita La Rocca achieved that dream of all doubles partners in bowling. In the state doubles they totalled 880, each hitting 440. That makes nobody mad at nobody. Dutchess Rec plugging 25-cent matinee bowling. The new tax bite on bowling alley beds will be reflected in higher bowling rates next fall. Peggy Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, one of the nation's top women golfers, will appear in a special clinic and exhibition on May 24 at the Dutchess Country Club, south of Poughkeepsie. . . . Harvey "Chic" Miller and son, Cliff, launch their professional outboard career Sunday in the Utica Outboard Regatta on Canadargo Lake, near Richfield Springs, N. Y. Five Saugerties drivers, including Bill Jackson Harvie, Jimmie and Harry Myers. The Utica race is a one-mile event. Those weren't two Bengal lancers prancing around Twaalfskill Thursday afternoon, just Dr. Rodney Ball and Fabe Russell, of Saugerties, in new golfing shorts.

The Simple Life: Quotation from mountain weekly: "Hancock chap went fishing, got drunk, met rattler and said, 'Strike ye varmint, I was never in better condition.'"

- That Delightful Dizzy:

Ol' Dizzy Dean, the Arkansas Hillbilly who never got beyond the second grade but nevertheless manages to make a buck or two, is a delightful change from the stereotyped baseball broadcaster, the Society for the Purification and Edification of the American Language notwithstanding.

Said Diz a few days ago during a Yankee broadcast:

"Old Cal (Hubbard) didn't bend low enough to ketch that one. But he's a sure, doggoned good umpire. . . . There's that big Chapman swinging a brand new bat up there . . . costs at least $3. When I was a kid down in Arkansas we could buy a whole cord of wood for that price. (A discussion about wildness of high school pitchers ensued). I never had to worry about that, I was in the second grade till I was 15. Had a chance to pitch against Oklahoma-College once but they barred me. Said I had never pitched high school ball."

Have you noticed how solicitous major league network baseball broadcasters are about minor league schedules these days? They even give telephone numbers where tickets can be ordered. It's a commendable gesture but, if network broadcasts and television coverage expand at their present pace, the minors from Class B down will be virtually non-existent in a few years.

Ford Frick Answers a Few Questions But What About That Inside 'Job'?

New York, May 18 (AP)—Why do plate umpires in the National League wear their chest protectors inside their jackets?

The answer, says league president Ford Frick, is as simple as that to the old wheeze about why firemen wear red suspenders. It's because they prefer to.

You mean there's no rule?

"Absolutely not," Frick declared. "Where that myth originated I don't know."

How does it happen then that all American League arbiters wear their mattresses on the outside, where everybody can see them, while the National Leaguers keep theirs concealed like a guilty secret?

"It's because my men work differently," Ford explained. "They bend down to where their chins are right over the catcher's shoulder. When they get down like that those big protectors used in the American League would rise up and choke them to death.

"The American League umpires stand up straighter, so the big ones are all right for them but Bill Klem, our head umpire, discovered that a little protector suited him better, and he passed the word around. The others found that they liked it better, too."

There was never any pressure?

Conlan's New "Job"

"Of course not. What do I care what my umpires wear as long as they do a good job? As a matter of fact, one of my men, Jocko Conlan, has been wearing his protector on the outside since the start of the season.

"It's a special job he invented for himself. It's cut off short at about the belt line, so that when he bends down it doesn't rise up and choke him. Any of my men are free to use the same protector if Jocko wants to go into the manufacturing business."

Is it true, as has been charged by some minor league umpires, that National League scouts will not sign a promising prospect if he uses an outside protector, and that the American Leaguers are disdainful of rising young arbiters who employ an inside job?

"As far as my league is concerned, that's plain silly. At least half our umpires were wearing outside protectors when we spotted them in the minors.

"When my umpires find a good prospect, we sign him. I don't care if he's wearing slacks. Good umpires are too scarce to worry about what they wear.

"But there might be a little truth in what they say about the American League. I think maybe they lost a fine young umpire to us because he wore an inside protector in the minors."

Thank you, Mr. Frick, and what do you think of this race your boys are putting on? Only three games separating the lot of them.

"Isn't it a beauty," he said fondly.

Suspend Drivers At Yonkers Track

Yonkers, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Two harness race drivers at Yonkers Raceway, Lawrence Powers and Clifford Burgett, were suspended for 30 days last night by the New York State Harness Racing Commission for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of the sport." The suspensions cover the period from May 11 to June 9, inclusive.

Two other drivers, William Haughton and Albert Simon who had been called before the commission during a week-long investigation, were "fully reinstated."

The commission in its report, said its "investigation arose out of a statement made by Burgett concerning Powers and other drivers at Yonkers Raceway, one allegation of which had some corroboration. There was no corroboration as to allegations made concerning drivers Haughton and Simon."

The commission did not amplify its statement. There was no comment from Powers, of Clinton, N. Y. and Burgett, Westbury, N. Y.

In its investigation the commission said it had the assistance of the New York Attorney General's office and the District Attorney's office of West Chester county "both of which have stated that nothing developed in the course of the inquiry that showed any violations of the panel law which warrants further action."

BEFORE THE CHAMP WAS CROWNED

Johnny Bratton of Chicago (left), National Boxing Association 147-pound titleholder, and Kid Gavilan of Camaguay, Cuba, challenger, strike a boxing pose after weighing in for their 15-round welterweight championship fight in Madison Square Garden last night. Gavilan won a unanimous decision to gain recognition as world's champion. The weigh-in was held at the office of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Kid Gavilan Captures Welterweight Crown

Cuban Outclasses Bratton in Garden

New York, May 19 (AP)—They whooped it up for Kid Gavilan in Havana and New York today. The sleek Cuban had a rougher time with his jubilant countrymen than he had with Johnny Bratton in Madison Square Garden last night.

The flashy hawk of Cuba won the world's welterweight championship (not counting Britain and parts of Europe) by outclassing Chicago Johnny from here to Havana in their 15-round title scrap. The decision was unanimous and decisive.

For the Kid there'll be plenty of time for the rumba and gay fiestas and everything else his compatriots are cooking up to celebrate Cuba's first boxing champion since the glory days of Kid Chocolate back in the early thirties.

For Bratton, it was a dream turned into a nightmare. Not only did he lose his NBA crown in his first defense, but once again he finished with a broken jaw and maybe a busted hand. In addition there was a report that the government had slapped a lien on his estimated $14,311 purse for back income taxes.

"Maybe I ought to quit," said the disgusted Bratton. "When the breaks go against you, maybe it's time to get out before you get banged up all over."

Wild Demonstration

He said he hurt his hand and jaw in the fourth round.

Gavilan was feted into the wee hours of the morning by his cheering followers. Several thousand Cubans were among the 11,747 paying customers in the Garden and about 15, including Ambassador Luis Machado, succeeded in getting into the ring to embrace the grinning champion.

They whipped out a Cuban flag, raised the Keed to their shoulders and pranced and danced the ring in an unprecedented demonstration that awed blase New Yorkers.

There were no knockdowns and nothing close to one except for the first round when Gavilan started Johnny on the way with a belt to the jaw.

Both judges, Arthur Schwartz and Joe Agnello, had similar cards, 11-4 for Gavilan. Referee Ruby Goldstein saw it 8-5-2. The Associated Press scorecard favored the Cuban, 11-3-1.

For scoring his ninth straight victory Gavilan also received about $14,311 of the $55,531 gross gate.

Gavilan weighed 145¼, Bratton 147.

Same Old Barney; This Time 7 Walks

Fort Worth, Tex., May 19 (AP)—Rex Barney, the wild fireballer sent down from Brooklyn in an effort to straighten him out, made his second appearance for Fort Worth last night and still couldn't find the plate.

He lasted only three innings, walked seven and gave up six runs as Fort Worth lost to San Antonio 8-7.

In his first appearance—last Monday night—Barney walked 16 men for a new Texas League record although giving up only two hits in eight innings.

Stock Car Races Set at Rhinebeck

The third weekly card of stock car races will be held at 8:30 tonight at the Rhinebeck Speedway, with a field of more than 40 entries entered.

Jocko Maggiacomo of Poughkeepsie is the current points leader, followed by Paul Pettit of Danbury, Conn.; Stan Disbrow and Ray Brown. Stan Disbrow has been the top driver at Rhinebeck for the past two cards.

TRIPLE FOR MANTLE

Mickey Mantle (6), New York Yankees right fielder, slides into third base safely with a first-inning triple against the Chicago White Sox at the Yankee Stadium, New York, May 18. Mantle's drive carried to the right field wall. White Sox Third Baseman Orestes Minoso takes the throw from Al Zarilla.

The SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe, the lean Brooklyn lefty, is no Carl Hubbell but, like the immortal New York Giant, he's a "meal ticket."

Roe, who seem to improve with age, is Brooklyn's stopper. The Arkansas hurler usually puts the skids on a Dodger losing streak.

The Dodgers entered St. Louis last night after two bad beatings from the Cubs in Chicago. Another loss would have knocked them out of the undisputed lead.

Old Preach bailed them out. Using all his cunning, Roe pitched the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over the Cards.

The victory was Roe's fifth without a loss and his fifth complete game in seven starts.

Roe was on the short end of a 3-2 count going into the seventh inning. Lefty Howie Pollet walked Peewee Reese. Then Duke Snider belted a ball over the right-field wall and the Preach was home. The homer was Snider's ninth.

The triumph kept the Dodgers one game in front of the tightly bunched National League. The Chicago Cubs replaced Pittsburgh in the runner-up slot. The Cubs trounced the Philadelphia Phils, 18-9 while the Pirates dropped a 12-3 decision to the Boston Braves. The Pirates fell to fourth and the Braves took over third.

Cubs on Rampage

Ransom Jackson, Hank Sauer and Jack Cusick slammed home runs for Chicago. Jackson has banged out eight hits, including four homers, in his last 14 trips. Cusick legged out an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded.

Old Dutch Leonard relieved for the Cubs and got credit for the victory.

The Braves scored seven runs in the second inning at Pittsburgh and Max Surkont breezed to his fifth victory. Surkont let up in the eighth and threw home run balls to Ralph Kiner and Wally Westlake. Walker Cooper, with a home run, triple and three singles was the big man for the Braves.

Maglie Wins

Ken Raffensberger held the Giants hitless for five innings but lost his stuff in the sixth as the New Yorkers shoved four runs across the plate and went on to post a 4-3 triumph. The squeaker ended a five-game Cincinnati winning streak. Sal Maglie was the winner.

The Chicago White Sox handed the leading New York Yankees their first loss of the season in Yankee Stadium, 7-4. Ed Stewart socked a grand slam homer in the eighth inning off Spec Shea to break a 3-3 tie and win the game. Bill Pierce went all the way for the second-place White Sox.

The third place Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the ninth inning to beat the Athletics, 9-6.

Lefty Bob Kuzava pitched the Senators to a 6-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns at Washington.

The Boston Red Sox edged the slipping Cleveland Indians, 2-1, at Fenway Park. Vern Stephens drove in both runs with a pinch-hit single in the eighth off reliefer Lou Brissie.

Mickey McDermott, making his first start of the year after successful relief work, went all the way for Boston.

Kingston will be represented by the Black-Dubin Chapter quintet which won the upstate New York title several weeks ago. The public is invited.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Amsterdam Rugmakers will go all-out tonight in an effort to dust off invading Gloversville and protect their game and a half lead in the Canadian-American League.

In Kingston, meanwhile, the second-place Pittsfield Electrics take on the Colonials, who have dropped 15 of their 16 games so far this year.

Amsterdam added a full game to its lead last night by edging the Electrics, 7-6, on a desperate five-run rally in the ninth. A single by Ossie Barham with the bases loaded sent home the winning run.

The Rome Colonels defeated Kingston, 5-1, and Gloversville chalked up three runs in the fifth inning at Oneonta on left field Pete Caniglia's single and a long fly by first baseman Lawson Williams to top the home club, 3-2.

At Amsterdam, the Rugmakers got two runs on four hits in the eighth, and loaded the bases in the ninth on two hits and a walk. First baseman John Paul Jones then blasted a grand-slam homer to tie it up.

For Pittsfield, second baseman Jack Moore homered in the second with one on. Right fielder Bill Pope duplicated the feat in the ninth.

Colonel Rookie Yields Four Hits

The Colonials are home for a one-night stand against the powerful Pittsfield Electrics, tonight at 8 o'clock at municipal stadium.

After a Sunday encounter in the Electric City of Massachusetts, Manager Hank Camelli's tossers return for Monday and Tuesday engagements with Buck Etchison's Rome Colonels.

Big Bob Wenning, the big right hander who flashed good form the last time out, is the probable Colonial starter.

Manager Camelli will introduce a new comer on option from the Albany Senators in William Bremer, a .384 hitter with Waycross, Georgia in the Class D Georgia-Florida League in 1950. Maybe he can help the Colonials on the long road back to winning ways.

Etchison Homers

Old Buck Etchison and a rookie right hander, John McLaughlin, collaborated to subdue the Colonials, 5 to 1, last night before 418 fans in Rome.

McLaughlin scattered four hits to win his first start of the season, while Etchison accounted for two runs and scored twice with a single, double and his fifth circuit clout of the season. He walked only one batter and fanned two.

Charlie Ayers pitched creditably for the Colonials but was charged with his fifth straight setback.

(Can-Am League officials were scheduled to hold their regular monthly meeting at the Hotel Stuyvesant in Kingston this afternoon. Although the meetings are routine, it was expected that the plight of the Kingston franchise would come up for some serious discussion by the league directors.)

Kingston averted a shutout with a single marker in the sixth, after McLaughlin had retired the first 15 batters in order.

Bob Oliner's hit to deep short broke the spell to open the sixth. The big first sacker was thrown out at third on Jack Allen's single along the third base line, Allen going to second. Ayers bounced out to third but Dick Healey, installed at second base and the leadoff spot, drilled a single to left center to score Allen.

The Colonials made a few threatening gestures after that. Oliner drew a walk in the eighth and Joe Niro doubled with two out in the ninth. McLaughlin retired the side in order in six of the nine innings.

Echison, just plain Mr. Poison to the Colonials to date, hammered his fifth homer of the season with the bases empty in the seventh. He singled home another tally in the fifth.

Lefty Roy Smith a big southpaw hurler, made his debut with the Colonials in the ninth inning. He issued a walk but held the Colonels scoreless.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Ed Stewart, White Sox, hit grand slam home run to wreck Yanks' 10-game home win streak, 7-4.

Pitching—Preacher Roe, Dodgers, yanked league-leading Dodgers out of tailspin with fifth straight win, a seven-hitter over St. Louis, 6-3.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Not overlooking the Giants' 11-game losing streak, the current dilemma of our Colonials sent us chasing into Al Munro Elias' Little Red Book to check some of the historic reverses of the past.

Already in the 1951 minor league season, Lefty O'Doul's San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League, lost their first 16 games of the season. O'Doul, a national baseball hero in Japan, was a slightly tarnished bum to Frisco fans by that time, but his tossers rallied to win 16 out of their next 30.

The all-time losing streak for organized baseball is the 26-straight suffered by the Louisville club of the American Association in 1889. Cleveland dropped 24 in a row in the National League in 1899. The Boston Red Sox and Philadelphia Athletics each suffered through 20 straight losses in 1906 and 1916 respectively.

Jack Hartman, one-time City Baseball League secretary, asks, and rightfully: What would the late Had Bassett, Ted Freligh and a few other old time City League sluggers have done with that K-10 ball and the 300-foot fences of today???

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Phyl Gehringer and Rita La Rocca achieved that dream of all doubles partners in bowling. In the state doubles they totalled 880, each hitting 440. That makes nobody mad at nobody. Dutchess Rec plugging 25-cent matinee bowling. The new tax bite on bowling alley beds will be reflected in higher bowling rates next fall. Peggy Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, one of the nation's top women golfers, will appear in a special clinic and exhibition on May 24 at the Dutchess Country Club, south of Poughkeepsie. . . . Harvey "Chic" Miller and son, Cliff, launch their professional outboard career Sunday in the Utica Outboard Regatta on Canadargo Lake, near Richfield Springs, N. Y. Five Saugerties drivers, including Bill Jackson Harvie, Jimmie and Harry Myers. The Utica race is a one-mile event. Those weren't two Bengal lancers prancing around Twaalfskill Thursday afternoon, just Dr. Rodney Ball and Fabe Russell, of Saugerties, in new golfing shorts.

The Simple Life: Quotation from mountain weekly: "Hancock chap went fishing, got drunk, met rattler and said, 'Strike ye varmint, I was never in better condition.'"

• That Delightful Dizzy:

Ol' Dizzy Dean, the Arkansas Hillbilly who never got beyond the second grade but nevertheless manages to make a buck or two, is a delightful change from the stereotyped baseball broadcaster, the Society for the Purification and Edification of the American Language notwithstanding.

Said Diz a few days ago during a Yankee broadcast:

"Old Cal (Hubbard) didn't bend low enough to ketch that one. But he's a sure, doggoned good umpire. . . . There's that big Chapman swinging a brand new bat up there . . . costs at least $3. When I was a kid down in Arkansas we could buy a whole cord of wood for that price. (A discussion about wildness of high school pitchers ensued). I never had to worry about that, I was in the second grade till I was 15. Had a chance to pitch against Oklahoma-College once but they barred me. Said I had never pitched high school ball."

Have you noticed how solicitous major league network baseball broadcasters are about minor league schedules these days? They even give telephone numbers where tickets can be ordered. It's a commendable gesture but, if network broadcasts and television coverage expand at their present pace, the minors from Class B down will be virtually non-existent in a few years.

Ford Frick Answers a Few Questions But What About That Inside 'Job'?

New York, May 18 (AP)—Why do plate umpires in the National League wear their chest protectors inside their jackets?

The answer, says league president Ford Frick, is as simple as that to the old wheeze about why firemen wear red suspenders. It's because they prefer to.

You mean there's no rule?

"Absolutely not," Frick declared. "Where that myth originated I don't know."

How does it happen then that all American League arbiters wear their mattresses on the outside, where everybody can see them, while the National Leaguers keep theirs concealed like a guilty secret?

"It's because my men work differently," Ford explained. "They bend down to where their chins are right over the catcher's shoulder. When they get down like that those big protectors used in the American League would rise up and choke them to death.

"The American League umpires stand up straighter, so the big ones are all right for them but Bill Klem, our head umpire, discovered that a little protector suited him better, and he passed the word around. The others found that they liked it better, too."

There was never any pressure?

Conlan's New "Job"

"Of course not. What do I care what my umpires wear as long as they do a good job? As a matter of fact, one of my men, Jocko Conlan, has been wearing his protector on the outside since the start of the season.

"It's a special job he invented for himself. It's cut off short at about the belt line, so that when he bends down it doesn't rise up and choke him. Any of my men are free to use the same protector if Jocko wants to go into the manufacturing business."

Is it true, as has been charged by some minor league umpires, that National League scouts will not sign a promising prospect if he uses an outside protector, and that the American Leaguers are disdainful of rising young arbiters who employ an inside job?

"As far as my league is concerned, that's plain silly. At least half our umpires were wearing outside protectors when we spotted them in the minors.

"When my umpires find a good prospect, we sign him. I don't care if he's wearing slacks. Good umpires are too scarce to worry about what they wear.

"But there might be a little truth in what they say about the American League. I think maybe they lost a fine young umpire to us because he wore an inside protector in the minors."

Thank you, Mr. Frick, and what do you think of this race your boys are putting on? Only three games separating the lot of them.

"Isn't it a beauty," he said fondly.

Suspend Drivers At Yonkers Track

Yonkers, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Two harness race drivers at Yonkers Raceway, Lawrence Powers and Clifford Burgett, were suspended for 30 days last night by the New York State Harness Racing Commission for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of the sport." The suspensions cover the period from May 11 to June 9, inclusive.

Two other drivers, William Haughton and Albert Simon who had been called before the commission during a week-long investigation, were "fully reinstated."

The commission in its report, said its "investigation arose out of a statement made by Burgett concerning Powers and other drivers at Yonkers Raceway, one allegation of which had some corroboration. There was no corroboration as to allegations made concerning drivers Haughton and Simon."

The commission did not amplify its statement. There was no comment from Powers, of Clinton, N. Y. and Burgett, Westbury, N. Y.

In its investigation the commission said it had the assistance of the New York Attorney General's office and the District Attorney's office of West Chester county "both of which have stated that nothing developed in the course of the inquiry that showed any violations of the panel law which warrants further action."

BEFORE THE CHAMP WAS CROWNED

Johnny Bratton of Chicago (left), National Boxing Association 147-pound titleholder, and Kid Gavilan of Camaguay, Cuba, challenger, strike a boxing pose after weighing in for their 15-round welterweight championship fight in Madison Square Garden last night. Gavilan won a unanimous decision to gain recognition as world's champion. The weigh-in was held at the office of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Kid Gavilan Captures Welterweight Crown

Cuban Outclasses Bratton in Garden

New York, May 19 (AP)—They whooped it up for Kid Gavilan in Havana and New York today. The sleek Cuban had a rougher time with his jubilant countrymen than he had with Johnny Bratton in Madison Square Garden last night.

The flashy hawk of Cuba won the world's welterweight championship (not counting Britain and parts of Europe) by outclassing Chicago Johnny from here to Havana in their 15-round title scrap. The decision was unanimous and decisive.

For the Kid there'll be plenty of time for the rumba and gay fiestas and everything else his compatriots are cooking up to celebrate Cuba's first boxing champion since the glory days of Kid Chocolate back in the early thirties.

For Bratton, it was a dream turned into a nightmare. Not only did he lose his NBA crown in his first defense, but once again he finished with a broken jaw and maybe a busted hand. In addition there was a report that the government had slapped a lien on his estimated $14,311 purse for back income taxes.

"Maybe I ought to quit," said the disgusted Bratton. "When the breaks go against you, maybe it's time to get out before you get banged up all over."

Wild Demonstration

He said he hurt his hand and jaw in the fourth round.

Gavilan was feted into the wee hours of the morning by his cheering followers. Several thousand Cubans were among the 11,747 paying customers in the Garden and about 15, including Ambassador Luis Machado, succeeded in getting into the ring to embrace the grinning champion.

They whipped out a Cuban flag, raised the Keed to their shoulders and pranced and danced the ring in an unprecedented demonstration that awed blase New Yorkers.

There were no knockdowns and nothing close to one except for the first round when Gavilan started Johnny on the way with a belt to the jaw.

Both judges, Arthur Schwartz and Joe Agnello, had similar cards, 11-4 for Gavilan. Referee Ruby Goldstein saw it 8-5-2. The Associated Press scorecard favored the Cuban, 11-3-1.

For scoring his ninth straight victory Gavilan also received about $14,311 of the $55,531 gross gate.

Gavilan weighed 145¼, Bratton 147.

Same Old Barney; This Time 7 Walks

Fort Worth, Tex., May 19 (AP)—Rex Barney, the wild fireballer sent down from Brooklyn in an effort to straighten him out, made his second appearance for Fort Worth last night and still couldn't find the plate.

He lasted only three innings, walked seven and gave up six runs as Fort Worth lost to San Antonio 8-7.

In his first appearance—last Monday night—Barney walked 16 men for a new Texas League record although giving up only two hits in eight innings.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Preacher Roe, the lean Brooklyn lefty, is no Carl Hubbell but, like the immortal New York Giant, he's a "meal ticket."

Roe, who seem to improve with age, is Brooklyn's stopper. The Arkansas hurler usually puts the skids on a Dodger losing streak.

The Dodgers entered St. Louis last night after two bad beatings from the Cubs in Chicago. Another loss would have knocked them out of the undisputed lead.

Old Preach bailed them out. Using all his cunning, Roe pitched the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over the Cards.

The victory was Roe's fifth without a loss and his fifth complete game in seven starts.

Roe was on the short end of a 3-2 count going into the seventh inning. Lefty Howie Pollet walked Peewee Reese. Then Duke Snider belted a ball over the right-field wall and the Preach was home. The homer was Snider's ninth.

The triumph kept the Dodgers one game in front of the tightly bunched National League. The Chicago Cubs replaced Pittsburgh in the runner-up slot. The Cubs trounced the Philadelphia Phils, 18-9 while the Pirates dropped a 12-3 decision to the Boston Braves. The Pirates fell to fourth and the Braves took over third.

Cubs on Rampage

Ransom Jackson, Hank Sauer and Jack Cusick slammed home runs for Chicago. Jackson has banged out eight hits, including four homers, in his last 14 trips. Cusick legged out an inside-the-park homer with the bases loaded.

Old Dutch Leonard relieved for the Cubs and got credit for the victory.

The Braves scored seven runs in the second inning at Pittsburgh and Max Surkont breezed to his fifth victory. Surkont let up in the eighth and threw home run balls to Ralph Kiner and Wally Westlake. Walker Cooper, with a home run, triple and three singles was the big man for the Braves.

Maglie Wins

Ken Raffensberger held the Giants hitless for five innings but lost his stuff in the sixth as the New Yorkers shoved four runs across the plate and went on to post a 4-3 triumph. The squeaker ended a five-game Cincinnati winning streak. Sal Maglie was the winner.

The Chicago White Sox handed the leading New York Yankees their first loss of the season in Yankee Stadium, 7-4. Ed Stewart socked a grand slam homer in the eighth inning off Spec Shea to break a 3-3 tie and win the game. Bill Pierce went all the way for the second-place White Sox.

The third place Detroit Tigers scored six runs in the ninth inning to beat the Athletics, 9-6.

Lefty Bob Kuzava pitched the Senators to a 6-2 decision over the St. Louis Browns at Washington.

The Boston Red Sox edged the slipping Cleveland Indians, 2-1, at Fenway Park. Vern Stephens drove in both runs with a pinch-hit single in the eighth off reliefer Lou Brissie.

Mickey McDermott, making his first start of the year after successful relief work, went all the way for Boston.

Kingston will be represented by the Black-Dubin Chapter quintet which won the upstate New York title several weeks ago. The public is invited.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Amsterdam Rugmakers will go all-out tonight in an effort to dust off invading Gloversville and protect their game and a half lead in the Canadian-American League.

In Kingston, meanwhile, the second-place Pittsfield Electrics take on the Colonials, who have dropped 15 of their 16 games so far this year.

Amsterdam added a full game to its lead last night by edging the Electrics, 7-6, on a desperate five-run rally in the ninth. A single by Ossie Barham with the bases loaded sent home the winning run.

The Rome Colonels defeated Kingston, 5-1, and Gloversville chalked up three runs in the fifth inning at Oneonta on left field Pete Caniglia's single and a long fly by first baseman Lawson Williams to top the home club, 3-2.

At Amsterdam, the Rugmakers got two runs on four hits in the eighth, and loaded the bases in the ninth on two hits and a walk. First baseman John Paul Jones then blasted a grand-slam homer to tie it up.

For Pittsfield, second baseman Jack Moore homered in the second with one on. Right fielder Bill Pope duplicated the feat in the ninth.

Colonel Rookie Yields Four Hits

The Colonials are home for a one-night stand against the powerful Pittsfield Electrics, tonight at 8 o'clock at municipal stadium.

After a Sunday encounter in the Electric City of Massachusetts, Manager Hank Camelli's tossers return for Monday and Tuesday engagements with Buck Etchison's Rome Colonels.

Big Bob Wenning, the big right hander who flashed good form the last time out, is the probable Colonial starter.

Manager Camelli will introduce a new comer on option from the Albany Senators in William Bremer, a .384 hitter with Waycross, Georgia in the Class D Georgia-Florida League in 1950. Maybe he can help the Colonials on the long road back to winning ways.

Etchison Homers

Old Buck Etchison and a rookie right hander, John McLaughlin, collaborated to subdue the Colonials, 5 to 1, last night before 418 fans in Rome.

McLaughlin scattered four hits to win his first start of the season, while Etchison accounted for two runs and scored twice with a single, double and his fifth circuit clout of the season. He walked only one batter and fanned two.

Charlie Ayers pitched creditably for the Colonials but was charged with his fifth straight setback.

(Can-Am League officials were scheduled to hold their regular monthly meeting at the Hotel Stuyvesant in Kingston this afternoon. Although the meetings are routine, it was expected that the plight of the Kingston franchise would come up for some serious discussion by the league directors.)

Kingston averted a shutout with a single marker in the sixth, after McLaughlin had retired the first 15 batters in order.

Bob Oliner's hit to deep short broke the spell to open the sixth. The big first sacker was thrown out at third on Jack Allen's single along the third base line, Allen going to second. Ayers bounced out to third but Dick Healey, installed at second base and the leadoff spot, drilled a single to left center to score Allen.

The Colonials made a few threatening gestures after that. Oliner drew a walk in the eighth and Joe Niro doubled with two out in the ninth. McLaughlin retired the side in order in six of the nine innings.

Echison, just plain Mr. Poison to the Colonials to date, hammered his fifth homer of the season with the bases empty in the seventh. He singled home another tally in the fifth.

Lefty Roy Smith a big southpaw hurler, made his debut with the Colonials in the ninth inning. He issued a walk but held the Colonels scoreless.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Ed Stewart, White Sox, hit grand slam home run to wreck Yanks' 10-game home win streak, 7-4.

Pitching—Preacher Roe, Dodgers, yanked league-leading Dodgers out of tailspin with fifth straight win, a seven-hitter over St. Louis, 6-3.

How to Play for Fast Out

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the discard pile is born frozen (that is, when the dealer turns up a wild card or a red three), a long struggle often develops. Very often neither side will meld until the pile can be grabbed at the same time.

However, occasionally one player will meld from his hand for one reason or another. For example, he may develop four or five of a kind and may think that a fast out is better than a continued struggle for the pile.

When your partner makes such a meld, give up the idea of fighting for the pile. Not only has your partner reduced his hand and thus weakened his power to fight, but also his meld is a signal that he doesn't have a good fighting hand.

As the melder's partner it is up to you to add natural cards to his meld if possible. It is also advisable to put down a meld or two of your own. Do all you can to help your partner go out, but preserve one or two safe discards just in case your partner still needs a few plays before he can finish the hand.

If an opponent melds in this situation your course depends on your position. When the melder is at your right you must discard with great caution. The opponent who follows you has his full hand (for at least one play) and has no worries about making the count.

When the melder is at your left, you should make the initial meld if possible. This is especially true if the opponent has used six or more cards in his meld.

In this situation you are very unlikely to give away the pile to the melder. He has only a few cards and probably has only one other pair in his hand. Hence it does not hurt you particularly to deplete your own hand.

Your meld relieves your partner of the necessity of acquiring or keeping the count. It gives him information about safe discards. It gives your side credit for red threes and protects you against a complete defeat if the opponents meld out in a hurry. Finally, in rare cases, it may fit your partner's hand so beautifully that he can meld out himself.

Step right up, folks, and get your copy of the lively 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA. Copies of this handy illustrated booklet are running out. Hurry and you can be the one in your Canasta circle that has the final say on rules. Send 15 cents in coin with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Grocery Bag Treasure

Dayton, O. (AP) — There was a mad scramble to peer into sacks of groceries in Dayton recently. Mrs. Mildred Soendlin, a checkout clerk at a Dayton supermarket, told police a packet of stamps valued at $300 to $500 was placed in a customer's sack by mistake. Nobody has reported looking into the right sack.

Key Play May Be First Trick

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The approach of the annual Canadian - American tournament (Montreal, May 24-27) reminds me of a hand played by Percy Sheardown, whose foursome won the team event last year.

Sheardown, who held the South cards, didn't want to bid the slam in hearts until he was virtually pushed there. However, the more the enemy bid clubs the more it seemed that the North hand would be weak in clubs — with strength where it could be used.

As it happened, of course, North had the ace of clubs—a nearly useless card. If he had held the king of diamonds instead of the ace of clubs the heart slam would have been a cinch.

Sheardown had to make the best of the situation—which he proceeded to do in fine style. His first move was to play a low club from dummy and ruff in his own hand.

He next drew trumps with the ace and jack, after which he returned a low spade from dummy. This put East on the horns of a dilemma.

If East played low, South's queen would win. Then dummy would be entered via the ace of diamonds and the ace of clubs would be led for declarer to discard his remaining spade. The rest, of course, would be easy.

If East put up the ace of spades at once, he could not prevent declarer from setting up one long spade in the dummy. South would be able to discard one diamond on the king of spades, a second on the long spade, and a third on the ace of clubs.

In short, the key play came right at the first trick. Declarer must not take the ace of clubs because he doesn't know whether to discard a spade or a diamond.

What would have happened if West had opened a diamond instead of the useless club? That, Sheardown says, would have wiped the smile right off his face. Fortunately for enterprising bidders, the opening lead is not always a killer.

Light Diet

Arcadia, Calif. (AP) — A small night light bulb looked better than it tasted to 26-month-old Kenneth Gronenthal. His parents said he pulled the bulb from a socket and popped it into his mouth. It exploded when he bit it. Kenneth was pronounced OK at an emergency hospital where they plucked the fragments from his mouth and throat—but he went on a special diet for a few days.

How to Play for Fast Out

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the discard pile is born frozen (that is, when the dealer turns up a wild card or a red three), a long struggle often develops. Very often neither side will meld until the pile can be grabbed at the same time.

However, occasionally one player will meld from his hand for one reason or another. For example, he may develop four or five of a kind and may think that a fast out is better than a continued struggle for the pile.

When your partner makes such a meld, give up the idea of fighting for the pile. Not only has your partner reduced his hand and thus weakened his power to fight, but also his meld is a signal that he doesn't have a good fighting hand.

As the melder's partner it is up to you to add natural cards to his meld if possible. It is also advisable to put down a meld or two of your own. Do all you can to help your partner go out, but preserve one or two safe discards just in case your partner still needs a few plays before he can finish the hand.

If an opponent melds in this situation your course depends on your position. When the melder is at your right you must discard with great caution. The opponent who follows you has his full hand (for at least one play) and has no worries about making the count.

When the melder is at your left, you should make the initial meld if possible. This is especially true if the opponent has used six or more cards in his meld.

In this situation you are very unlikely to give away the pile to the melder. He has only a few cards and probably has only one other pair in his hand. Hence it does not hurt you particularly to deplete your own hand.

Your meld relieves your partner of the necessity of acquiring or keeping the count. It gives him information about safe discards. It gives your side credit for red threes and protects you against a complete defeat if the opponents meld out in a hurry. Finally, in rare cases, it may fit your partner's hand so beautifully that he can meld out himself.

Step right up, folks, and get your copy of the lively 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA. Copies of this handy illustrated booklet are running out. Hurry and you can be the one in your Canasta circle that has the final say on rules. Send 15 cents in coin with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Nobody has reported looking into the right sack.

Key Play May Be First Trick

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The approach of the annual Canadian - American tournament (Montreal, May 24-27) reminds me of a hand played by Percy Sheardown, whose foursome won the team event last year.

Sheardown, who held the South cards, didn't want to bid the slam in hearts until he was virtually pushed there. However, the more the enemy bid clubs the more it seemed that the North hand would be weak in clubs — with strength where it could be used.

As it happened, of course, North had the ace of clubs—a nearly useless card. If he had held the king of diamonds instead of the ace of clubs the heart slam would have been a cinch.

Sheardown had to make the best of the situation—which he proceeded to do in fine style. His first move was to play a low club from dummy and ruff in his own hand.

He next drew trumps with the ace and jack, after which he returned a low spade from dummy. This put East on the horns of a dilemma.

If East played low, South's queen would win. Then dummy would be entered via the ace of diamonds and the ace of clubs would be led for declarer to discard his remaining spade. The rest, of course, would be easy.

If East put up the ace of spades at once, he could not prevent declarer from setting up one long spade in the dummy. South would be able to discard one diamond on the king of spades, a second on the long spade, and a third on the ace of clubs.

In short, the key play came right at the first trick. Declarer must not take the ace of clubs because he doesn't know whether to discard a spade or a diamond.

What would have happened if West had opened a diamond instead of the useless club? That, Sheardown says, would have wiped the smile right off his face. Fortunately for enterprising bidders, the opening lead is not always a killer.

Light Diet

Arcadia, Calif. (AP) — A small night light bulb looked better than it tasted to 26-month-old Kenneth Gronenthal. His parents said he pulled the bulb from a socket and popped it into his mouth. It exploded when he bit it. Kenneth was pronounced OK at an emergency hospital where they plucked the fragments from his mouth and throat—but he went on a special diet for a few days.

How to Play for Fast Out

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the discard pile is born frozen (that is, when the dealer turns up a wild card or a red three), a long struggle often develops. Very often neither side will meld until the pile can be grabbed at the same time.

However, occasionally one player will meld from his hand for one reason or another. For example, he may develop four or five of a kind and may think that a fast out is better than a continued struggle for the pile.

When your partner makes such a meld, give up the idea of fighting for the pile. Not only has your partner reduced his hand and thus weakened his power to fight, but also his meld is a signal that he doesn't have a good fighting hand.

As the melder's partner it is up to you to add natural cards to his meld if possible. It is also advisable to put down a meld or two of your own. Do all you can to help your partner go out, but preserve one or two safe discards just in case your partner still needs a few plays before he can finish the hand.

If an opponent melds in this situation your course depends on your position. When the melder is at your right you must discard with great caution. The opponent who follows you has his full hand (for at least one play) and has no worries about making the count.

When the melder is at your left, you should make the initial meld if possible. This is especially true if the opponent has used six or more cards in his meld.

In this situation you are very unlikely to give away the pile to the melder. He has only a few cards and probably has only one other pair in his hand. Hence it does not hurt you particularly to deplete your own hand.

Your meld relieves your partner of the necessity of acquiring or keeping the count. It gives him information about safe discards. It gives your side credit for red threes and protects you against a complete defeat if the opponents meld out in a hurry. Finally, in rare cases, it may fit your partner's hand so beautifully that he can meld out himself.

Step right up, folks, and get your copy of the lively 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA. Copies of this handy illustrated booklet are running out. Hurry and you can be the one in your Canasta circle that has the final say on rules. Send 15 cents in coin with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Dayton, O. (AP) — There was a mad scramble to peer into sacks of groceries in Dayton recently. Mrs. Mildred Soendlin, a checkout clerk at a Dayton supermarket, told police a packet of stamps valued at $300 to $500 was placed in a customer's sack by mistake. Nobody has reported looking into the right sack.

Key Play May Be First Trick

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The approach of the annual Canadian - American tournament (Montreal, May 24-27) reminds me of a hand played by Percy Sheardown, whose foursome won the team event last year.

Sheardown, who held the South cards, didn't want to bid the slam in hearts until he was virtually pushed there. However, the more the enemy bid clubs the more it seemed that the North hand would be weak in clubs — with strength where it could be used.

As it happened, of course, North had the ace of clubs—a nearly useless card. If he had held the king of diamonds instead of the ace of clubs the heart slam would have been a cinch.

Sheardown had to make the best of the situation—which he proceeded to do in fine style. His first move was to play a low club from dummy and ruff in his own hand.

He next drew trumps with the ace and jack, after which he returned a low spade from dummy. This put East on the horns of a dilemma.

If East played low, South's queen would win. Then dummy would be entered via the ace of diamonds and the ace of clubs would be led for declarer to discard his remaining spade. The rest, of course, would be easy.

If East put up the ace of spades at once, he could not prevent declarer from setting up one long spade in the dummy. South would be able to discard one diamond on the king of spades, a second on the long spade, and a third on the ace of clubs.

In short, the key play came right at the first trick. Declarer must not take the ace of clubs because he doesn't know whether to discard a spade or a diamond.

What would have happened if West had opened a diamond instead of the useless club? That, Sheardown says, would have wiped the smile right off his face. Fortunately for enterprising bidders, the opening lead is not always a killer.

Very satisfactory progress was reported this morning by J. Ellis Briggs, chairman of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce membership planning committee. Two hundred and seventy memberships have been received including 17 new members although the personal solicitation of new membership applications has just started. This is considerably ahead of last year.

Briggs said "Chamber membership is an annual business expense and is usually set up for automatic renewal. A definite procedure was established by the board of directors of the chamber last fall in connection with the annual membership renewals. The committee has set a goal of 500 paid memberships for 1951-52. If this goal should be reached several projects which would otherwise have to be curtailed, could be carried out for the benefit of Kingston."
